WAS QUITE A CRUSH

NEW SYSTEM OF REGISTRATION DIDN'T ABOLISH RUSH.

STUDENTS' HURRY THE CAUSE

University Men and Girls Crowded Registrar's Office on First Day of Week Despite Fact That Plenty of Time Remained.

The new system of registration devised by Registrar Harrison and including numbered tags, specially reserved hours, and study rooms, was tried out yesterday in the office of the registrar and in the adjacent hall of the administration building. At the conclusion of the day's work it was stated at the office that the new system was operating successfully in every way, this despite the fact that at times the crowded conditions were vivid reminders of past registration jams.

From the opening of the office at 9 o'clock to the close at 5 p. m. there was practically one continuous procession of students registering for numbers which will entitle them to a reserved time during next week when they may arrange their schedules and pay their fees. At several times during the afternoon the office was jammed and the hall outside was called into service to accommodate the overflow. At these times there were as many as one hundred students in line waiting for their turn at the desk and when such was the case it required anywhere from thirty minutes to an hour for one student to get his number.

Students to Blame.

At the registrar's office the responsibility for the jams was laid upon the students themselves. It was stated that there were five days after yesterday in which to obtain the numbers and that there was no excuse for so many attempting to get the printed slips on the first day. There seemed to be an impression among the students, however, that unless they were on hand early they might be forced to take periods not convenient to them during the regular registration week. To some extent this idea had been encouraged in order that students might not put off their appearance at the office until late in the week and at that time bring about a jam. There seems to be no danger of such a condition in view of the situation yesterday.

Another thing which delayed matters very considerably and which was not the fault of the students was the lack of examination schedules during the morning and early afternoon. Only one copy of the sheet listing the examination periods for the different classes was in the registrar's office. Without consulting this, the students had no idea when he could present himself next week for final registration and consequently the scarcity was the cause of a great amount of inconvenience and delay. In mid-afternoon printed copies of the schedule were received and these were placed on the office counter in such a position that anyone wishing a copy had to break through the line ready to get tags, this resulting in confusion and in further delay for many students who had not the "nerve" to shove themselves to the head of the line out of their proper sequence. Others had the nerve in plenty, however, and there were numerous ones who boasted of getting numbers ten minutes after they entered the office in which some less enterprising students had been patiently waiting three times as long.

A Double System.

The slowness yesterday was partly due also to the fact that for a great part of the time but one man was giving out the tickets. Late in the afternoon additional service was applied and the students went through the process of being tagged at a faster rate. When the final registration is made next week there will be a double line with two separate systems of registration so that the operation will be complete twice as fast as has been the case in the past.

In at least one department of the university the system of the registrar will be extended to the class-registration. In this department all students have been requested to go to the office as soon as they have been registered and at once receive their assignments to class sections and laboratory periods.

ASPIRES TO LEAD JUNIOR CLASS.

H. O. Baumann Enters Race for Presidency.

H. O. Baumann, captain of the 1908 cross country team, which won the annual race of the conference at Chicago last November, is a candidate for the presidency of the junior class. He made his entrance into the race yesterday, unheralded by the tooting of horns. He is the third candidate in the race, the other two being Miss Josephine Huse and Paul E. Yates.

Baumann, since he came to Nebraska, has been prominent in track athletics. He is well known among the members of the junior class and is expected to give the other candidates a close race for the head office.

His campaign was inaugurated yesterday by several of his friends, and last night it was announced that several votes had been pledged to him. His campaign during the next few days will be waged with keen activity in an effort to bring practically all of the hardest work to a close before the final examinations.

SENIOR PROM NEXT FRIDAY.

Big Formal Dance Given by Fourth Year Men.

The annual senior prom, one of two formal class functions given at Nebraska, will be held next Friday evening at the Lincoln. The grand march will start promptly at 8:45 and merriment will then reign until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Conant, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Phillips, Captain and Mrs. J. W. Workizer will chaperon the affair and many prominent alumni will also be in attendance. Eddie Walt has promised to have some entirely new music for the occasion. Lunch will be served during the dance in the ordinary of the Lincoln. The rotunda and the hall itself will be beautifully decorated in the same class colors. Heine Weller is chairman of the prom and Ed. G. Davis is master of ceremonies.

Alpha Chi Omega gave their first annual party at the Lincoln annex Friday evening. Fifty couples were present and enjoyed a program of twenty dances with two-course luncheon. The rotunda of the Lincoln was decorated for the occasion with red banners and green foliage and the orchestra was screened with palms and red carnations, red and green being the sorority colors. On Saturday evening the annual banquet of the sorority was held at the ordinary of the Lincoln. About forty members of the organization were present, including several out-of-town alumni.

A grand concert and ball will be given in the auditorium February 2 by the M. P. V. An orchestra of fifty pieces under the direction of Carl Steckelberg will furnish music for the concert, while a twenty-five piece orchestra will play for the dance. Manager Rurick of the auditorium has promised to have the dancing floor in good condition. Tickets will be $1.00. See Newell, Unland or Davis.

NEBRASKA WINS TWO

AMES AGGIES DEFEATED IN THE FIRST GAMES OF SEASON.

NEBRASKA VS. DRAKE THIS WEEK

Dr. Clapp Anticipates a Fiercer Struggle Against the Des Moines School Than Was Necessary With Aggies.

The Nebraska basket-ball five more than made good the expectations held out for them in the two contests with the Ames Aggies last Friday and Saturday evenings. They won both games handily, the first by a score of 42 to 20 and the second by 40 to 21, and as a consequence they are now well on their way toward the championship of the northern section of the Missouri Valley.

