The date of the final examination in botany has been changed from Tuesday of next week until Saturday, January 23. Some dissatisfaction has been expressed at the changing of the date, since the time for preparation for the examination is considerably shortened.

The Nebraska athletic board, at its meeting yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, transacted no important business. Reports of various committees were heard for an hour and the meeting adjourned at 6 o'clock to come together in special session Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The Patterson-Sargent company has recently presented to the university a set of five cartons of wood specimens. They are beautiful specimens of the finisher's art and are very valuable both from an artistic point of view and from that of utility as well. They will be added to the equipment of the botanical department.

A recent issue of the American Lumberman contains an article on the trip taken by University of Nebraska forestry students to the north Wisconsin woods during the Christmas vacation. The article recites the story of the trip and gives some interesting personal information concerning the lumberman who was host of the party during their outing.

The Entomological society held its regular meeting in room 303 Nebraska hall, Wednesday evening. R. W. Dawson gave a discussion of the "Blister-beetles," which afford an instance of the most complicated life-history known in insect life. The meetings of the society are open to all who are interested in the economical aspects of entomology.

The report of Chairman Walter Weiss, of the sophomore hop committee, shows that an even $75 was cleared by the second year class on their annual dance. This is the most which any class has made this year. About 120 couples attended the hop, which was held at the Lincoln hotel. It was the first $1.25 dance at the new hall at the Lincoln hotel to prove a financial success.

The senior class met yesterday in Memorial hall and transacted considerable business. The report of the place has already been taken by George Lamb, 1909, as acting curator. Mr. Weaver, 1909, will become quiz reader in botany to fill the vacancy resulting from the shifts.

Among the candidates for the barb team who are showing up prominently, is Graham, a freshman who attended Doane college last year. He has been pole vaulting close to 10 feet without exerting himself and has been clearing the bar in the high jump at five and a half feet. It is thought that he will be a valuable man on the barb team. The sprint has not brought out very many candidates yet, although there are a number of good runners in the school, who are eligible. The jumps, the high kick, the pole vault, and the shot put seem to be the most popular and to attract the largest number of candidates.

Long John Schommer may be shifted to guard in the maroon basketball team, Hubble taking his place at center.

The prom committee at Yale is trying to cut down the cost of the event so that more of the men may be able to attend.

The Sigma Nu house at Indiana caught fire last Tuesday morning, but the blaze was soon put out. The loss amounted to about fifty dollars.

Sunday classes, which were suggested for the junior medics at Minnesota so that they might get over all their semester work, have been disapproved by the university authorities. Sunday is to be retained as a day of rest.

Indiana will begin the tryouts for the varsity debating teams next Thursday, and will hold the finals February 16. Only two old men are in the squad.

An elective course in newspaper writing has been started at Smith's College in Massachusetts. This is the first course in this line of work in a women's college.

orchestra will play for the dance. Tickets will be $1.00.

Thos. B. Davis, who was a student in the law school last year, has opened a law office in Estantia, New Mexico. Besides his legal interests he has a half section of land near Estantia.

According to Chairman White of the non-com hop, the dance proved a financial success. In spite of the large crowd present, the expenses proved so heavy that no money was made on the hop.

In order to insure registration it is very important that all students be at the office at the beginning of the hour designated and have their slips fully made out so that no delays will be caused.

The meeting of the junior class committee which has charge of the arrangements for the new junior society did not meet yesterday as was scheduled, some of the members being unable to attend. Jess Clark is chairman of the committee.

It was announced yesterday by a member of the senior pin committee that the four classes had agreed to select a standard university pin. Sample designs are being considered now chairman of the social committee, Ira Bigger, was received the date of the annual senior masquerade party being set for February 6. Arrangements were made for securing space in the Cornhusker. The matter of selecting a class pin did not come up since the committee is still waiting for samples. The pin selected will be submitted to the other classes as a standard university pin.

While looking over some specimens of southern plants which had been in the university herbarium for a considerable time, Curator Peterson discovered fragments of a bond of the Confederate States of America, together with a number of coupons redeemable by that government to the amount of $30. The bond and coupons were, of course, made worthless by the collapse of the confederacy, but they are nevertheless interesting and valuable relics.

N. F. Peterson, '07, for the past year and a half curator of the university herbarium, has resigned that post to accept a position as laboratory assistant at the University of Louisiana. Last Saturday evening the members of the botanical staff were entertained in honor of Mr. Peterson at the home of Dr. Walker. Mr. Peterson will leave for the south today and his
