Idea which would probably be followed by Cleveland.

But Cleveland did not live up to the expectations of the money barons, who defeated him in 1888 by shifting their forces to Harrison. Harrison was an American to the core and soon brought himself into disfavor with the special interests. News agencies controlled by these interests at once spread reports discrediting the acts of the president. These were accepted as the truth by many readers who did not know their origin.

Similarly, there is a vast amount of buncombe in the criticism of President Roosevelt. While the president may do things of which we do not approve, yet it is ridiculous to call him insane. The men who apply epithets are those whose special interests he has not favored. The same thing is true of Mr. Bryan.

For the evils of today, we need an honest application of government, the withdrawal of the special interest, the destruction of buncombe, and the abolishment of special privileges—all this with the view of keeping the power in the hands of the people. This reform will be accomplished not with turmoil and bloodshed, but by an honest application of the constitution.

It does not pay to be deceived, to be carried away by buncombe or false reasoning. The man who makes a calm, persistent search for truth will meet it half way. Honest thinkers will help the kneeling subjects of despair. And in all this which leads to life, love and truth, we feel the hand of God.

The Harvard Medical School

With the completion of the new buildings, which were dedicated September 25th, 1906, this school now has facilities and equipment for teaching and research in the various branches of medicine probably unequaled in this country. Of the five buildings, four are devoted entirely to laboratory teaching and research. Numerous hospitals afford abundant opportunities for clinical instruction in medicine and surgery.

COURSE FOR THE DEGREE OF M. D.

A four years' course, open to bachelors of arts, literature, philosophy or science, and to persons of equivalent standing, leads to the degree of M. D. The studies of the fourth year are wholly elective; they include laboratory subjects, general medicine, general surgery and the special clinical branches.

The next school year extends from October 1, 1908, to June 24, 1909. The diploma of University of Nebraska is accepted for admission. For detailed announcement and catalogue, address
