Northwestern has established a fraternity conference board, of which the president of the university will be the head. The board will be composed of two alumni from each chapter, one of whom will be appointed by the faculty and one by the chapter. The board will be merely advisory, and will not attempt any radical changes.

Princeton Debaters Defeat Harvard.

The thirteenth annual debate between Harvard and Princeton Friday evening resulted in a victory for the Princeton debaters. Princeton upheld the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, That further material increases in the United States navy are undesirable."

Minnesota girls are raising a fund for the erection of a dormitory. They have been given five thousand dollars by a local business man, who also furnishes them with a list of fifty other prominent citizens from whom they could probably get donations. They will make a canvass of these.

In order to raise funds to maintain a union at Boston Tech, a special "Tech" day is to be held at the Boston Hippodrome. All of the profits go toward the support of the union. In order to add "local color" some amateur stunts will be given by the students.

International Race.

The University of Washington is to have a regatta with the Imperial University of Japan. A Japanese student at Washington says that the only practical difference between their methods of rowing and ours is that they do not use sliding seats.

A club at California recently gave an exhibition of scientific boxing at one of its meetings, three professional boxers taking part. The organization was severely criticized by the local people for the affair.
