A GREAT FOE.

The Carlisle Indians are by far the greatest football team that any Nebraska eleven ever faced, and their remarkable victory over the Cornhuskers yesterday was fairly won and justly deserved. Probably the score on the Indians' side was a little too high to be representative of the relative strength of the two teams, but there is no doubt that the Carlisles were entitled to the victory by a wide margin.

It is nothing to the discredit of the Nebraska players to have been defeated by the wonderful machine of Coach Warner's. The visitors have one of the best elevens in the country—one superior to anything in the west and the equal of Pennsylvania, or the best of the east. They have been trained for months—even years—in the most successful plays of the east, where the football played is the greatest in the world. They played the football of the east against Nebraska, and as usual when the west and east meet on the gridiron the latter triumphed.

Nebraska started the game in brilliant style by making the first touchdown. But when the Carlisle machine opened up in the next ten minutes after this touchdown was made it was obvious what the result would be. There was no stopping the redmen. Nebraska could not do it, nor would it have been possible for any other ka's players have no right to feel ashamed of themselves. They played good ball this fall and won a great reputation for their own and for the state university. The experience of the Carlisle game will be of immense value to the coach and players who return to the gridiron work next fall. Then they can proceed to give Nebraska a team that will go through the season with a clean slate and regain the Missouri valley championship title.

We have been practicing has been so bad that we had to go out into a cow pasture with ruts every ten feet to get a place where we could practice at all.

Makes Strong Appeal.

Dr. Condra was the second speaker and his talk was a string appeal to university men to accomplish greater things and stand together for higher ideals. He spoke as follows:

"The time has come when we need more recruits if we are to turn out a winning football team. It is your duty to see that every good football player from the high schools of the state comes to the University of Nebraska. We want the time to come and to come soon, when we shall get all the good men from the state. We need a hundred men in our football squad, and we must have them if we are to turn out a winning team.

"We need new yells, yells that mean something, yells that are worth while, yells that express the spirit of the school. We must wake up to our needs or we will be left behind by the other colleges of the west. We are progressing but so are all the other schools. We must have an athletic field, and if the people don't provide a field then we will go out among the business men of Lincoln and get a field and name it not Nebraska Field but Bill's Field."

Dr. Maxey was next called upon and spoke briefly. He declared that in Coach Cole we have the temperament needed in a coach to produce a great team. In speaking of the athletic field he declared that we have made up our minds to have an athletic field and that we are going to have it by next year.

Must Have Field.

Governor Sheldon was the last speaker of the evening. On rising he declared that when at the game today he met Jack Best and the tears were running down his face as he saw how the Carlisle game was coming out. The governor proposed three cheers

WILL PLAY FOOTBALL

CHICAGO AND NORTHWESTERN TO MEET NEXT FALL.

MAY RESUME THEIR RELATION

Iowa and Ames Anxious to Get Together Again After a Year's Separation—Yost Not to Quit Football.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Northwestern and Chicago have resumed football relations. The city gridiron championship, always a big feature of the local football year before the suspension of the game at Evanston three years ago, will again take the boards next season, when the maroons and purples meet for the first time since 1905.

Coach A. A. Stagg of the maroons announced the plans for the revival of football rivalry between the two schools yesterday, following the request for a game made by Director Gillesby of Northwestern. Only the usual formality of securing the consent of the Midway faculty remains to clinch the date, but the maroon professors are as anxious as Coach Stagg to play the Methodists, and they will offer no objections.

The game will in all probability be played at Marshall field. No definite date has been considered as yet. It is likely, however, that the maroon-purple contest will be either the first or second game on Stagg's schedule, as the latter part of the Midway schedule is taken up with tentative dates.

Purple Anxious to Play.

The purple rooters are anxious to get at the maroons again, despite the fact that Northwestern suffered overwhelming defeat at the hands of Chicago in the two last games. The Chicago game will be the "big" contest of the purple five-game schedule and will be a heavy proposition to handle early in the season, but the Methodists are willing to stand this disadvantage in order to get back on the Chicago list.

While the Chicago-Northwestern game had come to be an accepted fact each season before the late renunciation at Evanston it was considered likely that the purples would feel like holding off for another season. Director Gillesby nailed this possibility by getting in his bid early, and as a result either Indiana or Purdue will have to be dropped by Stagg.

Coach Stagg now has contracts with

Throughout school days, college days, business or professional career the Conklin Pen will serve you faithfully and make writing a pleasure. You don't have to coax it or fuss with it to get it to write. Because of its wonderful feed principle, ink responds instantly at the first stroke and maintains an even, steady flow to the last dot. Another great advantage of owning a

CONKLIN'S SELF-FILLING PEN

—you're never without ink. No matter where you may be—in your room, lecture hall, at the post office, telegraph office or hotel, or on the train—all you have to do when your Conklin Pen begins to run dry is to dip it in any inkwell, press the Crescent-Filler and your pen instantly fills itself and is ready to write. The same simple movement also cleans it. No mussy dropper—no spilling of ink—no interruption to your train of thought. The basket-ball schedule is in the process of formations, and with Mark Catlin's return from Wisconsin this week the dates with Iowa colleges, Nebraska, etc., will be arranged. That correspondence will be taken up with Ames is practically certain, and a contest is eagerly sought by the Iowa students in any branch of sport.

