DEDICATION DECIDED

"CORNHUSKER" STAFF CASTS A UNANIMOUS BALLOT.

CONDRA GETS "ANNUAL" HONORS

COMES AS COMPLETE SURPRISE TO PROFESSOR.

Year Book is a Combination of "The Sombbrero," "The Senior Book" and the Law Annual, Made Three Years Ago.

The dedication of this year's "Cornhusker" will go to Dr. George Everett Condra of the department of geology. This announcement was made late last evening by the editor-in-chief after the last vote had been turned in and canvassed. The vote was unanimous.

The honor which is conferred upon Dr. Condra is given in appreciation of his endeavors to promote and encourage the Nebraska spirit. Dr. Condra has taken a keen interest in university affairs, he has proven a friend to the student body and has been prominent in the interest of cleaner athletics. That the students in general appreciate his efforts in behalf of the school is shown by the fact that he was unanimously chosen by the largest staff any "Cornhusker" has ever had, and a staff drawn from all the departments of the university.

Is Widely Known.

Dr. Condra is one of the widest known professors in Nebraska. He has covered almost every foot of it in the interest of his department, and his friends may be found everywhere. He is a member of the Sigma Xi fraternity and has been at Nebraska for the past twelve years, during which time his popularity has steadily increased. He is the youngest man the "Cornhusker" has even been dedicated to.

The dedication came as a great surprise to everyone who heard of it last evening, and it came as most of a surprise to Dr. Condra. When notified at his house by the editor-in-chief, Mr. Robertson, that he had received the dedication, he was at first overwhelmed by the idea. "It came as such a complete surprise," said Mr. Robertson, "that at first he could scarcely do more than shake my hand."

Book's Third Year.

This is the third year of the "Cornhusker's" existence, as it is known today. Previous to that time there were three publications of that nature in the school. One, "The Sombbrero," was published every two years by the junior class; another, "The Senior Book," was published annually by the senior class. Besides these, the law school also published an annual. Three years ago "The Sombbrero" was combined with "The Senior Book" to make what has been known as the "Cornhusker," and last year the law school abandoned their annual and joined with the juniors and seniors.

It may be interesting to note to whom the various publications and the "Cornhusker" have been dedicated in the past. A list of the "Sombbrero" dedications follows: 1895 to Ella Smith, 1898 to Chancellor MacLean, 1900 to Regent Morrill, 1902 to Chancellor Andrews, 1904 to the football team, 1906 to Professor Richards. The senior book was dedicated in 1898 to the men of '98 enlisted in the Spanish-American war, 1899 to Professor Edgren, 1900 to Colonel Stotsenburg, 1901 to Professor Edgren, 1902 to Professor Caldwell, 1903 to Professor Lees, 1904 to Professor Barber, 1905 to Professor Fossler, 1906 to the "co-eds." The book in its present form was dedicated in 1907 to Dean Bessey and in 1908 to Dean Sherman.

NEW MEDICAL EXAMINATION

New State Requirements Call for Two Examinations.

Hereafter students in the college of medicine who intend to practice in the state of Nebraska must pass two examinations instead of one, as heretofore. Dean Ward received the new requirements on Wednesday when in conference with the secretary of the state board of health. He has sent detailed information with regard to the new examination to the associate dean and the medical students at Omaha.

Heretofore the state medical examination has been given at the close of the entire course of study in the college of medicine. Under the new system one examination will be given at the end of the second year's work, and another upon the completion of the entire course. It is hoped that in this way the hard work incident to the state examinations may be divided and may not come at a single time.

The new examination will cover four subjects. Some of these will be laboratory subjects, and many practical tests will be given. As this will require the use of a laboratory, the university has offered to allow its laboratories to be used in the tests.

HAVE SECURED MONOLOGUIST

Dramatic Club to Present Another Attraction Tuesday.

The Dramatic club has secured Walter Bradley Tripp, the well known monologist, to appear at the Temple theater next Tuesday. Mr. Tripp will give selections from "Martin Chuzzlewit." These selections will cover a great part of the book, as they will occupy the entire evening.

