THE NEXT GAME.

Now that Ames, defeated in a brilliant struggle, is out of the way, Nebraska's efforts are directed to the Kansas game, the winning of which contest will give the Scarlet and Cream the unquestioned championship of the Missouri Valley. But the Cornhuskers ought not to be overconfident and must not look upon the Jayhawker game as an easy contest.

The fact that Washburn defeated Kansas 12 to 5 Saturday should not mislead the Cornhuskers into believing that the Jayhawkers are weak and that they will be disposed of in an easy manner next Saturday. Far from such is the truth. Kansas has a good team and can and will play fierce ball against Nebraska. The Cornhuskers and Jayhawkers are great rivals, and whenever they clash, Kansas, whether she wins or loses, always puts up a hard fight. Last year Kansas was defeated by several minor elevens, yet she was able to triumph over Nebraska. The Saturday before the Jayhawkers came to Lincoln last season Washburn College played them a tie game and the Saturday following the Nebraska contest the Kansas Aggies defeated them by the score of 6 to 4. Washburn and Manhattan were not strong and Nebraska, undoubtedly, could have defeated either of them. They humbled the pride of Kansas because the Jayhawkers did not struggle so hard against them as they did in the Nebraska game. The Jayhawkers might be defeated five times before their Nebraska game, but when they met the Cornhuskers they would put up the hardest kind of a battle. They will give Nebraska a hard fight Saturday and the Cornhuskers must be prepared for them.

Hard practice will be continued this week and every precaution ought to be taken to secure the Cornhuskers from taking a slump. If such a reaction follows the Ames game, as was noticeable in the Colorado contest after the Minnesota struggle, there may be considerable gloom at Nebraska Saturday night. It is to be hoped nothing of the kind will happen, however, and that the Cornhuskers will play as good ball against Kansas as they did against the Iowa Aggies.

In the Ames contest the Cornhuskers played a great game, and all they need to do next Saturday is to put up the same kind of a struggle and the championship of the Missouri Valley will be Nebraska's.

After the demonstration at the campus was ended a large number of the students paraded down town, giving the "Uni" yells and visited several of the theaters, the managers of which received them with open arms and let them enter.

In the second half the Freshmen made a touchdown and only were prevented from securing another by being penalized a large number of times.
