Y. M. C. A. MEMBERSHIP.

First of all, the officers of the Y. M. C. A. wish to express their appreciation and to acknowledge their obligation to the staff of the Daily Nebraskan for the privilege of occupying the space of one number with the presentation exclusively of Y. M. C. A. matters. By this means the work and position of the organization can be presented in a manner otherwise impossible.

Just what ought to be the relation of every University man toward this Association? It is probable that few take a stand against it. There are not many so narrow and any such hardly deserve a position among University people, who are in sympathy, it is to be supposed, with broader and better things. Rather, the attitude of all men is a friendly one; the Y. M.

Bible Study in Nebraska University.

Under the leadership of Arthur Jorgensen and Jas. A. Ayers the work of organizing classes has progressed favorably. Twenty-five classes enrolling over 300 men are formed at present. After Thanksgiving vacation the fraternity classes, in the study of "The Social and Political Significance of the Teachings of Jesus" by Prof. J. Jends of Cornell, will be organized. A number of other classes in the same course will be organized. The enrollment, including that at the State Farm will be over 500 this year.

The leaders normal class meets at the City Y. M. C. A. under the leadership of C. M. Mayne. Supper is served and is followed by the discussion of the lesson.

F. S. Godoman of the International Committee met the Bible Study leaders for conference at the city Y. M. C. A. on October 30. Delegates from surrounding Associations were present.

Arthur Jorgensen left yesterday morning for Washington D. C. to attend the International Y. M. C. A. convention.

State Farm News.

Mid-week meetings are held regularly in the Y. M. C. A. room.

During the opening days new students were met at trains and assisted in finding boarding and rooming places in desirable localities.

About $75 has been raised by students and faculty for the purpose of furnishing the Y. M. C. A. room, which is located in the Administration building at present, but will be transferred to the Stock Judging pavillion now being erected.

The Bible study classes are being organized and a vigorous campaign has enrolled about eighty men to date. The committee plans to have

BRIGHTON FLAT CLASP GARTERS

The grasp of the clasp is easy. It's flat—the only absolutely flat clasp garter is the Brighton. Millions of men know this—buy them and wear them. The wear is there, and they cost only a quarter a pair. Remember it.

Brightons are made of pure silk web. The patterns are new, exclusive—variety enough to satisfy everybody. All metal parts are of heavy nickel-plated brass. If your dealer can't supply you, a pair will be sent upon receipt of price.

Dr. E. R. Fulkerson of Japan, whose address on Nov. 6 was thoroly appreciated, has been secured to give two stereoptican views on the 9th and 16th of January. He lectures on the Missionary Work in the Orient.

The directory of the students and faculty is in course of preparation and will probably be ready for distribution before Christmas holidays. A charge of five cents for each will be necessary to help cover the expense of the publication.

H. W. White '07 is at present director of the religious work of the Brooklyn City Association.

C. A. has received support and encouragement from all classes whenever such were needed, and here is found the reason for the present efficiency of the organization.

But this support is entirely justifiable. The Y. M. C. A. stands for a practical, every-day kind of living that tends toward a higher plane, living that is intelligent and broad, that can enter into all phases of University activity, for example, and receive recognition as something worthy of rank. Its very breadth commends it, for there is no insisting on restricted notions nor narrow applications of those notions. However, it recognizes that there are better things ahead than are now being realized and sets up those things as ideals.

Then the relation of every man toward the Association ought to consist in more than a mere attitude; it should be of a more active sort,—that involved in membership. Just at this time a campaign is being carried on with a view to securing new members and it is felt that such a movement should receive a hearty response. Now is a good time to join the Y. M. C. A.

about 150 men in these classes this year. The general secretary of the University Association assists in promoting the work and leads a normal training class for Bible study leaders.

The Young Men's Christian Association at the State Farm is a branch of the University Association and carries on an independent work along the same lines as that of the parent organization. The president, William Harding, '08, and a number of the most prominent representative men in the school are doing an aggressive work this year.

The stag reception on the first Friday evening after the opening of school was attended by 125 students out of an enrollment of 300. Professor Davison, principal of the Agricultural School, spoke in terms of warm appreciation of the organization. A Good Language League was formed, in which the members pledged themselves to refrain from using slang and profanity and to cultivate the habit of using good English at all times.
