MEETS NEXT WEEK

HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO HOLD ANNUAL SESSION.

Prominent Men Will Address the Meeting of the Society in the New Temple January 13-14.

The thirty-first annual meeting of Nebraska State Historical Society and of the Nebraska Territorial Pioneers' Association will be held at Lincoln, January 13-14. The meetings will be held in the auditorium of the new Temple building, and a program of stirring interest has been arranged for all three sessions.

The first session of the Historical Society meeting will be held the evening of January 13th, the first address being by Hon. William J. Bryan, on the subject of "History." Other speakers for this session will be Hon. J. L. McBrien, state superintendent, and Dr. George L. Miller, president of the society.

On the evening of the fourteenth, the principal address will be by Judge Horace E. Deemer, of the supreme court of Iowa, and for many years identified with the historical department of Iowa, at Des Moines. Judge Deemer's address will be on the subject, "The Part of Iowa in the Organization of Nebraska." Other speakers will be Richard L. Metcalfe, Lincoln, and W. Z. Taylor, Culbertson, Nebraska. The business session will also be held the evening of the fourteenth, when new officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

The territorial pioneers' meeting will be held the afternoon of January 14th, in the Temple building. A program has been provided for this meeting that will stir the heart of every pioneer. Some new and interesting features are promised by Secretary Palne, and those who recall the great pioneer celebration held in Lincoln last summer, will look forward with pleasure to this next meeting, which gives promise of being even more successful. Excellent music will be provided for each session.

A special feature of the meetings this year will be the issuance of certificates of membership to all who attend. A beautifully engraved membership certificate has been provided for both the state historical society and the territorial pioneers' association, and these certificates, handsomely engrossed, will be furnished to all who register. This includes those who are present members of the association, and those who may become members. The membership fee in the state historical society is only $2. There are no other dues or assessments and all members are entitled to receive the publications of the society, any one of which is worth more than the price of membership. The society has issued so far, eleven volumes, some of which are now out of print, and very rare. Three more volumes are now in press and at least one of these will be ready for distribution before the annual meeting.

ART EXHIBITION.

Dr. Fling Gives Some Notes About the Association.

The Nebraska Art Association for the past week has had on exhibition in the Fine Arts gallery a collection of pictures of extraordinary value. The exhibition will continue for two weeks, being open to all who are willing to donate a comparatively small admission fee to the needs of the association.

The Nebraska Art Association was formed about ten years ago by art-loving citizens of the state, the membership being chiefly composed however, of residents of Lincoln. Since its organization the society has each year brought to Lincoln a large number of pictures by the best American and foreign artists. These have been exhibited and the proceeds have been devoted to the purchase of pictures for the permanent art gallery which it is the object of the association to found. At present this gallery contains pictures and casts valued at over $3,000, this amount having been secured in dribbles of $200 or $300 a year.

Professor F. M. Fling, one of the leading members of the association, yesterday devoted the lecture hour of his European history class to a plea for greater interest in the exhibition. He deplored the fact that in past years only about one-tenth of the University students had availed themselves of this privilege of looking upon the works of the masters. In Professor Fling's opinion no student should complete his course without attending the art exhibitions—not only once, but many times. These exhibitions have caused Lincoln to be known in the East as offering exceptional privileges of the kind for a city of its size. It should be regarded as a disgrace for a student to be obliged to confess to his Eastern acquaintances, who know that Lincoln is on the map because of the fame of its art exhibitions, that

RULES COMMITTEE

PROF. LEES TALKS OF WORK OF ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

Seventy-five Institutions Represented at Annual Meeting of Intercollegiate Association.

During the Christmas vacation Professor Lees was in New York City, acting as the representative of the University of Nebraska at the annual meeting of the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Seventy-five institutions, located in all parts of the United States, were represented. Eligibility rules, scholastic standards and faculty control of athletics were some of the principal questions discussed. A marked advance in different parts of the country was indicated and especially the fact that professionalism was proving much less troublesome.

The meeting was in session all day of Saturday, December 28, thus giving time for a number of papers to be read. The old rules committee was re-elected with one exception.

A long report on summer baseball was submitted by the committee which had that subject under discussion. The committee came to the following conclusions:

"Baseball stimulates the most serious violations of the amateur rule, first, from the standpoint of frequency of occurrence; secondly, from the standpoint of conflicting practices for regulation; third, from the standpoint of conflicting opinions concerning the seriousness of the infractions, and fourth, from the standpoint of differences in the remedies suggested for bettering conditions.

"Because of its peculiar dual professional and amateur character, baseball has destroyed finally the faith of many in the amateur law. The validity of the amateur law is involved. Baseball vs. Amateurism stands before the bar of judgment.

"History and common sense show that in all public contests the bona fide professional eliminates the bona fide amateur. The two classes cannot exist in contact. If we wish a class of athletics for the bona fide amateur he must be protected from the bona fide professional. It is clear that the unsatisfactory conditions surrounding the present rule must be eliminated and that the principle of amateurism must be established in fact if it is to survive."

The Zoological Club.

The Zoological Club will meet at 8 p. m. this evening in the Zoological Lecture room, N. 210. The following is the program:

"The Origin of the Heart, the Blood and the Large Blood Vessels in Megalobatrachus Maximus Schlegel," by de Rooy. Reviewed by Ivan E. Wallin.

"Transplantation of Developing Organs in Amphibian Embryos," by Lewis. Reviewed by W. A. Willard.