Mr. Tripp comes in connection with both the Dramatic Club and the Phi Alpha Tau fraternity of which he is a charter member at Emerson college. This college was the one at which the fraternity was organized.

The Dramatic Club says that they are endeavoring to place their productions within the reach of all and so are making the price 25 cents. When interviewed, Miss Howell said that this policy would be discontinued if the crowd failed to warrant the lowering of the price of admission. She said that, in the case of Mr. Tripp, that in few places could he be heard for less than $1.00.

DEAN WARD RECEIVES A GIFT

Unknown Human Parasites are Sent From Shanghai, China.

The medical school has just been made a very valuable present. The mission hospital of Shanghai, China, have presented Dean Ward with a collection of human parasites. The value of the collection is enhanced by the fact that two of the specimens contained in it are entirely new. They were hitherto unknown varieties. The collection comes at an opportune moment as it will be of inestimable aid as material for a paper which he is preparing of this subject.

MAKE A HARD FIGHT

CORNHUSKER FIVE LOSES FIRST GAME TO KANSAS, 28 TO 22.

JAYHAWKERS SCORE SIX FOULS

Ten Penalties Charged to Nebraska and Opposing Team Profits by Them—Fair Crowd Attends Contest.

The Nebraska basketball five sprung a surprise on Kansas at Kansas City, Kans., last night and nearly won the opening game of the championship series, losing out by a margin of but six points. The first half stood 16 to 12 in favor of Kansas.

Ten fouls were called upon the cornhuskers and their opponents profited by these, converting six of them into goals, the number that constituted their margin of victory over Nebraska.

Captain Walsh played a brilliant game for the cornhuskers. Johnson was the star player for the jayhawkers. The second game of the series will be played this evening.

Agree on Date.

Nebraska and Ames have come to an agreement on a date for their annual football game next fall and will meet in Ames on November 13, the date which Manager Eager held out for and which the aggie management for a while declined to accept.

Ames wanted to play the cornhuskers on November 6, for they had a game with Iowa scheduled for a week later. Nebraska, however, has a contest booked with Kansas for the 6th and could not be released from playing on that date with the jayhawkers. The aggies had no other open date on the schedule on which the two teams could get together, so it was imperative that they shift their Iowa contest to November 6.

When the Iowa authorities learned of the differences between their two sister institutions they at once intervened for the sake of harmony and offered to meet Ames on November 6 so that the cornhuskers could have the Saturday a week later with the aggies.

With Iowa taking such a position it would have been folly for Ames to have held out longer for another date than November 13, and yesterday morning in a conversation with Professor Ryers of Ames over the long distance telephone Manager Eager secured the consent of the aggie manager to play on November 13.

The game next fall will take place in Ames because of the two year contract which the two schools have for an annual game. Last fall, the first season of the contract, the aggies were under agreement to come to Lincoln. The game was transferred to Omaha, however, at the request of the cornhusker management. Next season it will be Nebraska's turn to journey to Ames, and unless the aggies consent to another change in the place for the contest Omaha will be denied the treat of seeing Ames and Nebraska this year. Nebraska is willing to play in Omaha and would like to have the game pulled off in that city. It is not likely, though, that the Ames management will consent to transferring the game from their town to Omaha, for it is the only big game they have scheduled for home, and their students would hardly stand for taking it away.

The scheduling of the Ames game closes up deals for two big games for the cornhuskers next fall. The other game that has been arranged is the annual fray with Kansas, which is to be held in Lincoln, November 6, the week before the meeting with Ames. These two schools are met on succeeding Saturdays next season, just as they were last year. Last fall Ames was played first and Kansas second; next season Kansas will come first and Ames will follow a week later.

Point for Kansas.

This agreement will give the cornhuskers an excellent chance to be in fine shape for Kansas, the team that the local students want to defeat more than any other next fall. Nebraska's defeat at the hands of the jayhawkers last season was attributed to the staleness which followed the playing of the Ames game in Omaha. That meeting with the aggies had been looked upon as the big game of the year and the cornhuskers were pointed for it. After winning out against the aggies they took a slump which made them easy prey for Kansas a week later.

