SOPHS ELECT TODAY

WARM POLITICAL FIGHT DRAWS TO AN END.

THREE CANDIDATES CONFIDENT

Very Close Contest Probable With Honors Doubtful and With an Unusually Large Vote Sure To Be Polled.

Today at 11:30, the sophomore class will meet in Memorial hall to elect a president. Three candidates are in the field and the warm fight that has been made for the past two weeks will result in a large attendance at the class meeting.

Not for several years has there been so hot a contest for the sophomore presidency. If there is a voter in the class whose support for one or another of the aspirants has not been solicited within the past few days, he must certainly have been a clever dodger. In most cases the sophomore has been asked to aid the cause of each one of the three.

Are Confident.

All three candidates have hopes of winning the election. Mr. Lawrence's supporters last evening declared their belief that their man would carry off the plum with ease. They state that their opponents have lost strength to a great extent since the developments of last week. They further say that but little harm has been done them by the charges regarding undue favoritism on the part of the Daily Nebraskan.

Mr. Mallery and Mr. Hare are equally confident. In yesterday's Nebraskan Mr. Hare issued a statement which set forth clearly his position in regard to "combine" affiliations. He declared that he was the first candidate in the field, he having announced his intention of running for the office early in registration week. For this reason he believed that any charges which would make him appear a "drawing" candidate for James Lawrence would not stand. He says that he is not a party to such a combine and that his action depends entirely on his personal belief in the right of what he does.

Machine Talk.

The machine question is still bothering a number of the sophomores and it is likely that their belief in this respect will affect their votes today. Members of the class who believe that Earl Mallery is a candidate or a combine stated yesterday that rumor had come to their attention that a fourth candidate was to be put up as an avowed machine man, but that this man would withdraw on the second ballot and his strength be thrown to Mallery. The effect of such a move they say, would be to clear Mallery of machine suspicion.

No candidates are yet out publicly for other offices in the class. It is quite likely that today's meeting will adjourn after the election of the president and other business will be put over until another time. The assessment made last spring was not a financial success and the class is considerably in debt, this fact emphasizing the need of selecting a strong executive for the present semester who will see to it that the amount is raised.

Freshmen Are Next.

The freshmen will not meet until week after next. Registrar Harrison has refused to allow an earlier meeting, which some of the candidates desired, and the first year politicians will have to cool their ardor for a while. With the withdrawal of G. C. Kiddo of South Omaha, four candidates are left in the field. An earnest canvass is being made by friends of each. The aspirants are Clarence Clark of Lincoln, Wayne Carroll of Gothenburg, Earl Gerspacher of Grand Island, and Paul B. Roen of Columbus.

SQUAD DEBATE WILL BE TODAY

The Preliminary Tryout for Remaining Places to Occur.

The second squad preliminary for the remaining six places upon the debating squad will be held tonight in U. 309. Thirteen men have entered the second preliminary, seven to speak upon the affirmative and six on the negative. The question to be discussed is: "Resolved, That American cities should adopt the commission form of government." Nebraska will discuss this same question in her inter-collegiate debates.

The judges for tonight's debate will probably be Professor French, Professor Costigan, and Professor Fogg. Each speaker will be allowed seven minutes in which to present his argument.

LIKE DAILY COLLEGE PAPER.

Instructors Have Trouble in Getting Students' Attention.

The University of Washington has a live college daily, similar in size to the Daily Nebraskan. According to a late issue it is a popular organ. The account quotes Professor Daggy of the faculty as follows:

"The Daily Wave should appear in the evening, for it is proving to be too demoralizing a factor in the classroom. Instructors must descend to the sensational to get their hearers' attention.

"As soon as the students arrive from the city they eagerly seize the Daily Wave. The girls especially scan its columns and become entirely oblivious to their environment. The masterpieces of literature pale into insignificance beside the new Daily. Chaucer, Spenser, and even Kipling give way to the matutinal message from our embryo journalists.

Were the Wave issued in the evening it would prove a pleasing post-prandial diversion instead of a real class room distraction."

Hughes an Interesting Character.

