STILL CHAMPIONS

CORNHUSKERS' STANDING NOT AFFECTED BY DEFEAT.

St. Louis Players Are Professionals and Are Not Considered by Press in Giving the Team's Rank.

The Cornhuskers defeat at the hands of the University of St. Louis professionals has not affected their standing in Western football circles. They are still champions of the Missouri Valley and are recognized as such by the press of the country—St. Louis yellow journals excepted. Football authorities refuse to take any recognition of Cochem's bunch, for the reason that St. Louis has no strict eligibility rules and plays any men they choose.

Many schools are breaking athletic relations with St. Louis on account of the professional taint which covers the Mound City school.

St. Louis has been able to schedule games in the past on account of the financial end that her opponents have received. St. Louis is a big city and large crowds turn out to see the games played there, making large gate receipts which are a good drawing card. But the Western colleges are coming to give greater value to football glory and honor and are passing old St. Louis up.

Kansas, Missouri and Iowa already have brushed their skirts and will schedule no more games with St. Louis. Student sentiment at Nebraska will demand that the Cornhusker Athletic Board follow the example of the sister institutions and drop the Cochem professionals.

Nebraska-St. Louis.

The Cornhuskers were completely outplayed by the St. Louis bunch Thanksgiving and never had a chance to win. They played desperately during the entire contest, however, and never once showed the streak that marks the quitter. They simply were up against a better team and did the best they could.

The Nebraska line, weakened by the loss of Chaloupka and Ewing, was not able to withstand the onslaught of the Professionals who made repeated gains through it.

The backfield of the Professionals was by far the fastest the Cornhuskers have played against this season and circled their ends for many long gains.

Acker, one of the Professional stars, played a sensational game.

Matters, at tackle, did some good work for Nebraska.

The Professionals have the "greatest" forward pass in the country. Morris Ely of Yale, who refereed the game, said it was better than anything in the east.

There are only eighteen men on the Professional squad.

The crowd was the largest ever out to a football game in St. Louis. Nebraska's share of the receipts was probably $5,000.

St. Louis University had few roots.

Many people in the crowd wanted to see the Cornhuskers win and cheered for them.

CROSS COUNTRY.

Nebraska Team Obtains Possession of the Cup.

On the twenty-third of November, Nebraska was again victorious for the third successive time in the cross-country race at Chicago. The course was a full five miles and was made in good time.

The members of the Nebraska team were C. L. Alden, Lloyd Davis, F. E. Smith, E. E. White, H. O. Bauman. The members of the Chicago team were F. E. Morgan, J. M. Johlín, J. W. McNeish, A. S. Long, K. P. Shuart. The members of the Wisconsin team were: W. Wiperman, W. H. Bertles, H. W. Drew, F. A. Duffy, W. G. Minich. Purdue and the University of Illinois did not contest, as it was expected they would do.

Nebraska won the 2nd, 3rd, 5th, 7th and 11th places, making a total of 28 points. Wisconsin won the 1st, 4th, 8th, 10th and 12th places, giving her a total of 35 points. Chicago won the 6th, 9th, 13th, 14th and 15th places, making a total of 57 points.

Wisconsin did not make as much of a team race as Nebraska and Chicago. Bertles from Wisconsin soon drew away from the rest of the runners and ran an individual race, coming in for first place. Alden and Davis for Nebraska got the second and third places.

Nebraska has obtained permanent possession of the cup by virtue of having won it for three successive times. The cup is a handsome affair of sterling silver and was given by Spalding of Chicago.

DEBATE.

Minnesota Making Ready for Coming Battle.

While the students have been following the fortunes of our football team, and the team itself has been making herculean efforts to wrest championship honors from the other teams, says the Minnesota Daily, six men have been working quietly for the university in another field.

Three weeks from last evening three Minnesota men will try conclusions with three men from Nebraska on the debating platform. This debate will take place in chapel. The men who will talk for Minnesota in this contest are Harold Deering, Stanley Houck and A. O. Colburn.

On the same evening three other Minnesota men will debate against Wisconsin at Madison. The Minnesota men who will debate Wisconsin are M. J. Doherty, Albert Evans and Zenas L. Potter.

The question for debate is: Resolved, That all transportation corporations doing an interstate business should be controlled exclusively by the federal government, constitutionally granted.

Minnesota will support the affirmative against Nebraska and the negative against Wisconsin.

The two Minnesota teams are thus left to debate both sides of the question among themselves. They have been battling with each other since the beginning of the year.

From now until the evening of the debate the two teams will oppose each other three times a week. These preparatory contests are very strenuously waged.

Minnesota won both her intercollegiate contests last year and every effort is being put forth by this year's debaters to equal that performance.

Dramatic Club Social.

One of the pleasant features of the Dramatic Club is the social meeting which is held occasionally to help make the members acquainted with one another and to furnish an evening of enjoyment. The one at the home of Miss Doyle a few weeks ago was a success in every way in spite of the rain that threatened to prevent it.

The committee now announces another to be held Friday evening, December 6th, at 1937 E street, where Miss Ruth Bailey will be the hostess. There will be a program consisting of the readings given at the recent try-outs. Every member of the club is invited to be present.

The date of the Nebraska debates is December 12.

"FRAT" PLEDGES

Many Mid-Semester Failures Among Freshmen Keep Down the Pledge List—More Pledges Soon.
