DEBATES TONIGHT

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED AT LOCAL CONTEST.

Iowa Champions Arrived Yesterday
—Question for Discussion is Important—Order of Speakers.

Tonight Nebraska will meet in debate the champions of the University of Iowa. In 1904 Nebraska last met the University of Iowa and through the brilliant work of Marvin, Sunderlin and Sawyer won the eighth of Nebraska's string of nine successive victories. The question which will be discussed is the federal control of transportation companies. It is one of the live questions of the present day and will be one of the pivots in the next presidential campaign.

Over one thousand people are expected to be present at the debate this evening. All records for attendance will be broken. Last evening all seats on the lower floor had been sold and tickets for the whole house will soon be gone.

The management has decided to keep the door shut while the speakers are talking. This makes it necessary for all to take care and be present before the commencement of the program.

The most absolute assurances have been given out that Mr. Swenson has not got the mumps and will be on hand ready to make the fight of his life this evening. Professor Fogg considers that our team will go on the platform excellently prepared for every emergency.

The Iowa debaters arrived yesterday afternoon, and are now staying at the Lindell hotel. They were accompanied by Mr. R. H. Randall, an assistant in the department of argumentation and debate at the University of Iowa.

The order in which the men will speak is as follows:

Mr. R. I. Elliott, '09, Neb.
Mr. Lawrence Mayer, '10, Iowa.
Mr. M. L. Frerichs, '08, Neb.
Mr. Irving Brandt, '08, Iowa.
Mr. J. M. Swenson, '08, Neb.
Mr. Carl Byoir, '10, Iowa.

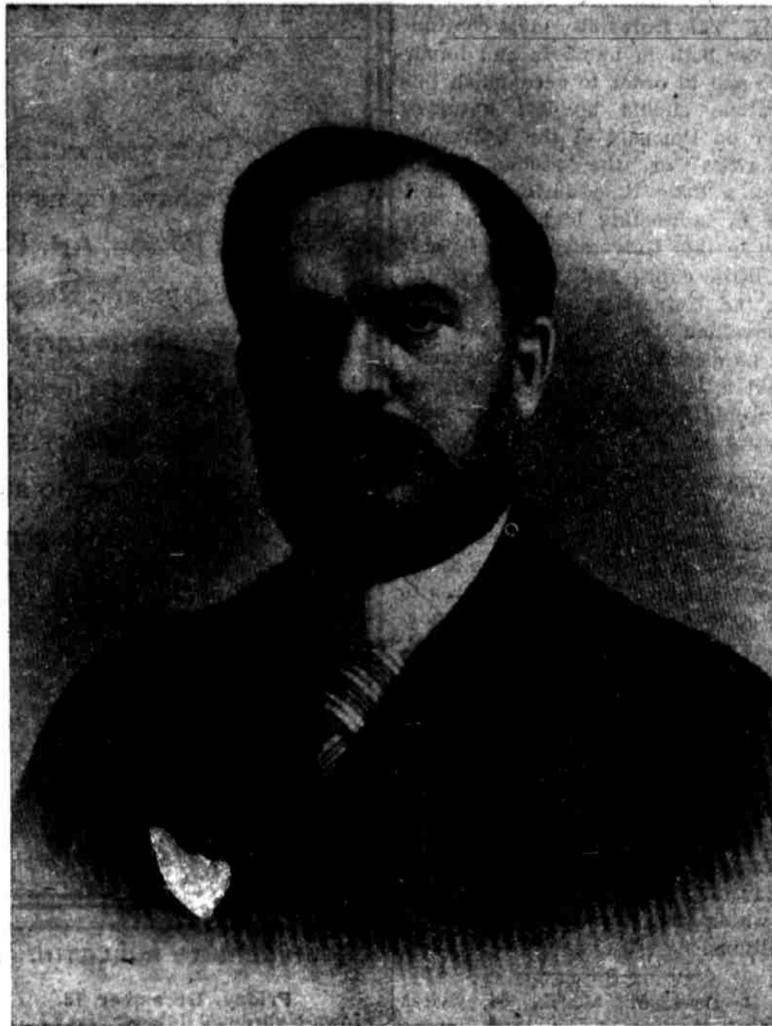

Each speaker will have twelve minutes. In the rebuttal speeches each speaker will have only five minutes. They will speak in the following order:

Mr. Lawrence Mayer, '10, Iowa.
Mr. R. I. Elliott, '09, Neb.
Mr. Carl Byoir, '10, Iowa.
Mr. M. L. Frerichs, '08, Neb.
Mr. J. M. Swenson, '08, Neb.

Professors G. E. Howard and G. O. Ayers left for Iowa City yesterday afternoon. They have been requested to act as judges in the Iowa-Illinois debate.

