There is a good and a bad way of helping one another to stand together.

Henry Campbell Bannerman was a politician who won and held his place by his consummate ability and perseverance. He knew how to take "infinite pains."

The Athletic Board Election is drawing near and twelve men have filed statements of their candidacy with the secretary of the board. This gives the voter an ample opportunity to select men whom he thinks best fitted for the position. The number of candidates would indicate a lively contest and a large vote. In any event, there will be a greater number of persons satisfied with the results of the election than there has been for some time.

The track meet Saturday was a great success considered with reference to the number of contestants. If such interest is shown both by participants and spectators under the most unfavorable circumstances, we have reason to believe that with a good field this side of athletics would be exceedingly popular. Stand up for Nebraska and rise up and demand an athletic field.

One of the biggest and best things that is possible in the life of a college man is the privilege of attending a Student Conference. The student leaders of seven states will be called together by the Young Men's Christian Association for ten days, June 12-21, at Cascade, Colorado, to consider the great problems of student life, and to enjoy fellowship and recreation together in one of the most beautiful mountain retreats in Colorado. It cannot be estimated what the conference will mean to those whose privilege it is to go. There is no fellowship on earth like the fellowship of Christian college men.—Silver and Gold.

The "Cornhusker" will be out the 15th day of May. The price of the book will be $2.00 if taken on or before the day of publication, and $2.25 afterward. The statement made some days ago about there being only a limited number of books seems to have been taken by some as merely a scheme to get orders; however, this is a fact, and those who have given orders will be served first and those who have not will run their own risk, both as to the getting of books and paying of the extra price.

Orders can be given to any member of the staff or can be left at the Cornhusker office, in the basement of the Administration Building.
