Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second-class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Some one asks why the accounts of these class dances are not published. They were, when the rule first went into effect. Of course it is not the business of a Sophomore to inquire into the finances of the Junior class. And yet those disinterested persons who attend these functions would feel better satisfied if they knew that the dance just paid legitimate expenses and no more.

Fortunately no one ever gets injured, but to pass through the library hall between classes is an extremely dangerous move. Visiting in the library has become so classic that it has spread to the halls where it is found in its worst forms. It is hoped that spring weather will soon remove some of this to the campus benches.

demands upon an empty treasury. It will be necessary to arrange its hops, basket-ball or no basket-ball.

When the receipts of a class informal are $45.00 and the debt of the Athletic Board is $80.00, it seems scarcely just to lay the blame of the indebtedness of the latter to the class. The debts of a class are as pressing as those of the Athletic Board.

Let us hope that the time will come—and let it be before the millennium—when such a thing as graft is unknown, at least below the thoughts of any class member. Let the time come when there shall be a system about these class dances, when so many each year, and no more, are allowed to each class. One rule, one authority over the whole, will avoid many difficulties, both financial and social, and assure a smooth running order to class events. A STUDENT.

It is presumed that since the present system of faculty supervision of finances went into effect that graft in class finances is at an end. If the Junior class is split and one-half is trying to pay the debts of the other half who ran off with the money, even such burdens do not alter the case of the athletic manager. Almost every one who went to the Junior Informal would have gone to the Band dance had it been the only function, and though this would not have made up the entire deficiency, "every little bit helps."

Are you planning to attend the Charter Day exercises? Here is a rare chance to see indoor athletics of the first class. And don't think that the afternoon program is all there is to Charter Day.

Next Sunday afternoon a musical program will be presented by the First

BRIGHTON FLAT CLASP GARTERS

The grasp of the clasp is easy. It's flat—the only absolutely flat clasp garter is the Brighton. Millions of men know this—buy them and wear them. The wear is there, and they cost only a quarter a pair. Remember it.

Brightons are made of pure silk web. The patterns are new, exclusive—variety enough to satisfy everybody. All metal parts are of heavy nickel-plated brass. If your dealer can't supply you, a pair will be sent upon receipt of price.

Nothing is further from the truth than the statement of our out-state friend about rowdiness among college men. It is unfortunately true that by the time the news of such affairs as the kidnapping of the Sophomore chairman reaches the general public it gives the wrong impression and the whole student body gets the benefit of it.

A Communication.
"Is not one University dance enough for any night?" Yes, and more than enough. However, when the debts of a class have been accumulating for two and three years, when students patronize little except dances, then dances must be scheduled for the most opportune time found.

When graft, graft in class finances, is stopped, when men placed in responsible positions conduct the business in an open, above-board manner, then and only then it will be possible to eliminate these numerous "hops," "informals," and "proms," given for the purpose of balancing accounts.

As long as one element of a class finds it necessary to meet the expenses accrued by another element, as long as clamoring creditors make

Baptist Church quartette, the finest in the city, consisting of Mrs. Conant, soprano; Mrs. Enslow, contralto; Mr. Geo. Ireland, tenor, and Mr. John Agee, basso, with Miss Vibbard as organist. Following this program, Miss Josephine C. Walker, the returned missionary, will speak upon mission work in China. Those who have not yet had the opportunity of hearing Miss Walker will be glad to hear her on this occasion for the things she has to tell about are interesting and amusing as well. The girls who are missing these meetings on Sunday afternoon are losing a real treat for the speakers are the best and their subjects are always helpful as well as interesting and entertaining, while the musical programs are given by the best musicians of the city.
