JUNIOR MEETING

THIRD YEAR CLASS TRANSACT BUSINESS.

Report of Joint Junior-Senior Committee Recommending Permanent Cornhusker Treasury Adopted.

The Junior class held a meeting at Memorial Hall yesterday morning.

After some discussion, the class decided to adopt the report of the joint Junior-Senior committee regarding the Cornhusker treasury. Up until this time no provision has been made for the use of any surplus which might accumulate or for the payment of a deficit, should there be one.

The committee recommended that the following amendments in the Cornhusker constitution be made:

Article VIII, Sections 1, 2, and 3, amended to read as follows:

1. A permanent treasury is created to include any surplus after all bills have been paid and all office supplies and fixtures purchased by any Cornhusker staff.

2. Before the close of his term of office each business manager shall be required to render a complete report to the Student Publication Board, making clear the financial status of the publication.

3. Any surplus shall be turned over to the business manager of the succeeding publication.

4. Any deficit shall be met by a per capita assessment levied upon the members of the two upper classes.

Article V, section 1, amended to read as follows:

Each business manager shall be required to give bond to the amount of five hundred dollars ($500), payable to and accepted by the Student Publication Board.

The joint committee is composed of the following students: Arthur Jorgensen, '08; J. A. Fenlon, '08; Jean Sullivan, '08; Helen Gray, '09; Willard Mills, '09; Louis Gregory, '09.

The class voted to pay the $20.00 due the Cornhusker before any other debts were settled. Miss Gray presented the report of the Reception Committee, which was accepted. The reception is to be given at the Temple, May 16. The Junior play will be given that evening, refreshments will be served, and there will be dancing. Guy Montgomery is to manage the play, and Amos Thomas will look after the decorations. An assessment of 50 cents was levied on each member of the class to defray the expenses. This will be collected by the members of the committee.

C. C. McWhinney went to Iowa City last night as a delegate of the Phi Delta Phi law fraternity to attend their convention. Mr. McWhinney is also a delegate to the convention of the Delta Sigma Rho honorary debating fraternity, which will be held at Iowa City.

DIVINITY CLUB.

Hears Address by Professor Stuff at its First Regular Meeting.

It is not generally known that such an organization as the above exists among the various student organizations in the University, and for the reason clearly that it has had an existence of only a few weeks. The first regular meeting was held last Friday evening in the Temple Building, when Prof. F. A. Stuff addressed the members of the club on the subject: "The Ministry Versus Clericalism." The success of this first meeting and the very great helpfulness of the address are better understood and appreciated by the individual members than can be here expressed. Twelve men were present, these composing the charter membership. Starting with student initiative, the organization has had the encouragement and hearty support of Chancellor Andrews and the help of Registrar Harrison. It is planned to have at least two more meetings before the close of the school year. The purpose of the club is, however, more than such regular meetings as above in which the club will be addressed by capable men on themes of practical importance and interest to the minister of today. Definite plans for the presentation of the claims and opportunity of the Christian ministry to Christian University men will also be followed. It is also planned to hold a ministerial institute of a few days once each year, while practical personal work will also be considered a part of its work and responsibilities.

The Chancellor of the University and president of the Y. M. C. A. are, by virtue of the constitution, honorary members of the club, while Professors Stuff, French and Hinman have been duly elected to that relationship. The present officers are: W. B. Kline, president; H. M. Scott, vice president; R. M. MacDonald, secretary-treasurer, and J. S. Elliott, librarian.

LAW SCHOOL NOTES.

Hon. S. J. Tuttle Delivered Lecture Last Evening.

On Monday evening, the 24th, Hon. S. J. Tuttle delivered an interesting and very instructive lecture to the students of the law school on "Land Titles and Examination of Abstracts." A printed copy of an abstract of title to a parcel of Lancaster county real estate was furnished each student by which he was enabled to follow clearly and in detail the many intricate points of the difficult subject in hand. By his characteristic ability and wide experience in this important branch of the law, Judge Tuttle is exceedingly well fitted for work of this nature, and the College of Law is to be congratulated upon having secured his valuable lecture.

Dean Costigan was unable to meet his classes Monday on account of absence.

Wilkinson is in school again. He spent his vacation in Omaha with his typewriting business.

Tibbets is back again ready for another discussion.

The Contracts class has its condition criticisms ready for inspection. It is no small task to criticize a treatise that not only has been written by an authority, but which also has been criticized by at least one class ('08) before its publication.

Van Orsdel, servant of the class of '10, acted a similar part in the "Welcome" play given by the Dramatic Club Saturday night.

Lowe's wife is improving.

Notice.

Sophomore Ivy Day fund committee will meet in U. 109, Thursday at 11:00 a. m. It is desired that every member be present.

BASEBALL DOPE

TEAM IS PRACTICALLY CHOSEN FOR BIG TRIP.

The Men Have Been Showing Good Form in All Departments, and the Prospects Look Good.

With the coming of the day of leaving on the big Eastern trip, the prospects for a baseball team are growing brighter.

The most anxiety during the spring practice has centered about first base, in the box, and behind the bat, but matters have developed in a way which is encouraging to the University fans.

Denslow is playing a first-class game at backstop. He has played the position for several years, and only hesitated in trying for it at the first of the season on account of a preference for the position on the initial sack. He has a good whip to the bases, is fast and tricky, and knows how to judge a batter's bare places. He has shown good form at the bat, and is admittedly the best base stealer in the college game in this part of the country.

Klein has taken Denslow's place upon the first bag, and as he becomes more accustomed to the peculiar requirements in the fielding of that position, will play the best game there that has been seen since the days of Earta and Bender. He is a big, husky fellow, and swings a heavy stick with a reputation as a pinch hitter that, if lived up to, will make several little marks upon the official score boards.

Aspirants for the rubber have now narrowed down to six likely men, of whom three will be taken on the trip. Of these Ward, of last year's team, is sure to go. The big southpaw has been somewhat addicted to throwing them wide of the plate so far this season, but his known ability to put up the goods and his long experience in the box insure him to make the trip. The other men who are still fighting for the honors are Stevenson, Hetzel, Rodman, Blake, and Mather.

Stevenson has been throwing good ball for the law team, but he is a veritable Zachert at the bat, which fact handicaps him greatly, as batters are more important in the college game of baseball than men who are good players otherwise.

Hetzel comes from Grand Island, probably the greatest baseball town in the state. He has had some experience there, and has pitched good ball for the past two seasons in the Interfrat League, but this is his first appearance for the varsity. In the games with Green's Foxes he displayed himself well, and should bid strongly for a ticket next Friday.

Blake, who played on last year's trip, does not seem to be in his usual form this season for some reason or other, and may have a hard time holding his place against Mather, who showed up exceedingly well in the
