A THIEF IN THE NIGHT.

Of late some one, presumably a student or even students, has been sufficiently misguided as to imagine that the appropriation to his own use, of football posters and other advertising matter is a keen stunt. As a matter of fact, such conduct lacks in every essential particular the features that would justify one in qualifying it as keen. And if it were not that we can be reasonably confident that no studied or intentional desire to do a wrong was meant the matter would seem to be rather the opposite. It should be generally understood that the advertising matter displayed upon the campus is some one's property and is expected to accomplish a purpose of some importance to the persons interested. In addition to the time and effort involved in these advertising schemes more or less actual expense is necessary, so taking everything into consideration the owner of the material has an unquestionable right to feel that his property should not be taken from him and his aims thwarted thereby.

Your EYESIGHT

The old saying, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is still true. Eighty per cent of all nervousness, headache, granulated eyelids, weak eyes, watery eyes, cross eyes, styes, and many other so-called diseases are due to eye strain, without noticeable loss of vision. We remove the cause, Nature does the rest. EXAMINATION FREE.

No doubt this is not the most serious offense imaginable, but it is important that we do not get in the habit of overlooking the little things because they often mean more than greater matters. In the future it is to be hoped that any student who feels that he must be possessed of a football poster or any other choice bit of advertising material, will call at the manager's office. By so doing, no doubt the poster will be forthcoming and the trouble of replacing those taken from positions about the campus will be saved to the interested parties.

THE LAST GAME.

The Doane game will be the last game of football ever to be played on the old athletic field as well as being the last game to be seen in which our winning team participates. Don't fail to remember these facts and be sure to come out Saturday. The price of admission should encourage and does justify a big attendance.

At Syracuse the freshmen recently won the annual rush, which consisted in their marching around the oval track. After the rush, five wrestling bouts were pulled off, the '10 men winning four.

Investment

You'll get more on the investment in a Kensington Suit than in any clothes you can buy. True, it costs a trifle more to make them, as THESE are made, but they last much longer and give several times the satisfaction. We are showing at $15, $20 and $25, neat stripe effects in fine worsteds that will please any man looking for a nice suit of clothes.

Then, too, these suits fit and with the different models we carry, men of all proportions can get the garment best suited to their needs. The same applies to Kensington Overcoats and our display is now at its best.
