A DIFFERENT KIND.

Those who attended the football mass meeting at chapel yesterday morning recelved an especial treat in the short talks given by the men called upon for the occasion. Frivolity was absolutely lacking and in its stead was a strong heart to heart appeal for the better kind of enthusiasm. A spirit of loyalty worthy of the University of Nebraska symbolized by the scarlet of manly strength and the cream of womanly purity, was the end which all the speakers wished to attain. This effort to call attention to and attempt to impress the real Im port of the much-abused term "college spirit" is very opportune and the time so spent, was not in vain. A far better result was obtained than could pessibly have come from the ordinary boisterous and meaningless yell meetings that have occasionally been indulged in . The sentiments expressed merited the respect and serious consfderation of everybody present and without doubt the student body as a whole saw more clearly what was exin view of the above condition. If you do not expect to occupy your chair, don't keep some one else ou of a seat in order that you may be sure to have one if you finally decide to return to the Library.

A Narcotic Feat of Somnambulance. (A Study in Blue Smoke done by our Soclety Editors, JUNK AND PUNK, under the inspiration of a Flirtation with Milady Nicotíne.-Editor's Note.)
The Credulous Student was strolling up the street. It was the morning before the AMES game, and he being as we have sald Credulous, and a reader of the News, Gridiron Dope, had lots to Think About. Suddenly his optics rested on a Sign. No he didn't want to Steal it, he was, you know Credulous and belleved Everything he read about the Police. This Sign promised the Public and the Private to reveal the Secrets of the Future & make the Future an OPEN BOOK. (Most people want the Book of the past closed & Locked.)
Then a Full-fledged copper bottomed Idea struck the $\mathbf{O} . S$. and he Cogitated -If I only knew the score of Today'd Game-Well,-Draper's and the Phoe nix would not see my Smiling Face or a day or two.
So he entered the Temple of Mysterles and was Confronted by about

S. about a half hour to tell what the Game was Then the tell ess seated herself in a chair and began something like this:
"I see two Groups of men engaged in a struggle. A great Crowd is watching them. It must be near a boiler shop, for I hear Noises likeno it is a Band. I cannot tell which side is winning, but I rear a mighty roar of 'Hold 'em, Nebraska.' It is growing stronger all the time.' I see a little man dart out and run down the field to the end with a ball under his arm. I am too much of a lady

Slighted in the Making

That is what is wrong with most people's eyes. Eyes are either too long or too short; few are of the right proportions. These defects have to be made up for with glasses.

pected of them and what is was "up to them" to do. These little shaking ups are very salutary and although it is not exactly pleasant to hear the truth about ourselves, when told in a frank forcible manner, yet there is a decided tendency to "set up and take notice" of things immediately after wards. If the spirit of that mass meeting is demonstrated by the rooters at the Ames game no one will have any reason to feel that there is anything wrong with Nebraska's spirit. Think it over.

AN IMPOSITION.

It was suggested to the Nebraskan that perhaps many students did not know and others had forgotten that the practice of leaving chairs urned up at the desks in the General Library during a protracted absence is an imposition upon the other students. The Library is overcrowded at best and it is very unfair to take advantage of this custom of turning chairs up to repevt what the crowd is saying. The sides struggle on, neither gaining much advantage until it is all overin they are starting again. The crowd is yelling 'Touchdown Nebraska.' They play on for many minutes. A large man rums through the crowd evading them all. Voices inquire 'What's the matter with Weller'-(no answer) The game seems to be even. After five minutes a new man in the game, clad in-ah-black makes another "Yere."
"Yes, yes," says the C. S. eagerly; "for which side?"
"He is clad in black, I cannot tellThe bleachers are crying *?   ? The seat of the Prophetess, abused weight and gives way beneath her weight and craskes to the fioor. broken. The $C$, digs up is Two Bucks and goes out up his Two
