weakened by the loss of some of its strongest players, will fare worse than at the hands of M. A. C., when it goes up against the Indiana team. The hopes of the varsity supporters were not raised particularly when the result of today's scrimmage with the scrubs became known. Although it is reported that the team played better, still the scrubs scored one touchdown to two made by the regulars.

Notre Dame.
NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 16—A rousing send-off was given the varsity players at a mass meeting of the students here upon the Brownson hall campus this evening. A large bonfire was lighted and speeches were made by Coaches Place and Lantry. Chief of Police McSweeney of South Bend, a former Notre Dame star, and Captain Miller. All the speakers took an optimistic view of the probable outcome of the contest with Michigan. The local rooters were never more enthusiastic over the outcome of any contest.

Grinnell.
GRINNELL, Iowa., Oct. 16—Coming through the hard Nebraska game free from injuries, the Grinnell eleven will be in fine fettle for the hard game against Creighton at Omaha next Saturday. Marshall, last year's quarter back, who was kept out of the Nebraska game by a misinterpretation of the intercollegiate rules, has been declared eligible. Risser, who was on the point of leaving for the University of Iowa, decided to remain here.

Yale.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 16—Yale has shifted its policy for the game with West Point. New formations have not been learned well by the players and they have been discarded for the old smashing attack and varied devices of last season. Yale will rely upon these to sweep the army off its feet on Saturday. Because of the new policy the gates were opened all afternoon and a lively fifteen minute half was ordered. As fast as the regulars wearied by the strenuous week and by the excessive heat retired, substitutes closed up the gaps, but there was no scoring until late in the practice, when Corey, playing quarter back on the varsity, shot around the right end for a touchdown.

Harvard.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 16—A sharp scrimmage between the varsity and the substitutes followed by a scrimmage between the substitutes and the second team constituted the bulk of the crimson practice this afternoon. Both scrimmages were hot affairs and there was no scoring. Gil Browne, who has been out a week, was back in uniform and played right end instead of quarter back. He had plenty of dash and made one sensational catch of a forward pass from Burr. Graydon was at left end for the substitutes and he and Withington tore holes in the defense. They had Fish so worried that the big varsity tackle was unable to keep outside and his team was repeatedly penalized. Gray and Sprague did the best punting. Galati has become first substitute quarter back because of the moving of Browne over to end. Minot at full back on the second team seems to be a find. He played a phenomenal game today and his line breaking was the best seen in practice this year.

Drake.
DES MOINES, Iowa., Oct. 16—For fear that Grinnell might learn their signals for the Drake-Grinnell game scheduled for Oct. 24, secret practice has been instituted by Coach Griffith for the blue and white players. After the game last year the Drake players complained that the Iowan college eleven seemed to know the numerals, so precautions are to be taken this season. The coaches will pick something near a permanent line-up this week, to be tried out in the Coe game Saturday.

FACULTY HAS DINNER
PLAN TO MEET OFTEN FOR SOCIAL ENJOYMENT.
NEEDED WANT WILL NOW BE MET
 University Professors and Instructors Will Meet Frequently On Social Grounds and Will Become Acquainted.

With a bountiful menu and a delightful period of informal sociability the university faculty last evening inaugurated a series of informal dinners which it is thought will serve to bring about a closer acquaintance between the various professors and instructors. Seventy members of the faculty of the various colleges which comprise the university assembled at the Lincoln at seven o'clock to partake of the entertainment provided by the men who are at the head of the movement for a closer union of the faculty men. The first thing of interest was naturally the dinner provided in the dining room of the Lincoln. The menu was tempting and there was plenty of it, which was in itself enough to bring about a feeling of cordial good will and companionship, even if any artificial thing had been needed for such a purpose.

Impromptu Talks.
 Following the discussion of the menu, various members of the faculty who have the interests of the university at heart spoke impromptu of their ideal for the social life of the faculty as a body, and of their belief in the usefulness of some plan whereby the members of the faculty could be brought into closer touch with one another than is possible when they meet only in the course of business connected with the university. The course of other efforts of this nature was outlined, and the belief was expressed that the dinner plan was the successful solution of the problem.

Some fifteen or twenty of those present spoke on the subject and all came to the same conclusion, namely, that the university faculty should meet together at periodical intervals. Regent Allen, who was present as an invited guest, was called upon and spoke earnestly of his belief in the power of a "pull together" spirit among the members of the faculty.

Permanent Organization.
 At the conclusion of the talks the professors and instructors unanimously voted to form a permanent organization and to meet frequently for social purposes. An executive committee was selected consisting of Professors Fossler, Avery, and Richards.