Gov. Charles E. Hughes, who addressed a large audience in Lincoln yesterday, is an interesting character from the view point of university students. As a scholar Governor Hughes made an enviable record at Colgate university, Hamilton, N. Y., and at Brown university. He entered Colgate in 1877 and spent his freshman year there. At Brown, Governor Hughes took many rhetorical honors, excelling especially as a debater. Here also he joined Delta Upsilon fraternity, of which Chancellor Andrews is another member who attended Brown university.

After graduation from Brown, Hughes entered the Columbia law school, graduating with high honors and taking first place at the examination for admittance to the New York bar. He was later an instructor in law at Cornell until his entrance into the political arena.

The senior laws held an election Tuesday morning for managing editor of the Cornhusker. C. P. Peterson of Lincoln was unanimously elected to the place. The law college also has the editor-in-chief of the university book this year, W. A. Robertson being elected last year.

The first of a series of talks to be given to the members of the inter-collegiate debating squad by members of the faculty and business men of Lincoln who are interested in the commission form of municipal control was given last evening by Professor Aylsworth, of the department of political science and sociology.

RAIN STOPS PRACTICE

FOOTBALL SQUAD WORKS IN THE GYMNASIUM.

GRINNELL GAME IS DOUBTFUL

The Inclement Weather Prevents Outdoor Practice and Therefore the Squad's Improvement is Greatly Retarded.

For the second time this week the football team was yesterday unable to practice out of doors on account of rainy weather. Although the team is badly in need of scrimmage practice and outdoor signal work, yet the coach was forced yesterday to drill the men on the cramped space afforded by the gymnasium floor.

Monday afternoon the team had had a long rest after the Doane game and it had been expected that they would get out in force at Antelope Park and go through some hard signal work in an endeavor to overcome that tendency to fumble the ball and to do the wrong thing at the wrong time, which was displayed so noticeably last Saturday. These expectations, however, were shattered when on Monday we were disfavored with a severe rainstorm. Consequently Coach Cole had to resort to some other means of occupying the time of his proteges so he got all of his candidates into the gym and let them put in an hour at basket ball.

It Helps Some.

This practice doubtless was of value in developing the agility and wind of the players but it did not help them any in their signal work or in handling the pigskin. After this they went out back of the library on the grass for a short and not over-satisfactory signal practice. Tuesday the effect of their long recess from the game was very noticeable on the players and both scrubs and regular players put up a very ragged exhibition.

Yesterday again it had been hoped that the team might offset the poor impression which Tuesday's practice had left, but again they were forestalled by an untimely rain.

The work yesterday in the gym was as satisfactory as could be expected under the circumstances but it lacked considerable of satisfying the crying need of the squad for improvement in almost all departments of the game. In the limited space afforded by the gymnasium it was impossible to try the forward pass at all and even the simple formations of straight football could not be freely executed.

Lecture By Coach.

The coach gave the men a long lecture on signals, formations, and the particular duties of the players under certain circumstances, and then let them go out for a run. It is to be hoped that the weather today will permit of a good outdoor practice which is badly needed if the Grinnell people are to be humbled next Saturday.

Reports from the Iowa college are extremely optimistic and they will come to Lincoln with as strong an aggregation as they had last season. It will be remembered that last season Coach Cole's pupils were given an awful scare in the first half by the Grinnell warriors. When it comes right down to brass tacks, all former newspaper dope to the contrary, notwithstanding, the Cornhuskers' chances for more than an even break next Saturday are not overly bright. Grinnell's ends and backs are reported to be fast and the Nebraska line this week has not shown itself to be very strong, so that Grinnell's chances for a good showing appear on the whole to be very bright.

GOVERNOR HUGHES IN LINCOLN.

Students Hear New Yorker Speak at the Auditorium.

Many university students heard Governor Hughes speak at the Auditorium yesterday morning. It had originally been intended that he should speak at the Temple theater, but at the last minute the plans were changed. Governor Hughes spoke only a short time, but in that time he was able to give his audience a striking impression of his earnestness and ability. His voice could not have been in better shape, and was heard with perfect ease in every part of the hall.

