AMES TAKES DEFEAT TO HEART.

College Paper Tells of the Game With Cornell Saturday.

A thunderbolt out of a clear sky could not have created more astonishment at Ames than the news that Cornell had wrung a victory from the cyclones. The rumor Saturday night was that Ames had won an easy victory by a lead of fifteen points. Consequently only the headlines of the morning papers could convince the bewildered student body that Cornell had really taken the 'varsity into camp.

Every dog has his day, and now it is Cornell's opportunity to shout. The usual batch of bear stories from Mt. Vernon had awakened little interest at Ames, for the modern tendency of football dope is to hide just as much of the truth as possible. Coach Finger had had his team in hiding all season, and the work of his men on Saturday entitles him to a place in the first rank of Iowa coaches. Last year Ames scratched a Russ and found a Tartar in the game with Cornell here, but few dreamed that the little Methodist college on the hill would bring out such a classy team this year. A punter of great ability was uncovered Saturday, heady play and tough defense backing him up, and, as a result, the Champions had to bow in defeat to an Iowa team for the first time in three years.

Saturday was surely an off day for the big teams of Iowa. Grinnell went down in defeat before the Creighton medical college at Omaha. Drake could run up but an insignificant score against the light and easy Coe eleven. S. U. I. got a tremendous jolt at Columbia, where the Missouri Tigers fought out a decisive victory over the Old Gold. And Ames, peerless champion of two years' standing, leaders in first-class football, and ranking with the fastest teams in the west, had to lose to a heretofore second or third rate college.

It is many years since I. S. C. has sustained such a stinging defeat. What will be the effect on the 'varsity? Will it cause the Cyclones to lose heart, or to play out the season in listless fashion? By no means—our best friends are our enemies who teach us our faults. The Cornell game was largely an accident, but it has shown up the weak points of our team in better fashion than anything

Would Like Nebraska.

If arrangements can be made Manager William Rasmussen will have one of the big Middle Western teams play of the big middle western teams play written to a well-informed friend at the University of Iowa, and this man will assist in securing a date with some middle western college.

From this distance Manager Rasmussen has been unable to get complete schedules of all the big teams in the Mississippi valley on short notice. He does not know what ones, if any, have the Thanksgiving date open. The financial end of the plan is not worrying the general manager greatly, as he believes such a team as the University of Nebraska, if it could be brought here, would be a drawing card that would pay expenses.—Pacific Wave, University of Washington.

An unusual interest in girls athletics has been growing at Iowa State college. A grand climax is expected the beginning of the class games in hockey and basket ball this week. There are to be no intercollegiate games this fall, inter-class games being substituted.
