At The Play Houses

The Matinee.
 The four Rianos, presenting "In Africa," a comedy acrobatic act, at the Majestic, are occasioning Lincoln's theater-goers considerable amusement. Two of the Rianos imitate a pair of monkeys with much cleverness.
The Lyric.
 "The Ranger" is the bill at the Lyric this week. It is a popular western drama, and has been drawing large crowds to the House Cozy.
 What might properly be termed a "grand opera war" began Tuesday night when Oscar Hammerstein opened his new Philadelphia opera house with a performance of "Carmen," and the Metropolitan opera company began its season with "La Boheme." Each season is to cover a period of twenty weeks. Each house was packed to the doors tonight, and thousands were turned away.
 Hammerstein's opera house is said to be the most beautiful structure of the sort in the world. Society gave the new enterprise the stamp of its undoubted approval, and the rest of Philadelphia swarmed to the doors of the new house and clamored for admission.
 Four thousand four hundred persons heard Countess Labja and a great cast in "Carmen" at the new house last night. This was the first appearance in America of the great soprano in this role. At the academy of music Caruso, Mme. Sembrich and Scotti charmed an audience that jammed the big building, by their rendition of "La Boheme." Hammerstein brought over from New York special trains carrying newspaper men, opera singers and distinguished men to help add to the eclat of the Philadelphia opening, while the Metropolitan company directors came over from New York with Sig. Gatti-Casazza and Mr. Dip-

CHICAGO SETS A NEW RECORD.
 Correspondence Courses Show Big Increased Enrollment.

The Correspondence School of the University of Chicago is expanding with phenomenal strides. Its growth as a department is without precedent in the annals of Chicago's history.
 The report of the correspondence study department for 1907-1908 shows an increase of 18 per cent in the number of students enrolled over that of last year, which was a banner year itself.

The total enrollment at present is exactly 2,200, which is 20 per cent of the total number of students matriculated in the university. In the department there are 231 instructors, giving 421 courses. Four new courses have been arranged for, since the last circulars were printed. These are all of a practical nature, two being intended for teachers and school principals. These deal with the problems of school supervision and class management. Superintendent Chancellor, who is in charge of the courses, reports 150 teachers already enrolled.