After the show or party just drop into the Boston-Lunch for a sandwich and a cup of coffee or an oyster stew.

Dr. Winfield S. Hall.

Who will address the Y. M. C. A. Men's meeting in the Temple Sunday morning at 9:15 o'clock.

DR. HALL.

Dean of Northwestern Medical School to Speak.

Dr. Winfield S. Hall, one of the foremost medicine men of the country, and a national authority in his particular line of activity, will address University men at the Temple Sunday morning December 15, at 9:15, his subject being "Sexual Hygiene: The Young Man's Problem."

Dr. Hall who is junior dean of the Northwestern University School of Medicine, is a man who knows men as few men do. Since his university days in Germany he has given especial consideration and study to the particular problems of men's lives. He does not mince terms, but hits straight from the shoulder, yet in such a way that every auditor becomes his friend.

Dr. Hall has been giving this new lecture throughout the various colleges of the West this fall, and its influence has been deeply felt wherever given. Dr. Hall believes that the one necessary thing for every man to do is to "know thyself" and in endeavoring to point out to college men the great physical and sexual truths of life, he is planting the desire for clean living in the hearts of college men. Nebraska men are fortunate in being able to hear Dr. Hall Sunday and it is an opportunity that no one should miss.

Admission is by tickets which may be secured from Y. M. C. A. men or at the rooms in the Temple. As the building will probably be taxed to the capacity men are urged to come early.

Dr. Hall addresses the Oliver meeting in the afternoon, but that meeting is exclusively for city men. This one being for college men only.

Time, 9:15 a. m., Sunday, December 15. Place, Temple.

Lieut. Roderick Dew, ex. 1902 of the University and a graduate of West Point in 1905, is stopping in Lincoln for a few days on his way to join his regiment at Spokane.

"AT HOME."

Y. W. C. A. Will Entertain Saturday Afternoon.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. are feeling very jubilant over the fact that they are installed in their new rooms in the Temple Building, and have decided to hold a jubilee. The association consequently, will be at home to all its friends Saturday afternoon from 3:00 to 5:00 and Saturday evening from 8:00 to 10:00, and an invitation is extended to all University people to visit the new rooms and inspect them at that time. The large main room has been made very attractive by the use of rugs and window curtains in harmonious colors, and heavy, mission furniture. Two large reading tables have been presented to the association by Miss Anne Rogers and Mr. W. J. Bryan which correspond to the other furniture of the rooms. The fact that the furniture is entirely paid for, or will be by the end of the week is a matter of rejoicing, which with the pleasure of being in the rooms will make the jubilee a doubly joyful occasion.

A PLAY BY SHAW

DRAMATIC CLUB TO PRODUCE A CLEVER COMEDY.

The Piece is Shaw's Well-Known Play, "You Can Never Tell," and the Cast is a Notable One.

"You Never Can Tell," by George Bernard Shaw the erratic English playwright, is the title of the play that is to be the big feature for the year in the line of dramatic work for the University. This play is considered his wittiest and cleverest comedy. In fact some go so far as to class this play as the cleverest modern comedy in existence, and while it contains the marked disregard for conventionalities that Shaw always brings out, it is yet free from the more strongly unorthodox ideas generally expressed in his plays.

It was only after several prominent members of the faculty and students had spoken about this play, and after also a suggestion which appeared in the Daily Nebraskan a few days ago in regard to an article by a dramatic critic of Chicago citing the fact that the stage of America would have to be elevated through the colleges of the country, that the committee took final action and decided to put this play on. Bernard Shaw ranks with writers of the type of Suderman, Ibsen, Hauptmann and Maeterlinck, and to present one of his best will be a step forward in the direction of progress.

The Dramatic club is particularly fortunate this year in having members who will be able to carry off the play with credit. It is to be staged under the direction of Miss Howell with the assistance of Mr. C. George Riedel, who will also be one of the cast. Nearly all of the cast have starred in important plays before. Mr. Guy Montgomery and Miss Bonnie Adams play the part of the twins. Both have been very important in dramatic work in the University before. Miss Ruth Bailey, who appeared in the University plays two years ago, will take the part of Mrs. Clandon, the exponent of woman's suffrage; and the woman of the twentieth century, Gloria, will be played by Miss Rachel Carns, who starred in "The Russian Honeymoon" two years ago.

Mr. Alden Bumsead, who is known as the football coach in "The College Widow," will fill the part of the remarkable waiter. This part was carried to a high point of finish two years ago by Arnold Daly who appeared in this same play in New York. Mr. Dick Russell, who was Slinger in "Just Out of College" two years ago, will be the respectable family solicitor, Mr. McComas; and Houseworth is the irritable Mr. Crampton. R. I. Elliott is Bohun, the commanding
