DEBATE PLANS MADE

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED BY CLASS PRESIDENTS.

WILL DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP

Many Difficulties Are Encountered But Class Debates Have Proved Very Successful in Other Schools.

According to the outlook at the present time a series of inter-class debates to determine the championship of the university will take place next spring. The first and most important step has been taken to insure the success of the plan. Committees have been appointed in all the classes to look after the matter, and with interest thus aroused in each class there is no reason why the matter should not be a great success.

Several times in the past there has been an attempt to get something of this kind at the university, but each time the matter has fallen through for want of thorough support. Three years ago a committee was even appointed in one of the classes, but nothing came of the matter.

It Will Be Honor.

It is expected that it would soon come to be considered as great an honor to represent the class in an inter-debating contest as it is now to represent the class on the football team. It would require fully as much preparation and the honor of the class would be just as much at stake.

There are several difficulties which must be worked out by the different committees, however, before the matter could be a success. It would of course, be necessary to hold two debates to choose the two teams which should meet to decide the championship. Now, if both affirmative teams, or both negative teams should be chosen for the final contest, it would make it necessary for one team to change sides and would thus make it necessary for a considerable time to elapse before the final debate could be held. This is one of the problems which the committees are now trying to solve.

Problems Considered.

The question also as to what would be a satisfactory reward for the debaters is one that is not easy to solve. In athletics, with a small admission charge, it has been possible to give sweaters as a reward for successful work. This plan could hardly, however, be adopted in a class debate. The question as to the time and place of holding the debates also presents many difficulties.

A plan of inter-class debates has been tried in other western colleges for a number of years and has been very successful. It has been found that it gives debaters just the practice that is necessary to make a finished and fluent speaker. Besides this it is a form of class rivalry which has become very popular.

The committees which have been appointed in the various classes to look after the matter are as follows: In the senior class, Bates, Reinsch and Evans; in the junior class, Potter, Alexander and McDonald; in the sophomore class, Hahne, Hare and Drake. The freshman class committee has not been announced.

Dan Cupid is cutting up unseemly pranks in the ranks of Nebraska teachers. Swamped with requests for university graduates or students far enough advanced to take charge of high school classes, Dean Fordyce of the Teachers' college and State Inspector A. A. Reed are making frantic efforts to fill places left vacant by marriages. But the demand for teachers exceeds the supply and by application to either of the two, any university student can secure a place to teach. To prevent teachers from leaving the school boards in the lurch, a state law as passed, forcing all instructors to sign yearly contracts. But it was no use during the Christmas holidays and the ranks of the teachers have been greatly thinned by the ruthless attack of Cupid.

Throughout school days, college days, business or professional career the Conklin Pen will serve you faithfully and make writing a pleasure. You don't have to coax it or fuss with it to get it to write. Because of its wonderful feed principle, ink responds instantly at the first stroke and maintains an even, steady flow to the last dot. Another great advantage of owning a

CONKLIN'S SELF-FILLING PEN

—you're never without ink. No matter where you may be—in your room, lecture hall, at the post office, telegraph office or hotel, or on the train—all you have to do when your Conklin Pen begins to run dry is to dip it in any inkwell, press the Crescent-Filler and your pen instantly fills itself and is ready to write. The same simple movement also cleans it. No mussy dropper—no spilling of ink—no interruption to your train of thought. Handsome catalog direct from the manufacturers, The Conklin Pen Co., 310 Manhattan Bldg., Toledo, Ohio, on request.
