SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1909.

Now that it is announced that the positions as clerks in the cadet battalion will no longer be snaps but will require real work and take the full hour it may be necessary to draft men for the positions. It is amazing how popular any line of work becomes in the university when it becomes known that it requires less time than one is given credit for. This point of view would soon prove to be the undoing of a person any place except in school.

The magnificent attendance which turned out to the vesper service yesterday afternoon was a manifestation of that real university spirit which has made the older universities of the country famous. It is to be hoped that these occasional manifestations of unified feeling and interest in the higher things of college life will become more and more frequent as the months and years go by, until the University of Nebraska will have a body of as united loyal students as any university in the land.

be handy at the time. Some competent person should be appointed to make all announcements and they should be made uniform so that they will not be an offence to the eye.

As for the infinite number of small announcements that have been encumbering the bulletin boards, they have no right there whatever. The Daily Nebraskan runs a university bulletin every day and all such announcements have all the prominence that they deserve in this column.

As for the posters which have been placed upon the fence, there ought to be some way of giving due prominence to university events without injuring the entire appearance of the campus. If those in charge of this matter would give this subject careful thought it is certain that some plan could be worked out that would be just as satisfactory to the advertisers as the one now in use and would be infinitely better for the looks of the campus.

WELL SAID.

It is a great satisfaction to see lofty ideals and noble ambitions appreciated at their true worth. It is especially gratifying when this expression of regard is about a Nebraska professor whom we all know deserves the highest praise. A recent edition of a prominent newspaper contains the following tribute to Doctor George Howard:

"It may be worth while for the people of Nebraska to stop for a moment to consider the record of Dr. Geo. E. Howard of the state university, one of the professors accused by W. J. Bryan of being swayed by 'personal interest' in advocating the of $4,500 a year on the altar of academic freedom. He was asked to make a mild and perfunctory statement that he had spoken in heat, in which case he would not only be allowed to retain his chair, but would be given an advance in salary to $5,000 a year. These overtures Dr. Howard refused. He sacrificed a position at a salary of $4,500 and came back to Nebraska at $2,000 a year because he wanted to teach where no interest could interfere in the slightest degree with his liberty of thought or his expression of what he believed to be the truth. After his retirement from Stanford he was tendered a check for $2,250, in payment of salary for the remainder of the year which he was not allowed to complete. Legally and morally he was entitled to the money, but he refused to accept it. While at Stanford university Dr. Howard spoke again and again on the dangers of aggregated wealth, and scored the California millionaires while Leland Stanford, the donor of the entire endowment of the university, sat on the platform. He has not changed his attitude in recent years or recent months, as hundreds of students who have taken his work in history and sociology are able to testify. A list of Dr. Howard's books and miscellaneous writings fills a full column of the University Journal. These have given him a wide reputation in the world of scholarship.

If you have any wants, make them known through our want ad column. It pays to advertise. Do you want to buy, sell, or trade anything? If so use a Nebraskan want ad.

THREE REQUIREMENTS FOR ALL STUDENTS

You need reliable, original and complete material for written or spoken work. You also need books and magazines. And later a summer or permanent position, which you should plan for now, before all the best openings are filled. Here is the way to get all three at a minimum of effort and expense.

We Are Dealers in Facts

We furnish the best information obtainable on any subject in school, college or club, in business and public affairs. Our work is accurate, complete and to the point, carefully typewritten, promptly supplied, and arranged in suitable form, with outlines, bibliographies and full references.

We not only have in our own force highly-trained investigators and specialists in various lines, but we have made a business of "knowing the men who know" and by means of this system of knowing "Who's Who for Efficiency" we can go straight to headquarters for authoritative information and expert advice.

Added to our large stock of information on hand and our means of obtaining authentic information, we have a highly efficient system of sifting, arranging and presenting our facts in form that exactly meets individual requirements—that would exactly meet your needs.

