At The Play Houses

The first artist to appear in Lincoln under the management of Howard Hall, a young Lincoln man, will be Charlotte Maconda, who will be at the Temple theatre Saturday and Monday nights. Young Hall is acting as the local impresario. The first concert will be managed as usual, the second being a benefit. Then follows a series of splendid artist concerts, according to present plans. Mr. Hall has the contracts with a majority of the artists signed and in his pocket.

Nordica is billed to come May 17 and 18. Dalmores, the French dramatic tenor of the Metropolitan, will sing here en route to Denver. Jeanne Jomell, who is now being praised as the greatest of sopranos, comes November 14 and 16. Young Albert Spaulding will be here December 16 and 17. Spaulding is only 20 years old, but he handles the violin in a masterly fashion. Mme. Langendorff, of the Metropolitan, will appear in recital January 20 and 21. Germaine Schnitzer, a brilliant young German pianist, will come in February. Dr. Franklin Lawson will appear here in recital in March, and David Bisham, the greatest of American singers, will appear in the list, the date of his appearance not being settled.

Maxine Elliott opened her season at Daly's theatre, New York, Monday night with a new play by Rachel Crothers, entitled "Myself-Bettina," in which Miss Elliott made her initial appearance in the role of a Salome dancer. This, however, was an incident to the play wherein Bettina, an opera singer, falls in love with a clergyman and experiences many antenuptial disagreements, the most important of which arises from Bettina's rehearsal of a Salome dance for a church entertainment. The performance elicited approval. Miss Elliott was supported by Julian L'Estrange.

The Chicago Opera House, in Chicago, announces Raymond Hitchcock in "The Merry Go Round," to follow Henry E. Dixie in "The Devil" on Sunday night, October 18. "The Merry Go Round" is a musical revue from the Circle theatre, New York.

Vice-presidential Candidate James Schoolcraft Sherman and Congressman Nicholas Longworth were the guests of the University of Illinois republican club at noon Wednesday, a reception being tendered them at the Y. M. C. A. house. Owing to the interference of class work and the rather inconvenient hour the number of students who greeted the visitors was rather smaller than expected, but the crowd was enthusiastic and the men were well pleased with the cordiality of the welcome given to them.

Amherst entered upon its eighty-eighth year Thursday morning when at eleven-thirty the first chapel exercises were held. Once again the new class outnumbered any of its predecessors.

Saturday morning President Harris of Amherst announced the discontinuance of hazing as a college custom. This year the first night of hazing was marked by an accident which brought the matter to a point. In an attempt to escape from the sophomores, a freshman fell on a manhole cover. He suffered a fracture of the upper left arm, and though this injury was not a direct result of hazing, it brought about the death of the system.

ECKERSALL SAYS CORNHUSKERS WILL BEAT GRINNELL BADLY.

MINNESOTA MUST BE ON GUARD

Chicago Authority Declares Nebraska Has Strong Aggregation and Gophers Will Need to Prepare for Hard Battle.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 6.—Minnesota will tackle Ames on Saturday in what should prove a hard game for the Gophers. Last week Ames decisively defeated Coe, 34 to 0. Coach Williams used only simple plays in the game with Lawrence last Saturday and will have his team better versed in the new plays and the team work should be more polished. Minnesota will have to watch out for Nebraska this year, as the Cornhuskers have a strong aggregation and play Minnesota one week from Saturday, and from performances in the early games have a team which will bear watching. Nebraska will play Grinnell Saturday and this contest should prove an easy win for Cole's team.

Purdue, which was so decisively defeated by Chicago last Saturday, will play Earlham college at Lafayette and the Boiler-makers should win their first football game in two years. While Coach Speik has not the best of material for the new game, his team can show a lot of improvement and the game with Earlham should give him an opportunity to find out the true worth of the material. Purdue at present is lamentably weak in offensive and defensive play and they need plenty of coaching to make a good team.

Illinois will meet Marquette college of Milwaukee and the Orange and Blue eleven should give a better account of themselves than last week in their contest against Monmouth. If Illinois cannot defeat Marquette decisively and show signs of good football, they cannot entertain hope of beating Chicago on October 17.

Michigan, reinforced by the return of Embs and Casey, the giant linemen, should have an easy time with the Michigan Aggies. The showing of the Wolverines in their first contest against Case was a disappointment, but Yost will have a strong team with the return of these veterans and the eleven should improve greatly.

Iowa, another uncertainty in western football ranks, will get its first real test with Coe college on Saturday. Reports have it that the Hawkeyes have valuable timber this season. —Walter H. Eckersall in Chicago Tribune.

Minnesota.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5.—Orin Safford, center of the University of Minnesota football eleven, has been elected captain of the team for this year.

Safford has been at the university for three years, and two years ago was chosen by the majority of critics as all western center. He is popular at the university and one of the best men in western football.

The election took place after the Minnesota-Lawrence game Saturday, but was not announced until today.

Illinois.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 5.—That the Maroons are strong but not unconquerable was the message brought by Coach Arthur Hall to his Illinois players today.

Hall gathered the Illini about him on the field and lectured long and earnestly on Maroon tactics, passing out brochures containing descriptions of Stag's strategies. Former Head Coach Lowenthal is billed to arrive tomorrow to take charge of the centers and assist Lindgren with the forwards. As the old center's training is strenuous, the candidates, Hull and Kimball, are girding themselves for a hard week's ordeal.

Former Captain Lyon Gardiner, the long lost, appeared on Illinois field today and was enthusiastically received, even if he did not don a suit. Gardiner is weak from a malarial illness and the time of his recovery cannot be predicted. There is not much hope that he will be able to play against Chicago.

Wisconsin.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 5.—A brisk twenty minute scrimmage, the first this season, threw light on the work of the team because of the absence of three regulars, Boyle, Messmer and Moll. Osthoff at tackle showed up well. He plowed big holes in the scrubs' line and went over for the first touchdown after three minutes of play. Mucklestone, right half, and Wilce, center, got into every play.

Little Quarter Back Moll had to look on wistfully from the side lines, Barry saving him until he recovers his strength. Boyle has passed his examination and was on the field with Messmer and Springer, taking his initial workout. Cunningham's injury is healing rapidly. He expects to be in uniform the last of the week, but won't be ready for hard work for some time. The belief that former Coach McCarthy could not stay out of the fray was substantiated tonight when "Mac" took off his coat and gave lessons in passing the ball.
