TO MEET.

State Agricultural Associations Will Be Here Soon.

Nineteen associations, known as the Nebraska State Agricultural Associations, will meet in Lincoln January 20-25. The most important of these are the Nebraska Poultry Association, the Nebraska State Horticultural Society, the Association of Agricultural Students, and the Nebraska Corn Growers' Association. There are also numerous breeders' associations.

The committee on arrangements has spared no labor to present a program which will hold the interest of the allied associations from beginning to end. Many specialists in agricultural pursuits have been engaged for addresses. Among the Nebraskans who will speak are Chancellor Andrews, University Regent Coupland, ex-Governor W. P. Poynter, E. M. Little, superintendent of the Nebraska Experiment Station, Prof. C. E. Bessey, and Governor George L. Sheldon.

Stock judging exhibitions will be held at the judging pavilion at the State Farm. A butter, milk and cheese exhibit will be open in the dairy building throughout the week. The usual beautiful exhibit of flowers and fruit will be made by the horticulturists.
Other exhibitions will be the winter corn show and the boys' and girls' corn and cooking contests.

On Friday evening Governor and Mrs. Sheldon will give a reception to the members of the various associations. Excursions to points of interest in and about Lincoln are provided for the amusement of the junior organizations.

THE MUSEUM.

complished by the department which many scientists declared to be impossible. A large flat piece of rock, containing many pieces of bones from extinct animals, was cut out of the rock with such care that the bones were left sticking out in perfect condition.
This piece of rock, about six feet long and four feet high, was boxed up and sent to Lincoln. It was placed in an oak case in the museum and now affords the only opportunity in the world of seeing just how the bones are found in nature. The rock comes from Sioux county, Nebraska.

The bad land corkscrews have been arranged in two great cases at opposite ends of the second floor. The back and bottom of the cases have been arranged to represent as nearly as possible the appearance of the bad lands. Around the bases of the cork-screws the plants familiar in the bad lands will be arranged.

NEBRASKA HONORED.

Hon. S. D. Cole, member of Congress from Ohio; Professor Clark of the Georgetown University Law School, and Mitchell Carroll, Ph. D., of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Sunderlin's effort was the subject of an extensive article in the Washington Times. Altogether, the former Nebraskan has made good as a debater.

In a recent meet in Philadelphia, Guy Haskins, of the University of Pennsylvania, won by a half yard in a 1,000 yards special match race from M. W. Sheppard, of the Irish-American Athletic Club of New York, holder of the world's record for 600 yards, 800 yards and one mile indoors.

Forty-six per cent of the freshmen at Yale use tobacco. Of this number no less than thirteen per cent got the habit after entering the university this fall.
