FIRE TOO RAPIDLY

AMERICANS ARE NOT TOLERANT ENOUGH OF OFFICIALS.

Professor Taylor in an Address on Theodore Roosevelt Attacks the Critics of the President.

We should be more careful about the manner which we have of firing rapidly of our officials. Thus declared Professor Taylor of the Political Economy department in a talk on President Roosevelt at chapel yesterday morning.

Professor Taylor first outlined rapidly the career of the president, showing that he had always been a public man and could be counted an expert in public affairs if any man could be so counted. He especially mentioned his actions at the opening of the Spanish-American war as proving that he was sincere in his actions. When the war broke out, Roosevelt was the first man to raise a regiment and when it came to actual fighting Roosevelt was always found where the bullets were thickest. This was a good test of sincerity, for most politicians avoid the places where bullets are thick.

Coming back with the glory of the war, Roosevelt was made vice-president to get rid of him. Then, contrary to the expectations and plans of all, Roosevelt, with his usual luck, came into the presidency.

He has a tremendous personality, and is an aristocrat by birth. The many personal altercations into which he has got would indicate that he was a small man, if it were not for the breadth of view he has shown in his actions as president. He has shown his broad nature repeatedly in his efficient acts. The fact that he was able to take the part of the Chinese and Japanese in California and still retain his popularity shows this.

Roosevelt has shown his practicability by taking politics as they are today and realizing that ideal conditions do not exist and cannot exist while men are human. He has taken them as they are and tried to purify them instead of overlooking the bad.

He has shown his tact and diplomacy in nearly all his public acts. Work on the Panama canal was made possible by this characteristic. His acts in international politics, and especially the manner in which he brought about the peace conference at Portsmouth, have also shown this.

It is being said that the present crisis has been brought about by the attacks of the president upon corporations. It is probably true that Roosevelt is the occasion of the crisis, but he is certainly not the cause. The country was ready for a crisis and the crisis was needed.

A crisis is most necessary for the proper expansion of business. Promoters will lie. Investments would not be made unless they did, and it is necessary for this lie to be detected. This is what the crisis does.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

University Calendars on Sale at the County Fair.

The University Calendars have arrived and may be obtained at the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Only a limited number have been printed and as some students are obtaining two or three orders should be left immediately at the rooms, so that each student may secure his share.

These calendars are exceptionally pretty, containing photographs of the Chancellor, the Deans, and many view of the campus and the University buildings beside a few of the city. The photographs are the best to be obtained and are arranged in an artistic manner. For the reason that the calendar will make a very acceptable and appropriate Christmas gift, it affords an opportunity to those who have the Christmas gift question to solve every year for relieving the strain upon their minds. One of these calendars would please any one to whom it might be given, while also proving a desirable souvenir of the University.

These calendars will be on sale at the County Fair, December 7th. Price fifty cents.

Senior Masked Party.

Football is over, but the Seniors are going to give a masked party in Memorial Hall Friday evening that promises to be as exciting and enjoyable as any football game. There will be a grand march, a cake-walk—for which a prize of a three-layer cake is promised.

Besides this prize, there will be a prize for the best masked man and one for the best masked girl. There will be grand knights and grand ladies, pirates, pickpockets, Gloomy Guses, fallors, soldiers and, in fact, a representative of each vocation and nationality known to those of the Senior class.

Tickets will be 35 cents.

GIVEN THE TITLE.

Missouri Says Cornhuskers Are the Champions.

The official publication of the University of Missouri, the Missouri Independent recognizes the Cornhuskers as the football champions of the Missouri and Mississippi Valleys. Speaking on the question of the championship the Independent says:

"In the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, Nebraska seems to have the edge, having defeated Kansas, Ames and Colorado, and held Minnesota to a close score. Second place lies between Missouri and Washburn, and will be determined by the Kansas-Missouri game Thursday. St. Louis University cannot be considered in the race, inasmuch as its methods and standing are not strictly collegiate, and Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Washington, and other southwestern teams were put out of the running long ago.

Post Season Game.

There is a rumor afloat to the effect that the Cornhuskers will engage in a post-season game with Johnny Bender's team to be played in Spokane, Washington on Christmas day.

In reply to a letter suggesting such a contest between Nebraska and the Cornhusker enthusiast, Bender has wired his approval. Further confirmation of this rumor is lacking at this time, and no definite arrangements can be made until the return of Manager Eager from Chicago, where games with Conference teams are being scheduled by the Nebraska manager.

Mrs. Mabel Cole Ballenbach died at Weatherford, Custer County, Oklahoma, November 22. Mrs. Ballenbach was registered in the University in the fall of 1899.

After the show or party just drop into the Boston Lunch for a sandwich and a cup of coffee or an oyster stew.

HE WILL PRESIDE

BRYAN TO BE CHAIRMAN OF NEBRASKA-IOWA DEBATE.

Distinguished Democrat Notified Professor Fogg Yesterday—Judges for Debates Not Selected Yet.

The debating board at its last meeting decided to invite W. J. Bryan to preside at the Nebraska-Iowa debate. Yesterday the secretary of the board, Professor Fogg, received a telegram from him stating that he will be in the city the date of the debate and that he will act as chairman. The debate will be held in Memorial Hall on December 13, when the Websterian manipulators of logic and persuasion will settle once for all the question of control of transportation corporations. After the debate Mr. Bryan will make an address.

As yet it has been impossible to secure a complete jury for either the Nebraska-Iowa or the Nebraska-Minnesota debates. For the former only one person, Judge Quinn of the Seventeenth judicial district, Fairmont, Minn., has accepted. For the Minneapolis contest two of the three jurors have finally been secured. They are Judge A. J. Vinje, of Superior, Wis., and Judge J. J. Fruit, of La Crosse, Wis. It is hoped that the third judge will be from the University of Wisconsin. Judges for the other debates are also being secured with great difficulty. No one has yet accepted for the Minnesota-Wisconsin debate at Madison. For the Iowa-Illinois debate at Iowa City, Judge S. H. Sedgwick, of York, who expected to be able to serve with Prof. G. E. Howard and Prof. G. D. Ayers of the University of Nebraska, has been obliged to decline. His place has been taken by Hon. A. O. Eberhard of Mankato, Minn.

To Entertain Chancellor.

The University of Nebraska Club of the State of Washington is planning to give a banquet on December, 16 at the Lincoln to Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of the University. This event will be a reunion of all old Nebraska students and grads in the state.

Prof. Bowlby, who is a graduate of Nebraska, is trying to get the names of all former University of Nebraska students in this district, and requests that these send in their names to him as soon as possible.—Pacific Wave, University of Washington.

Prof. C. E. Chatburn, who delivered a paper on "Combination of Culture and Technical Studies in the Engineering Courses," before the American Society for the Advancement of Engineering Education at its last annual meeting, has just received proofs of the printed copy of his address as it will appear in the published report of the proceedings.

The University German Club will meet Thursday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wallace, 1531 South Twenty-first street.
