"A GOOD THING."

Grinnell woke the Cornhuskers up Saturday by playing them to a standstill in two short halves of twenty minutes each. The visitors played a brilliant game and the Nebraska eleven put up an extremely poor exhibition of the great college sport. The score does not indicate how well the men from Iowa fought. They were a good match for Nebraska.

If it had not been for some costly fumbling on the part of Grinnell, Nebraska's score would have been below twenty, and the visitors might have rolled up more points for themselves. On the offense they played an aggressive game, which at times seemed to paralyze the line which the local rooters have taken so much pride in. It was really heartrending the way those light men sifted through places in the Cornhusker's 'stonewall.' If the line had been anything near what it was rated, Grinnell would never have made their touchdown. The Cornhuskers ought to have stopped the advance on their own ten yard line.

In the latter part of the second half Grinnell outplayed Nebraska. Their backs were sent through the line for good and consistent gains, that would have meant scores if the playing had been in close proximity to the scarlet and cream goal line. That, however,

DISORDERS MUST STOP

CHANCELLOR WARNS AGAINST A VIOLATION OF RULES.

NIGHT SHIRT PARADE IS HIT

New Attitude is Taken and Disobedience to The University Laws Hereafter Mean Indefinite Suspension.

Chancellor Andrews yesterday issued an order warning students against violating the rules of the university and positively forbidding disorders that have heretofore simply been deprecated. Under the ban are included the annual, night shirt parade, sneak day, class fights and efforts to kidnap.

The order is given out that students of the university will know what to expect if any of the rules of the university are violated from now on. Taking part in any of the disorders forbidden by the regents and the chancellor will mean indefinite suspension from the university.

The order of the chancellor follows:

The Chancellor's Order.

"The attention of the student body is called to the fact that the university adopts this year towards certain college disorders a new attitude. Instead of merely deprecating them as has been usual heretofore it now positively forbids such things.

"The Senate on June 6, 1908, voted as follows:

"We look upon sneak day, the night-shirt parade, and similar functions as violations of good order and discipline which should no longer be permitted. Students participating in any of these events should be indefinitely suspended from the university or deprived of a part or the whole of that semester's credits, at the Board of Deans' discretion; and we recommend that hereafter no participant shall be appointed to a scholarship or other position of honor or profit in the university."

"Similar functions are understood to include among other things, class fights and efforts to kidnap. Such scurvy practices will no longer be tolerated.

"E. BENJAMIN ANDREWS,
Chancellor.

MR. BRYAN'S SPEECH.

the wishes of the majority of the party.

"The republican convention turned down a plank for the publicity of campaign contributions while I believe the vast majority of people are in favor of this. In fact I am willing to put the matter to vote. How many here are in favor of publicity of campaign contributions before the campaign is over? (Many hands go up). How many are not in favor of publicity of campaign contributions and believe that the republican convention did right? (One hand up.) I am surprised. Even Mr. Taft himself would not endorse what that convention did, and if he would not do it, no student ought.

Publicity Planks.

"You may be told that the democratic congress voted against a bill for the publicity of campaign contributions. The republicans tacked an amendment to this bill which had nothing to do with it and for the very purpose of making the democrats vote against it. It was a deliberate fraud and those who tell you this know they are perpetrating a fraud.

"Mr. Taft declared that he was not in favor of publicity of campaign contributions before election because of fear that the information would not be properly used. I am perfectly willing that you should sit in judgment on his excuse. There are only two possible reasons for his excuse. Either the publication would excite just suspicion and make clear things that ought to be exposed or he believes that the people are too ignorant to be trusted with such information. You can take either of these reasons you like.

"Mr. Taft says he is personally inclined to favor the popular election of senators. I am glad he is personally inclined to be with us, but that is not enough. More than personal inclination is required to accomplish reforms. If I am elected I promise to call congress together and ask for the fulfillment of this pledge.

What Success Means.

"There is a marked difference between the result of the success of the republican party and the democratic party. The success of the republican party means a condemnation of the principles for which we stand, and the success of the democratic party means that we shall carry these reforms through to triumph.

"These questions which I have been the corporations. He does not present any remedy for the trust evils. He ridicules our remedy, but he proposes none. We have a right to expect that he will either propose an adequate remedy or else keep still.

As to Roosevelt.

"I resent the action of the president in using the power of his office and of his subordinates to push the course of Mr. Taft. If a good president can force his nominee on the people, cannot a bad president do the same? I not only do not believe that a president should use the prestige of his position to maintain his party in power, but I believe that no president should be a candidate to succeed himself.

"If I go into that office I want to go into an office such as the fathers of our country made and not one which has been made the football of political parties."

