TWO NEW CANDIDATES

KIDDOO AND CARROLL ENTER
THE FRESHMAN RACE.

SOPH MACHINE MAKING FIGHT

Active Canvass Being Made By Lawrence, Mallory and Hare for the Presidency of Class With the Honors Close.

With less than a week left for campaigning, freshmen candidates are coming to the front and three men are now in the race. They are Clarence E. Clark, of Lincoln; G. C. Kiddoo, of South Omaha, and Wayne Carroll, of Gothenberg.

Clarence Clark, of Lincoln, was the first candidate to announce himself. He graduated from the high school last year with a splendid record to show for his four years in the school. He was a prominent debater, representing Lincoln in several interscholastic contests, coming out victorious in all of them. He took a leading part in the senior class play and was an active worker in class affairs. His friends insist that he is an all around man and very competent for the place to which he aspires. Clark has the one platform, "A square deal to all interests, whether fraternity or 'barb,' and regardless of towns." He promises all towns in the state fair treatment.

Mr. Kiddoo in Race.

The friends of G. C. Kiddoo, who have been quietly pushing him for the presidency, prior to the public announcement of his candidacy which was made yesterday, report themselves as well pleased with the progress. The freshmen from different parts of the state who know him from his record in the South Omaha high schools star football and basketball teams of 1906 and 1907, are becoming interested in his campaign. Kiddoo was very reluctant about having his name presented, but when his friends found, after a week's canvass that his chances were fair, he finally allowed them to present his name. He is a 1907 graduate of the South Omaha high school, was a three year football and basketball man there and a representative of the school in interscholastic debate. He is an academic student, taking the six year law course, as is also Clark. It is strongly claimed by his friends and supporters that he is competent to serve as president. His platform is "A square deal and the best interests of 1912."

Wayne Carroll, of Gothenberg, is not so well known as the other two, but has several prominent members of the class working in his interest. He also promises "fair treatment and an administration for the best interests of the class of 1912."

Sophs Gain Vigor.

In the sophomore class, additional vigor is being gained with each day's campaigning on the part of the three candidates. The election is still several days off and yet the members of the class have been pretty thoroughly canvassed by all of the aspirants for the presidency.

As far as can be told the race between the leaders is very close and the outcome cannot be safely predicted. Friends of James Lawrence continue to urge his selection on the grounds that he is an anti-machine man and that he is being actively opposed by a class political organization of rather malodorous repute. Mallory, who is said to have the backing of the former president, Weaverling, is prosecuting his campaign with vigor. Hare reports an energetic canvass.

The election in the sophomore class is of more than usual interest since the class is in especial need of a strong executive. The unfortunate conflict with the university authorities last year has left the class somewhat disorganized and it is said that only a man who has the confidence of both "barbs" and "frats" can make a success of his administration. Members of the class say that there is considerable feeling against any machine tactics.

A reception by the Catholic students club will be given tonight at 8 o'clock in the Music hall of the University Temple. All new Catholic students are cordially invited, and all old members are urged to be present.

Popular Among Students

Speier & Simon's Clothing Store is becoming very popular among the college men of Lincoln because of the fact that we handle Real College Clothes, the newest, snappiest, "faddiest" things made; all wool and every suit guaranteed. But there's another reason why this store is liked by the students: You not only get just what you want here, but you save 25 per cent on the purchase price over what you pay in the high rent district.

Glance in our windows—they tell the whole story—an interesting and profitable one to you.

At
The Play
Houses

The last half of the week has seen well filled houses at the Majestic, attracted by the strong bill being played there. The Ralto quartet has made a genuine hit with Lincoln people and is one of the best singing organizations heard on the vaudeville stage in this city for several seasons. The other members on the bill are real entertaining.

Richard Carle, he of the long legs and nose glasses, will make an extended tour of the west and south this season. He usually comes to Lincoln.

Elsie Janis is playing in "The Codd" this season.

Lew Fields in The Girl Behind the Counter is playing in Chicago this week.

"A Stubborn Cinderella" is on a western tour.

LARGE BIBLE STUDY CLASSES

Expected That Enrollment Will Soon Reach 600 Students.

The leaders of the Y. M. C. A. bible study classes, about twenty-five in number, held their first "Leaders' Conference" in the red room of the city association building last night. About 300 men have signed up for bible study, and these men have been divided into about twenty-five classes, which meet at convenient places in different parts of the city. It is expected now that actual work of organizing classes is started that a number of men who have been uncertain about signing up will enroll in the classes. The bible study committee is very optimistic and say that judging from results so far, there will be at least 600 men engaged in systematic bible study at Nebraska this year.
