sandwiched in, yet all was so perfectly managed and such was the nature of the entertainments that the Nebraska girls were never in the least tired, but found themselves perfectly fresh for the game Saturday night.

The Minnesota players were the same as in the recent game in Lincoln. The Nebraska players making the trip were: Beulah Rader, Nell Stevenson, Moss Kimmel, Vera Barger, Hattie Rollings, Mattie Woodworth, and Anne Watt. The team was in charge of Miss Gittings, the trainer, to whom belongs the credit for producing so strong a team, and Miss Pound, the acting manager. Mrs. Clapp expected also to go, but was unable to do so on account of her recent serious illness.

SEMBRICH AND VAN HOOSE...

The Celebrated Tenor to Assist Mme. Sembrich.

—Ellison Van Hoose, who is to appear tomorrow night at the Oliver with Mme. Sembrich under the local management of Willard Kimball, director of the University School of Music, stands pre-eminent among American tenors. He was associated two seasons with Mme. Melba in opera and two in concert and toured last year with Mme. Sembrich.

In speaking of the concert, Mr. Kimball said, "Ellison Van Hoose has a strong dramatic voice of rare beautiful quality arousing the great enthusiasm wherever he has appeared and he alone would draw a crowded house. The concert tomorrow night is indeed a double treat. As for Mme. Sembrich, one of the greatest coloratura singers on the operatic stage, nothing further need be said. Michael de Zadora, the pianist in support of Mme. Sembrich, is placed among the foremost of the day."

Since the surreptitious disappearance of the "Junior Informal" poster, the members of the other classes are manifesting great interest in the Junior dance for Friday night. Girls, this is leap year. Junior boys should get their tickets at once of any of the following: F. M. Weller, T. N. Wildish, Fern Lee, Helen Gray, Gertrude Neilson, G. H. Matteson, Robert Elliot, E. B. Drake.

The regents and faculty of the University of Wisconsin are considering the idea of abolishing intercollegiate athletics. They are meeting with strong opposition on the part of the students.

Plans for the new physics building at the University of Illinois have lately been approved by the trustees. The building, which will be one of the finest in the country, will cost over $250,000.

One of the features of the Utah Chronicle's leap year edition, gotten out by the co-eds, is an article entitled, "Does a college education pay?" Depends on whether it's a co-ed college.