WILL RUN EXCURSION.

be 200 people who will make the trip. The special train will leave here at 6 o'clock Friday evening, arriving in Minneapolis Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock. The tickets will be good for passage on tourist or standard Pullman sleepers. They will be good returning until 8 o'clock Sunday evening. They are on sale at Harry Porter's for $7.20.

In order to stir up enthusiasm for the excursion a momentous football rally has been arranged for Memorial hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock, when the band will play and speeches will be made. The football team will be there and also "King" Cole and his wife.

A Big Rally.

The management is planning to make this one of the biggest rallies of the year and wants all loyal students in the university to turn out and to take along their friends.

"We have a great chance," explained Manager Eager, yesterday, "to beat the Gophers, and we think all the students ought to get out to this rally to show the team that the whole school is behind them. I wish every boy and girl would be there tomorrow night. We have just got to get up lots of enthusiasm. With a good bunch of that behind us we are going to scalp Minnesota. Let every student turn out to the rally, and join the excursion to Gopherland."

The price of tickets to the game at Minneapolis for students will be only fifty cents.

Engineering Society Smoker.

The smoker given by the Engineering society Saturday night at the Alpha Theta Chi house was a big success. The freshmen engineers, for whom it was given, turned out in large numbers, and were well entertained. The beginning of the evening was devoted to general hand-shaking between the visitors and the members of the society. The remainder of the evening was spent in card-playing. The new engineers had the opportunity of meeting several of the engineering professors who honored the society with their presence. The smoker was one of the best ever given by the society and enabled the freshmen to obtain a good idea of what the society is doing. The regular meeting of the Engineering society will take place Wednesday evening, Oct. 14, in the Science hall of the Temple at 7:30 o'clock.

Chemistry Society Elects.

At the meeting of the Chemistry society, Friday evening, O. L. Barnaby was elected president to succeed C. J. Frankforter. A. L. Weaver was elected vice president and W. H. Hadlock, secretary and treasurer. The meeting was called to order at 5 o'clock in the Chemistry building and, after the election of officers, three new members, Broderson, Mahood and Jensen, were initiated. The society, which elects from the more advanced students in chemistry, expects to have more additions to its membership later in the semester. The society will meet once a week, Wednesday evening, in Chemistry hall.

was "a good thing." The Nebraska line which faces the Gophers next Saturday will not play the same kind of a game it did against Grinnell. There is going to be a great change.

All during the season the Cornhuskers have been playing an inferior grade of ball. Whether they know it or not, it was plain to every rooster who had watched them in practice and in their first two games. They did not seem to be aware of the fact that until Grinnell showed them up Saturday. Now the entire team realizes that they must play better ball next Saturday in order to win against Minnesota than they have been doing so far this season. They are determined to defeat the Gophers and are going to get into shape during the next three days to accomplish that little trick.

The men have the right spirit--or at least ought to have it by this time--and will enter the Gopher game with different feelings than they have had yet this year. They all see a great opportunity for a victory over Nebraska's old rival and are going to make the most of it. They are going to win.

Y. W. C. A. Reception.

The beautiful Bryan home, Fairview, was opened Saturday night for a reception to Miss Anny Manning Taylor, the Y. W. C. A. worker, who is visiting the university Y. W. C. A. this week in the interests of the association work. Musical numbers and the serving of refreshments completed a most delightful evening. Mrs. Taylor spoke yesterday afternoon at the Temple theater to about four hundred girls. She used as her text the gospel of John, and brought out a number of splendid truths in association work. She speaks each noon this week at the university Y. W. C. A. room from 11:50 to 12:10, and each afternoon from 5 to 6 in the Science hall at the Temple. Every woman in the city as well as the university girls are cordially invited to attend.

The German college at Mt. Pleasant will be moved next June and consolidated with the theological school at Warrenton, Mo., in order that one first-class school may be made.

discussing are fundamental. I now wish to discuss some of the other issues. The democratic party declares that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. The democratic party tells you just where it stands. If the president with all of his strenuousness has not been able to put a single trust magnate in prison, what would the amiable Mr. Taft be able to do under like circumstances?

Governor Hughes has essayed the task of demolishing the democratic trust plank and the president has endorsed his position. Mr. Hughes has come west to enlighten the west on what it ought to do, but Mr. Hughes is not a western republican. The western governors signed the two-cent passenger rate laws, but Governor Hughes vetoed it. I shall not say that the great contributions which were made by the prominent trust magnates to the campaign fund of Mr. Hughes had any influence in deciding how he should stand, but I do say that Governor Hughes has thrown his influence on the side of
