Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second-class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

There are various kinds of dreams. Mr. Powers in his address before the students yesterday meant that kind which are accompanied by considerable wide-awake action. The people who have done the world the most good haven't dreamed things into existence without getting busy between dreams.

It is a safe guess that out of the six hundred flunks and conditions of last semester there were not a half dozen by students who are earning their way through schools. Young people who earn their own money appreciate the

This hour is to be given to the discussion of the problems of the peace of the world. An association for international conciliation has been formed composed of many of the leading men of America. Many of the colleges and universities of the United States have auxiliary societies and present programs at least once each year to discuss arbitration and other means that may advance peace, and lessen or do away with war. The annual Lake Mahouk conferences are noted all over the world, and bring to their meetings the greatest orators and statesmen from all the nations. The Hague Conferences are parts of this same great movement. Among the noted men forming the council of direction of the American branch of this association are found Lyman Abbott, Nicholas Murray Butler, Joseph H. Choates, Seth Low, David Starr Jordan, James Ford Rhodes, A. D. White and our own noted citizen W. J. Bryan.

The program as arranged will occupy the whole hour from eleven until twelve, March 10. Short addresses will be given by Professor Maxey and J. S. Swenson, followed by longer speeches by Prof. G. E. Howard and W. J. Bryan. The subjects will be as follows: Prof. Edwin Maxey, "Results of the Second Peace Conference." J. S. Swenson, "The University as an Exponent of Peace." Prof. G. E. Howard, "America and the Ideal of Social Peace." Hon. W. J. Bryan, "Arbitration vs. Force." Chancellor Andrews will preside, and Mrs. Raymond will furnish appropriate music. Program will begin on the minute.

The Students' Debating Club will have a debate on the following subject: Resolved: "That the present powers of the house of representatives are a menace to good government."

opportunities of the University too much to waste them, in this way. No one can say so much for the boozier class.

The Daily Princetonian says that the functions of a college newspaper are: (1) to report collegiate and inter-collegiate news, (2) to express undergraduate opinion. (3) to act as a critic. This does not include the function of a stenographic bureau or that of an advertising agency for individuals and organizations. The Nebraskan is trying to furnish the news for the benefit of its readers and not of its would-be contributors.

Tonight occurs the first of a series of three inter-class basket-ball games. These occasions ought to develop considerable class spirit and this one between the seniors and sophomores will be of unusual interest. It is hoped that there will be enough students from the classes in question to make their presence known.

Attention is called to the chapel exercises next Tuesday from eleven to twelve.

The affirmative will be maintained by S. G. Evans and C. Stauffer. M. H. Winder and R. K. Taylor will argue the negative. The discussion will be interesting and instructive. Meeting will be in U. 102, Saturday evening, March 7.

The "Wooster Voice" of last week was edited by the girls. According to the "dope" those Wooster boys must be just awful. Scathing editorials appear about the "fearfully and wonderfully made styles" of the boys' clothes, about the impolite manner in which the boys make their dates, and about their smoking and their blockading the halls.

Northwestern is constructing an engineering building for the colleges of civil, electrical and mechanical engineering which are to be installed next spring. The course will be of five years' duration, the first two of which will be spent in liberal training of a scientific trend.

Students of Columbia university took part in the Washington birthday parade in the city of New York.