Mr. Hughes did not attempt, as so many political stump speakers do, to ridicule or abuse Mr. Bryan. He devoted his time to discussing the issues of the campaign and also gave his reasons for wishing to see Mr. Taft elected. Mr. Hughes discussed at considerable length the trust question and claimed that the democratic remedies were not at all capable of being put into practical operation.

In speaking of present conditions Mr. Hughes declared that the country had been aroused to a state of high idealism and morality and that he did not wish to see a set-back given to this feeling by an attempt to put in practical operation reforms which are visionary and impractical.

Senior Breakfast Committee.

President G. H. Matteson of the senior class has appointed the following breakfast committee which will make arrangements for holding a morning feed next week:

E. E. Hills, F. Crites, C. A. Thompson, J. Ketrledge, F. N. Wilds, Marion Hart, Vera Fink, Bess Holcomb, Helen Day, Gertrude Nielson, Constance Seiford, Myrtle Hudson, J. Coupe, August Meyer, F. A. Jones.

The committee will meet in U. 106 at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Much Interest aroused.

Miss Angy Manning Taylor, who comes to the university for a great bible conference next week, has aroused much interest in bible study wherever she has worked. At Richmond, Va., "from 500 to 600 women listened each afternoon to Miss Taylor and urged her to remain a second week with them."

"At Columbus, Miss., where Miss Taylor spent a week at the Industrial Institute and college, a wave of enthusiasm swept through the college such as no other bible conference leader has ever aroused.

"From Nashville, Ten., where Miss Taylor has been several times, comes the report that those who have been privileged to hear her cannot say too much for her work. She seems particularly fitted to reach college women, for her high degree of intellectuality, her thorough, accurate and convincing manner of presenting her lessons, readily appeal to the scholar mind.

"From Columbus, O., comes the report that the charming personality of Miss Taylor, combined with her luminous and practical method of presenting her subjects, has won for her many hundreds of hearers and friends.

"Remember that Miss Taylor will be at the university next week under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. and that all young women should count it a rare opportunity to hear her."

To Receive Rifles.

Today at 5 p. m. the first rifles will be distributed to members of the cadet battalion. The rifles are of the same make as those used last year. Each company will receive rifles in turn and several days will be required to furnish the whole battalion. This done, the manual of arms will be the basis of instruction.

CADET BAND WINS OUT

MUSICAL ORGANIZATION GRANTED REQUEST FOR ROOM.

GET PLACE IN MEMORIAL HALL

Efforts of Band Members and of Captain Workizer for Sufficient Accommodations Are Rewarded With Success.

By a decision of Chancellor Andrews, announced yesterday, the university band is given quarters in Memorial hall commensurate with the importance of its work.

At the opening of the semester the band officers, seconded by Captain Workizer of the military department, presented a request to the Chancellor asking that a better room be assigned them in which to hold their regular practice. They recited the history of their organization in which they had raised a considerable sum for the erection of the Temple building with the understanding that they were to be given commodious quarters there on its completion.

When the Temple was completed, asserted the band men, the other university social and educational organizations were granted space fitted to their needs, but the band was crowded into a little room under the stage at the south end of the building. Here there was hardly room to store their instruments, let alone conducting a rehearsal.

Request Granted.

The request was submitted to Captain Workizer, who in turn sent it to Chancellor Andrews. The chancellor's decision was announced yesterday and the band men are correspondingly elated. The new room will be under the chapel in Memorial hall. Racks for the instruments will be installed under the stairs and every effort will be made to give the band suitable accommodations.

The story of the band, as related in the Nebraskan several days ago, caused considerable interest in university circles where the work of the organization was not fully understood. It was not generally known that the members had to stay in Lincoln for a week after most of the students had left for their summer vacation in order that music might be furnished at the commencement exercises. This is done at the personal expense of each member of the band and it cuts into the finances to quite a degree, when the value returned is considered.

Do Good Work.

With their new quarters, the band expects to do better work than ever before. In the past the organization has maintained an excellent reputation, furnishing music as it does for all university affairs and frequently for other events. Members receive credit for their work in the military department and work in the band takes the place of the drill required of freshmen and sophomores.