Michigan.

DETROIT, Dec. 2.—Fielding H. Yost, coach of the Michigan football team, arrived this morning from Philadelphia and other eastern cities, where he has been since his eleven was trounced by Syracuse on Nov. 21. He said that the report of his going to manage an electric railway was true.

"I've been interested in the Great Falls Electric and Power company of Nashville and Chattanooga for some time," said the "hurry-up" man. "I understand I'm to have pretty full control of its operation from now on. I'll leave here Thursday night for Chattanooga, and after sizing up the situation, will decide whether or not I want to reside there permanently. Quit football? Hardly. I'll see when next December comes what I'll do in that game.

"Saw some fine football east. Pennsylvania was the most versatile eleven I cast eyes on, however. The army and navy game was the hardest fought battle I ever saw."

Illinois.

URBANA, Ill., Dec. 2.—John Schommer, the tall maroon, has been suggested as a possible coach for the University of Illinois basket-ball five, in the event that he abandons track and baseball work at Chicago. The Illini, who have a vision of a championship five, believe that "Long John" would be a cracking good coach.

Last year Illinois dispensed with a basket ball coach, because it was impossible to secure just the kind of instructor wanted. So far this year Captain Popperfuss has been in charge of the squad. If it is decided not to enter into negotiations with Schommer, it is improbable that a basket ball coach will be secured at all.

Basket ball practice began this week, a large squad being out. The most prominent candidates for the varsity are Captain Popperfuss, Watson, Rennaker, Brundage, Lord, Palmquist, Horn, Briggs, Bernstein and Rockwell. The eligibility of Penn, the navy forward of last year, is uncertain. Rennaker was prevented from playing last year by illness.

western eleven. The Indians were defeated by Minnesota, but it was at a time when they were crippled and could not play fast football. Yesterday the Carlisles were in tip top form and Nebraska was an easy victim for them. Their speed, variety of attack, interference and forward passes were unlike anything ever seen on a Nebraska field before and they bewildered and dazed the Cornhuskers. After the first five minutes of play Nebraska never had a look in for a victory.

The Cornhuskers, however, played a good game in nearly every respect. There was one weakness, though, that has been apparent all season and must be removed before Nebraska can have a truly great team. It was the miserable tackling. Nearly all of the Nebraska players caught their opponents too high in attempting to stop them. They grabbed them around the waist or head and seldom prevented their advance. Tackles at the feet would have saved Nebraska several points.

This weakness was not the fault of "King" Cole. It was the players'. They had been instructed often enough as to how to play and were alone to blame.

But when everything is considered it was not a bad game, and Nebrasfor Jack Best, and they were given with enthusiasm. Continuing his talk he spoke as follows:

"It is a shame and a disgrace to the people of Nebraska that the cadets of the state university have to go to the alleys and streets to get a place to drill, and that the football team has to go to a professional ball park. The school is growing and it has got to get more room pretty soon or it is going to be badly cramped. We have already waited too long. It is better now to look after the needs of the campus than to wait until the land becomes even more expensive. If the University of Minnesota can spend $1,000,000 for enlarging the campus of its university, it would seem that the University of Nebraska could at least afford to spend $150,000 for the same purpose. The state of Nebraska ought to provide a campus at least large enough to properly care for the university."

THE MESSIAH.

All students who have sung in the Messiah in previous years are urged to assist in the coming rendition of the work which will take place on Thursday, December 17. Rehearsals are held in the Temple Music hall (second floor) on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 5 p. m.

Minnesota, Wisconsin and Cornell, and an Illinois game is understood, as well as the Northwestern contest. With five games in sight, Stagg intends to hold up his plans temporarily, and it is not likely that any more games will be scheduled until well along in the winter.

It is believed at the Midway that Indiana may be lopped off the schedule owing to the departure of Coach "Jimmy" Sheldon from the camp of the Hoosiers. Coach Stagg said yesterday that he had no idea of the final make-up of his schedule, but that one of the Chicago's traditional rivals might have to be turned down next year.

Iowa.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 2.—That the desire of the University of Iowa and Ames student bodies that athletic relations between the two institutions be resumed in the near future will be soon realized is the belief here. Iowa is anxious to play Ames in basket-ball, and, though no statement will be given out by any member of the board in control of athletics, there is reason to believe that the board would approve a contest with the aggie five the same as any institution, and that all previous negotiations between the two schools will be carried on as though there had never been a severance of relations for one year.
