A TRIBUTE DESERVED.

The meeting of the State Teachers' association, which is now in progress, is remarkable in many ways. The number of teachers who have returned to show their allegiance to the cause in which they are engaged is entirely unprecedented. The enthusiasm which is shown indicates an awakening of the teachers to the part which they are performing in the development of the state. The great banquet which was held in the auditorium foretells the rise of a new spirit of unity among the teachers of the state which will continue until education moves forward with more certain footsteps.

In this new state of affairs one man towers above all others in the skill and foresight with which he has steadily added the progress of education to the high place which it now holds. One man more than all others is responsible for the remarkable success of the present meetings. This man is Chancellor Andrews of the University of Nebraska.

It is due to the systematic organization which the Chancellor has developed that a meeting of such great size as the present one is being carried on with so little confusion, and with such far-reaching results. The manner in which Dr. Andrews as president of the State Teachers' association has managed its affairs gives every student proof that a big and a wise man is at the head of this university.

The size of the teachers' association has increased from a couple of hundred twenty years ago until now it numbers in this, its banner year,

RALLY AGAIN TODAY

BIG TIME PLANNED FOR MEETING AT ANTELOPE PARK.

LEAVE FOR OMAHA IN MORNING

Special Train Carrying 1,200 Rooters, Football Team and Cadet Band, Will Start From Burlington Depot at 8:30 O'clock.

Another rally of the students for the Nebraska-Ames game at Omaha will be held this afternoon at Antelope park, while the football team is running through signal practice. The rooters and band will gather at the rock in front of Library hall at 4 o'clock and march in a procession to the gridiron. The route of the parade will be as follows: R street to O North Eleventh; O street to Twenty-first and South Twenty-first to the park.

Both boys and girls are expected to join in this demonstration of the team. Songs will be practiced at the grounds and the co-eds will be needed to help sing the selections.

The Nebraska bunch will have some strong-lunged representatives from Ames to yell and sing against and it will need all the help of all students that go to Omaha in order to make a better showing than the supporters from the Aggie school.

1,000 Ames Rooters.

A report from Ames says that school will send at least 1,000 rooters to Omaha for the game and that they will be prepared to support their team in the most loyal fashion. When Ames was in Lincoln last season there were only a handful of rooters with the team, but they did the greatest kind of cheering for their eleven, and at times drowned out the cheering of the Scarlet and Cream rooters.

The most loyal Nebraska students do not want this to occur at Omaha Saturday, and so they are urging all students to attend the rally at the park this afternoon that the Nebraska crowd may go to Omaha well trained to sing and root as much as may be needed.

This afternoon the Nebraska team will run through several of the new plays that are to be used against Ames and the Nebraska rooters who go out to the park will see some clever work. Nebraska has a great football team this season, and it is playing the championship ball. A great many students have not seen it practiced this season, and this afternoon will be the best opportunity they will have of witnessing the signal work.

Train at 8:45 O'clock.

The Nebraska rooters, probably 1,200 strong, will leave for Omaha at 8:45 o'clock Saturday morning over the Burlington railroad. The team and band will also go on this train.

VISIT STATE SCHOOLS

ings were held yesterday in the First Presbyterian church and it is probable that these meetings will have to be continued today. These general sessions are proving to be of rare interest to all teachers who are able to attend them. The session yesterday morning was of much benefit. Following an invocation by Rev. Roach of St. Paul's and an organ prelude by Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond of the university faculty, Dr. Henry B. Ward, dean of the college of medicine, addressed the teachers on the topic, "The Public Schools and the Health of the Nation."

Dr. Ward declared that one of the greatest problems which his profession has to deal with is the proper education of the people to take care of themselves. He declared that not only do many schools make no attempt to properly educate their pupils so that they may not be afflicted with fundamental ignorance of the subject in after life, but there are frequent cases where actual harm comes to pupils because of the unhygienic conditions under which they work in the public schools. He devoted a considerable portion of his time to a discussion of the evils of tuberculosis and appealed to the teachers to aid the medical profession in riding the country to as great an extent as possible of this curse.

The High Schools.

