WILL CONDUCT TOUR

DR. LEES WILL TAKE PARTY TO EUROPE NEXT SUMMER.

TO BE EIGHTH ANNUAL TRIP

Number of People Taking Advantage of These Trips Has Been Steadily Increasing During Recent Years.

Dr. Lees has recently announced that during the vacation next summer he will take another party for a European tour. For several summers Dr. Lees has been conducting European trips and has developed a method of handling parties that has spread the reputation of his trips beyond the limits of the university, so that now a thing which originally started as a university affair has become even a state affair.

The tours were first suggested to Dr. Lees by Chancellor Canfield in 1892 as a summer school idea. The first two or three times none but young men participated, but later on the ladies began to go also. One summer the entire number were ladies. The tours are particularly intended for students, teachers and citizens of Nebraska; not that outsiders are barred, but Dr. Lees makes no effort to advertise the fact that he conducts parties outside of the state.

Number Increases.

The number taking these tours has gradually increased. In 1907 there were twenty-seven and in 1908 the number had increased to thirty-five. Already applications have begun to come in and about one-third of the reservations have been made for next summer.

There are many reasons why it is especially desirable for anyone that is contemplating a trip abroad to arrange to go with one of these conducted tours. Dr. Lees remains with the company from "port to port" and does not turn them over to some other guide when they leave America. Traveling in this way removes many of the most vexatious troubles of a a southern European port via Gibraltar and lands at New York.

The tour for 1909 will follow the St. Lawrence route, leaving June 12, and then going to Scotland, England and across to the continent. From here the party goes through France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and then to a point of particular temporary interest, Sicily, and the earthquake destroyed Messina. At each of these places a week or ten days will be spent under the guidance of Dr. Lees, who from experience is thoroughly familiar with all points of interest in this region. The journey homeward will begin about August 25, sailing from Palermo, and reaching New York early in September.

considered as being in the hands of the treasurer as soon as the appropriation is made. This leaves five per cent as an allowance for delinquent taxes. Further than this, it is provided that the state treasurer shall immediately set aside for the university the sum of $30,000 for use by the university, this being assumed to be what is still due from back taxes.

The passage of this bill will mean that the university can draw on its funds from the treasurer without waiting for the collection through the various county offices. The state school will be able to pay salaries when they fall due instead of being forced to issue vouchers payable at some time in the future when the cash shall be on hand, as is the present system.

Carnegie Bill.

The senate yesterday went into committee of the whole and considered the bill petitioning for the admittance of the university to the list of institutions benefitted by the Carnegie pension fund for college teachers. After a debate in which considerable opposition was developed on the part of a few senators, the bill passed. It will be now taken up by the senate in formal session and probably passed. I will then go to the house.

The general university appropriations will not be in the form of a special university bill. They will instead form a part of the general state appropriation bill which will be

TO GIVE TWO PLAYS

"MONSIEUR BEAUCAIRE" AND "THE AMERICAN CITIZEN"

DRAMATIC CLUB BEGINS WORK

The Monologist, Walter Tripp, Has Also Been Secured to Give a Series of Selections from "Martin Chuzzlewit."

The Dramatic club has several new plays under way which it intends to produce in the near future. "Monsieur Beaucaire" and "The American Citizen" are plays which have made a successful place for themselves on the modern stage and will furnish abundant opportunity for artistic presentation by the Dramatic club. These are perhaps the only plays which will be presented by the club this season.

Work has been begun on both plays and the various parts have been assigned. No definite time has been decided upon, however, at which the plays are to be given, but it is hoped to produce them in the near future. The members of the club are working their parts into shape and the presentation of the first play depends upon the rapidity with which the work rounds into good form. The first play to be given will be "Monsieur Beaucaire," for which considerable preparation has already been made. This to be followed some time later by "The American Citizen."

Give "Monsieur Beaucaire."

The title role of "Monsieur Beaucaire" will be taken by Mr. Guy Montgomery and that of the leading lady by Miss Francis Gould. The plot of the play is based upon the novel written by Booth Tarkington. It was this play which received such universal acceptance with Richard Mansfield taking the leading part. This will be the first appearance of "Monsieur Beaucaire" before the university public.

The other play, "The American Citizen," which will be given some time in the spring, is also under way although work on it will not be pushed vigorously until after the first production is completed. This play is also new to the university. The list of characters has not been fully decided upon, but Mr. Sam Erskine will take the leading part. This play is one in which Nat Goodwin appeared some years ago and is one of the best in which that actor has ever taken a leading part.

Monologist to Appear.

The Dramatic club also announced that they have secured Walter Bradley Tripp to appear at the Temple theater on March 9. This was done in connection with the Phi Alpha Tau fraternity, of which Mr. Tripp is a member. Mr. Tripp is a monologist of wide reputation. He is one of the charter members of the Phi Alpha Tau fraternity at Emerson college, at which school the fraternity was first organized.

Mr. Tripp has acquired a reputation for his artistic presentation of various masterpieces and is remarkable for his versatility. He has a large repertoire of selections, among which may be mentioned selections from Shakespeare, Ben Jonson, R. B. Sheridan, Charles Dickens, Bernard Shaw, Augustus Thomas, and Henry Arthur Jones. At the Temple theater he will give selections from "Martin Chuzzlewit," taking up the entire evening with the rendition of extracts from that book.

STUDENTS DISCIPLINE FELLOWS

California Honor System Works Well in Practice.

Eight men suspected of cheating during the December examinations at California were reported to the undergraduate students' affairs committee and were examined by the committee.

Three men confessed and were convicted. These men are to be required to take re-examinations and have been placed on such probation that if ever again they are detected cheating they will be indefinitely suspended from the university.

The remaining five men were exonerated.

foreign tour to one unfamiliar with the experiences. Often the pleasure of a trip is greatly marred by the inevitable worry and discomfort among a strange people, strange customs and strange language. As most people who go abroad expect to make only one trip, their time and energy should be saved for sight-seeing, and not be wasted either in planning or overcoming vexatious annoyances. Dr. Lees' success has been due to the fact that he has made it possible for Nebraska people to take a European trip without these troubles.

Route Taken.

The route planned prevents the traveler from visiting any places the second time. The party goes by the St. Lawrence route, where they enjoy the scenery for three days before they pass to the Atlantic. Seasickness seldom occurs, because of the previous trip on the river. The details of the itineraries are so carefully planned that travel with these small parties has become a science. The company ride in their own railway car, and never travel at night or on Sunday. Carriages and rooms are always engaged beforehand so that there may be no delay. This is especially desirable, because the summer travel in Europe is very extensive and without preparation the traveler may find himself very unpleasantly situated. Carriage and automobile trips are frequently taken without extra cost or waste of time. No sails are retraced, as the company sails homeward from offered by the committee of the house within a short time.

FAVORS SUMMER BASEBALL.

Brown University Takes Stand for Student Players.

Brown university has taken a stand in favor of summer baseball for the students. This is certainly a commendable move.

Why not change the rules as Brown has done, and give the poor student at least a chance to earn during vacation the money necessary for college expenses? College students are allowed to employ their skill in other and, in some cases, for less elevating pursuits, than baseball without being charged with degrading athletics.

Baseball is now so generally recognized as a vocation in which to earn a living that it can be classed with other callings of life. If the student baseball player can earn more of his college expenses in this way than in working on the farm or any of the other jobs open to him during vacation, there is no good reason why the opportunity should be denied him. It is high time that this nonsensical rule was abolished. Daily Iowan.
