Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second-class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

It is often suggested that the solution of the negro problem could be reached by treating the negro as we have the American Indian, namely put them off on a reservation and then prepare to take that away from them.

Why not do this with library loafers? It would apply without question of feasibility and justice.

It is interesting to note that England the home of the original home of woman suffrage there is no new woman. The men need have no fear therefore regarding members of the woman suffrage club of the University. These women are just out for a square deal.

Press Association, Tuesday evening, of Lincoln's reason last year for voting down the proposed distillery proposition. He said, "We thought it would be bad to have a distillery in the same town as the state university." This same worthy sentiment now developing into a determined struggle for a cleaner town is shown in the signs displayed over O street and by the efforts—successful efforts—of the men who were out the other evening with petitions. Lincoln dry would be worth more to the students of the University than any department on the campus. Drunkenness may not be more prevalent here than in some other schools, but there are a sufficient number of boozebreaths straying about to disgrace the whole institution.

Ralph Jenne and John Darrington, of Falls City; Robert Updike, Louis Meyer, Fay Neely and Eddie Raussean, of Omaha; "Pete" Duer and James Fisher, of Hastings, and "Friday" Campbell, of McCook, are visiting at Phi Delta Theta house.

Cornell University has increased its entrance requirements. Fifteen units are now required, a unit being the equivalent of a course pursued in a preparatory school through one year with five recitations a week.

Jim Green, now chief of construction for J. G. White Construction Company, New York, was on the campus yesterday. He is one of the head men for that firm in Denver.

The Y. M. C. A. "social" evening tonight. Many stunts are being planned. A checker tournament has been mentioned. Everybody come.

James J. Hill just added $2,000 to his endowment for a railway library

The Harvard Medical School

With the completion of the new buildings, which were dedicated September 25th, 1906, this school now has facilities and equipment for teaching and research in the various branches of medicine probably unequaled in this country. Of the five buildings, four are devoted entirely to laboratory teaching and research. Numerous hospitals afford abundant opportunities for clinical instruction in medicine and surgery.

COURSE FOR THE DEGREE OF M. D.

A four-years' course, open to bachelors of arts, literature, philosophy or science, and to persons of equivalent standing, leads to the degree of M. D. The studies of the fourth year are wholly elective; they include laboratory subjects, general medicine, general surgery and the special clinical branches.

The next school year extends from October 1, 1908, to June 24, 1909. The diploma of University of Nebraska is accepted for admission. For detailed announcement and catalogue, address

The editor of Life says that he admires the spirit of a dozen students who will steal a man and keep his in hiding, but that the spirit of the sport rules are altered so that one man steals a dozen.

The class day idea has not been acted upon yet by the Senior class. A number have been consulted in the matter and all favor the proposition. It has been an annual custom for several years for the senior class to leave something to its memory. If the class of 1908 successfully institutes and annual class holiday it will leave to succeeding classes a most enjoyable and beneficial custom. It is a good thing to follow a good custom and a better thing to create one.

Speaker Cannon said the other day in speaking before the national educational association that it is better to be educated in a university supported by the people, no matter how humble than to be taught in marble halls built by one or two persons.

W. O. Jones of the State Journal spoke at the banquet given the State at Wisconsin. There are already about 9,000 papers, books and pamphlets in the library.
