WORKIZER TO STAY

POPULAR COMMANDANT'S DETAIL
EXTENDED ONE YEAR.

Captain Workizer Has Been at Nebraska for Three Years as Professor of Military Science.

Captain John G. Workizer will remain at Nebraska as Commandant of University Cadets for at least another year. His detail has been extended one year from October 1 by the Secretary of War.

The commandant was notified of his extended appointment by the following order issued from the War department January 6, 1908:

War Department,
Adjutant General's Office,
Washington, Jan. 6, 1908.
Captain John G. Workizer,
2nd Infantry,
University of Nebraska,
Lincoln, Nebraska.
(Through the Cancellor, University of Nebraska.)

Sir:—I have the honor to inform you that, under instructions from the President, the Secretary of War hereby extends your detail as professor of military science and tactics at the University of Nebraska for a period of one year from October 1, 1908.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) HENRY P. McCAIN,
Adjutant General.

Captain Workizer is one of the most popular commandants that has had charge of Nebraska cadets and the announcement on the campus yesterday that he would remain next year was hailed with many expressions of approval of the captain's work and with much rejoicing over his retention.

This is Captain Workizer's third year at Nebraska as professor of military science. During the period of his service here the commandant has made the drill department one of the most popular branches of the University. When he came to Nebraska in the fall of 1905 the captain found the cadets discontented and dissatisfied with things military. By the pursuit of a wise policy, however, he soon raised the efficiency of the department and gained the confidence of the cadet body. Today Captain Workizer is accorded all the respect the cadets can give him. They realize that he stands for a "square deal" and heartily support him and his policies.

The number of students in the colleges, universities and higher technical schools of the United States is estimated at 120,000, or 15¢ for every 100,000 of the population. Of this vast number the state universities contain 50,000, or nearly half. The Universities, including state institutions, of the North Central states can claim about 45,000 and those of the North Atlantic states about 35,000. The number of these studying in the so-called "learned professions" is approximately 7,000 in schools of theology, 30,000 in schools of medicine, and 15,000 in schools of law. The others are taking engineering, agriculture, arts, and practical sciences.

THE MUSEUM.

Public Display of Exhibits to Be Made
Charter Day.

According to present plans, the Museum will be opened to the public on Charter Day. Professor Barbour had a large force of men working during the Christmas holidays getting things in shape, and the vast amount of work which is required in properly arranging the different specimens will be pushed as rapidly as possible. Even when the work is completed, many specimens cannot be put on exhibition because of the scarcity of room.

The matter of exhibiting specimens to the best advantage is being undertaken on an extensive scale. In every case conditions are made as nearly as possible like those which are encountered in nature. The shape of the cases, and the arrangement of shelves makes this possible to a marked degree.

During the holidays a feat was accomplished.

NEBRASKA HONORED.

Sunderlin Will Debate Against Pennsylvania.

Charles A. Sunderlin, '07, for two years, one of Nebraska's intercollegiate debaters, recently won first honors in the annual debate between the Columbia and Needham Debating Societies of Columbia University Law School. As a result of his victory, the dean of George Washington University has asked Mr. Sunderlin to represent that university in its debate with Pennsylvania.

Mr. Sunderlin's associates in the inter-society debate were graduates from various colleges, Virginia, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin being among the number. One of his opponents was J. E. Baker, the well known Wisconsin debater, who was a member of the team which defeated Nebraska in 1906, the first defeat this University had suffered in inter-collegiate debates. The judges were