We are especially strong in political science, economics, sociology, anthropology, fine arts, literature, applied science, commercial geography, travel and exploration, international law and diplomacy, history, foreign affairs, interstate and foreign commerce, financial and industrial conditions, and public problems and live questions of the day.

The cost is less than might be expected. Our charges for new and original material are at the rate of two dollars for each thousand words furnished. Quality of work guaranteed, or money refunded. Methods, references and quotations on important investigations furnished upon request. (We have thousands of articles on hand which we offer, subject to prior sale, at $1.50 per thousand words. Send for price list.)

A Desirable Position for You

If you are wise, you are already planning about a summer or permanent position or about an opening in the professions or independent business. To introduce our service to you, we will give you advice, information and real assistance along these lines without charge (from now up to the time you secure a desirable position) if you send us a five dollar order for information.—i. e., 2,500 words or over at $2 per thousand.

In our official capacity, we come in touch with boards of trade, chambers of commerce and other local and general organizations of employers, as well as large corporations and other concerns, educational and other institutions, and municipal, state and other governmental departments. We are thus in a position to know of positions of all kinds everywhere as well as opportunities for starting out in independent business or professional lines.

No red tape, no commissions, no strings are attached to this offer. It is free and unconditional. This information we gain about positions is simply a valuable by-product of our regular information business, and we use it to attract, help and thus hold customers. We do for you all that any regular employment agency can do, with this important difference—we ask you to sign no involved contracts, pay no fees or commissions, and incur no other obligations.

Books and Magazines Free

As a further inducement, with every five dollar order for information we will give free, in addition to the employment privilege, any book or a year of any magazine you specify, the publishers' price of which is not over one dollar. With a ten dollar order for information, we will give $2 worth of books or magazines; with a $15 order, $3 worth; with a $20 order, $4 worth; with a $25 order, $5 worth; and so on. Two or more men may club together with several subjects to make such an order and divide the privileges among them.

How to Order

Just think up one or more subjects on which you need material. Estimate the number of words required. Enclose two dollars for each thousand words desired, give us exact directions as to what you want and when you want it, and if the order is for five dollars or over, name the books or magazines you wish and tell us about the position you would like and your qualifications for it. We will do the rest. Address at once:

THE ADVERTISING NUISANCE.

The University of Nebraska is just now suffering from what might be termed the advertising nuisance. The iron fence which surrounds the campus is hung with unsightly cloth banners, bulletin boards meet our eyes which ever way we turn on the campus, and even the halls of the buildings themselves are not sacred from the ravages of the publicity seekers. The time has most certainly come when a halt should be called. It is not necessary that the whole appearance of the university should be injured, that legitimate university events should be properly advertised.

At the present time a multitude of unimportant events are advertised widely on the bulletin boards and take a great deal of space that it is absolutely unnecessary should be given them. That notices of such things as committee meetings should have a large poster devoted to them on important bulletin boards is an offense not only against the aesthetic taste of the students but an insult to their intelligence as well.

There are certain important things that deserve to have mention upon a prominent bulletin board but these announcements should not be permitted to go up in any sort of shape and on any kind of paper that happens to acceptance of the Carnegie pension fund.

"Dr. Howard was one of the self-supporting students who were almost in a majority in the University of Nebraska twenty-five and thirty years ago. He graduated in 1876, studied abroad, and returned to become the founder of the department of history in his alma mater. The strength of his work was so great that when he left in 1891 to accept a call from Stanford university, his department was giving about one-fifth of all the instruction offered by the university. He was recognized as independent and radical in his political beliefs, but students of all grades of politics received inspiration from his work without seeing or feeling that he ever deviated a hair's breadth from the scientific attitude toward all public questions.

"In California he also founded a department of history and for more than ten years conducted it with splendid results. When Professor Ross was removed from the Stanford faculty, Professor Howard publicly denounced it as the truckling of the Stanford administration to the California millionaires. He felt that a great outrage had been committed and voluntarily placed his own salary