Nebraska has eight games to play in the championship series of the northern section and by winning these first two she has got a good lead on the other two teams, Ames and Drake. Drake comes to Lincoln for two games next Friday and Saturday and after that the Cornhuskers will play no more games which will count for the championship until February 8, when they meet Ames at Ames on their way back from their northern trip. They play two games at Ames at that time, followed immediately by two with Drake in Des Moines on February 10 and 11, which games will wind up the series in the northern division. The team in this section having the highest percentage of games won will then meet the best team of the southern section which now appears to be either Kansas or Washington for the Missouri Valley championship.

Cornhuskers Do Well.

In the Ames games last week the Cornhuskers certainly played good ball, much better than they have exhibited at any other time this season. Throughout both contests their guarding was very careful and sure and their team work was developed to a much higher degree than was that of the Aggies.

The Ames team lacked speed and team work, and they were obviously in poorer physical condition than the Cornhuskers, who were able to stand the hot pace of both games without a let-up. These facts, together with inaccurate passing and poor dribbling, probably account for the fact that the Ames aggregation were not able to make a better showing. The Aggies, however, expect to make some rapid progress in the course of the next two weeks and they hope for revenge when the Nebraska team comes there next month.

In discussing the prospects in the Drake games, Dr. Clapp says that he anticipates no such easy task in defeating the Des Moines bunch. They are reputed to have a much stronger team than Ames, although no accurate dope can be obtained from the Drake team in the way of comparative scores. Drake college is situated in Des Moines, a basket-ball town, where the crack Y. M. C. A. team gives an impetus to the sport. It is said that two of the present Drake players are former Des Moines Y. M. C. A. stars.

NEW INSTRUCTOR TAKES PLACE.

Will Be Associate Professor of Practical Sociology.

Miss Eaves has recently been added to the faculty of the Political Science department. Miss Eaves will have the rank of associate professor of practical sociology and will give a series of courses especially adapted to develop the practical side of sociology.

Miss Eaves has had a long training in this line of work that makes her unusually well qualified for the position which she is about to take. When Doctor Howard was at Leland Stanford university she was a lecturer in this department and was later in charge of settlement work in San Francisco for seven years. She has recently written a book on labor legislation in California.

GREEK COURSES OFFERED.

The department of Greek history and literature offers the following courses open to all students during the second semester, 1908-09.

Course 2b.

Greek in English—This course is based primarily on the study of English words derived from the Greek, with special reference to modern literary and scientific terms. It is intended primarily for those students who desire to obtain, in one semester, a fair knowledge of the Greek elements in our own language. The course may also serve as a preparation for course 3. No previous knowledge of Greek is required. Five hours' attendance. Five hours' credit. Daily at 2 p. m. U. 201.

Course 2c.

A Trip to Greece—During the second semester Professor Lees will again conduct a class through "A Trip to Greece." The itinerary will follow the routes pursued by him during two tours of Greece taken in former years. The aim of the course will be to present clearly to the student the appearance of Greece as it is today; its topography, architecture, theaters, temples, etc., explained by lectures and illustrated by lantern views. One hour attendance. One hour credit. Tuesdays at 3 p. m.

Course in Zoology.

The Department of Zoology offers a beginners' course in Zoology the second semester. This course, Zool. A., covers the same ground as Zool. I and II, a year's work in one semester. Class meets daily 10 a. m., N. 210. Five hours' credit.

Notice.

February seniors are requested to leave orders for Commencement invitations at the Nebraskan office between 11 a. m. and 12:15 p. m. today.

OFFER NEW COURSES

DEPARTMENTS OF UNIVERSITY ADD MANY TO LIST.

SEVERAL CHANGES ARE MADE

Miss Eaves Has Been Appointed Associate Professor of Practical Sociology Under Doctor Howard.

For the coming semester an unusually large number of courses that have never before been offered at the university are being given. In most cases these new courses are being offered largely to supplement and make complete work which has previously been offered but in several cases entirely new lines of work are developed.

Perhaps the most important new work which will be offered during the coming semester is in the Political Science department. In the past work in the department has been largely concerned with theoretical sociology, but next semester courses will be introduced to train people in the every day application of sociological principles.

New Professor Comes.

This enlarging of the scope of work in the Political Science department is made possible by the fact that a new professor has been added to the faculty of the department. With the beginning of next semester Miss Eaves, Associate Professor of Political Sociology, will commence her work as one of the professors in the department and will give a series of courses developing the practical side of sociology.

Miss Eaves offers four courses which are catalogued as 14, 20, 22 and 24. Course 14 is a study of the development of English and American labor legislation, while course 20 is an examination of attempts that have been made to give definite training in social and civic duties. Course 22 includes a general discussion of the causes of poverty and dependence and the principles of prevention and relief, and also a more concrete study of modern methods of caring for the poor. Course 24 is planned to give practical experience to those who expect to prepare themselves to take positions in charitable or correctional institutions or to take part in the social betterment work of churches or Christian associations, social settlements, probation work of juvenile courts, or welfare departments of industrial establishments.

Greek Courses Offered.

In the Greek department a new course has been offered which seeks to give beginners in one semester a fair knowledge of the Greek elements in the English language. This course may also serve as a preparation for course 3. As in past years, Dr. Lees will, during the second semester, give a course showing by means of lantern views the appearance of Greece to the traveler today.

In the philosophy department, Professor Alexander will continue during the second semester the courses commenced during the semester now drawing to a close. As this is Professor Alexander's first semester at the University of Nebraska, these are all new courses. A new course in "Humanism" is also being offered by the department. This course aims to trace the history of Humanism through the ages. Philosophy 16, which deals with the Philosophy of Religion and is usually given in the second semester by Professor French, will not be given until next year.

Your car fare would pay for a nice lunch at The Boston Lunch. Why go home?