Following Dr. Ward, Dr. E. J. Goodwin of Brooklyn, Principal A. D. Call of Hartford, Conn., and Superintendent A. H. Waterhouse of Fremont, formerly principal of Omaha high school, spoke on the theme, "The High School Problem." All three speakers emphasized the need of thorough and accurate instruction in the grades in order that the work of high school and college might not be unnecessarily hampered by lack of proper preparation. They were united in their belief that there was a universal room for improvement in this respect.

During the afternoon the teachers scattered among the various sectional meetings. Among these sections are those on the professional training of teachers, popular medical education, drawing and manual training, child study, teachers of German, teachers of science, teachers of Latin, teachers of history, teachers of mathematics, music supervisors, teachers of physical science, grammar schools, county superintendents, rural teachers, college teachers, high school teachers, primary and teachers of literature.

University Men Spoke.

At nearly all of these sectional meetings some one of the state university faculty was on the list of speakers. Among those who spoke yesterday were Dean Charles E. Fordyce, Dean A. E. Davison, Inspector A. Reed, Dr. H. H. Waite, Dr. H. W. Orr, Professor F. D. Barker, Professor Luckey, Professor P. H. Grumann, F. W. Sanford, Professor C. E.

over three thousand. The association has now grown so large that the meetings cannot be held in any of the smaller towns of the state for mere lack of proper accommodations. It is to be hoped that those in charge of the association in the future can continue its value and its spectacular growth to even a greater degree than has been yet maintained.

FACULTY GETS LIQUOR LICENSE

Action of Wisconsin Professors' Club Excites Comment.

People are asking themselves why the Wisconsin University club, whose membership is largely made up of university professors, should have taken out a liquor license, especially when, under the state law, liquor cannot be sold so near the university as the building in which the club has its home. The report that the club had obtained a liquor license first became noised about a few weeks ago, but was immediately denied by those most interested.

It has since been learned that the license was issued last August and that the stamp bears the number 49436. A tax of $22.96 was paid to the government. The object in taking out a government license and not supplementing it by taking out a city license is the cause of much comment, but all persons concerned are reticent. It has been suggested that the liquor dispensed at the club probably is for medicinal purposes only.

MEGAPHONES! MEGAPHONES! The University Book Store.

It is planned to have the students meet at the university campus at 8 o'clock in the morning and march to the depot. The fare one way will be $1.10. A special train will return from Omaha in the evening, but students who buy their tickets but one way may return at any time they please.

When the special train reaches Omaha the Nebraska rooters and band will form into a procession and march to the Henshaw hotel, where the Cornhusker eleven will be kept. The team will be in the parade, riding in hacks furnished by the football management.

DRAMATIC CLUB HOLD SOCIAL.

Eighteen New Members Initiated and Welcomed by Club.

Last evening in the Dramatic club rooms of the Temple the eighteen students who were successful in the recent tryouts were welcomed into the ranks and given full membership. The social was tendered for the purpose of making the old and new members acquainted, and judging from the joyous atmosphere which seemed to encircle all, success must have reigned supreme.

The following program was given by the new members, after which ice and wafers were served:

- "A Duet," Eleanor Barbour and Mabelle Snyder.
- "A Shop Girl," Miss Whittier.
- "As You Like It," Geo. Adrance and Miss Emory.
- "The Rivals," Sheldon Coon and F. O. Wheelock.

Persinger, Professor Aylesworth, H. R. Smith, P. D. Barker, J. E. Almy, Professor Benton Dales, Professor Samuel Avery and Professor G. E. Condra.

Last evening Chancellor Andrews addressed the second general session on "The Crusade for the County School." His remarks were given earnest attention and his ideas were of evident interest to the teachers present. The chancellor declared the great benefit to be derived from efficient country school work and called attention to some improvements which might be made to the advantage of the system.

This evening the association will close its session with an address by Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California. Dr. Wheeler is widely and favorably known and teachers are looking forward to his address with the expectation of hearing an unusually intellectual talk.

Landscape Gardener Here.

Regent Copeland was in the city yesterday and visited the campus in company with Mr. Denman, newly appointed landscape gardener of the university. Mr. Denman is an English gardener who has had considerable experience in his line of work. His success at the soldiers' home at Colorado Springs, Colo., is one of his best testimonials. Mr. Denman will have entire charge of landscaping the university campus.