Next fall the big game on the next schedule will be the clash with Kansas. To the winning of that contest all the efforts of the eleven will be directed. The students now feel that the defeat of last season must be avenged and they do not care what teams the cornhuskers allow to defeat them just so long as they trounce the jayhawkers. Ames, a week after Kansas is played, is not the most important contest for next fall; Kansas must be defeated first. Then Ames will receive consideration. The students say, "Better be stale for Ames than to lose to Kansas. Let the cornhuskers point to the winning of the Kansas game. Then if that is accomplished and staleness attacks the men and Ames wins we will not feel so very sore about it. But by all means Kansas must be defeated."

CONSTRUCTING TWO RATTLERS

Work in Shops Progressing on Brick-Testing Machinery.

Two brick rattlers designed in the department of machine designs are being completed in the machine shop. The rattlers are of standard design, of the type approved for the testing of paving brick and the patterns, castings and all of the detail work is being done in the university shops.

The rattlers possess many points of superiority over the machines regularly for sale, and when completed will give the university very complete apparatus for the testing of paving brick. A machine of very inferior design would cost at the lowest estimate $250, while the cost of the material for these machines comes to about $40 each. This type of rattler is the one required by the various cities in their ordinances to provide for testing paving brick, and the city of Lincoln has in the past been in the habit of using the university's facilities for the testing of its paving material.

CHINAMAN IN PHI BETA KAPPA.

Cornell Chapter Elects Tonfu Hu to Honorary Society.

Tonfu Hu of Wu Cheng Sien, China, was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity at Cornell this week. This is the first time that a Chinaman has ever been elected to the highest honorary society at Cornell.

GIRLS' ANNUAL ROMP

INTER-CLASS BASKET-BALL MEET YESTERDAY.

SOPHOMORES WIN GLASS GAMES

SENIORS BEAT JUNIORS BUT SECOND YEAR GIRLS BEST.

Parade of Class Societies One of Features of the Meet of Co-eds in University Gymnasium Yesterday Afternoon.

The sophomore girls' basketball team won the annual inter-class meet in the university gymnasium yesterday afternoon. In the preliminaries the seniors won from the juniors and the sophomores beat the freshmen. The final game resulted in a score of 10 to 6 for the sophomore girls.

Full of the ridiculous and yet with a strong undercurrent of excited competition beneath all the fun, the girls' annual tournament was exceedingly entertaining to those attending. From start to finish there was something doing all the time. Unique stunts were tried in the parade which preceded the games and the contests themselves were full of excitement.

Societies Parade.

Fully as entertaining as in the past, the parade of the class societies led off the program. The procession was headed by the Xi Deltas of the sophomore class disguised in the natty uniforms of the university cadet band. The senior Black Masques followed, carrying as their mascot a handsome black Angora cat and with brooms as a further insignia of their order.

Following the Black Masques came the ghostly forms of the Silver Serpents bearing a long green snake. The Xi Delta mascot, a small Ethiopian, rode in state in a chariot of blue and gray. The freshmen dragged an unwilling pig in hopes that it would be a good luck omen for their class.

Games Hotly Contested.

The first game played was between the seniors and the juniors. It was hotly contested and was anybody's game until the last goal was thrown. In the first half the juniors were badly outclassed. They came back strong in the second half, but the early lead could not be overcome. The score finally stood 12 to 11 in the seniors' favor. For the seniors, Isabelle Wolfe, the captain, played a star game. The guarding of Marlon Horton was the cause of much applause. The playing of the juniors was uniformly good.

The freshman-sophomore game was faster than the first contest and for the most part close. The freshmen were especially strong in the work of their captain, Janet Stephenson. Louise Barr at center was also responsible for some good work. The goal throwing of Hattie Rollings and the clever passing of the rest of the team was too much for the freshmen combination, however, and the score was finally 11 to 8 for the sophomores.

The final game between the seniors and the sophomores threatened to be a walk away for the latter, the score at the end of the first half being 6 to 0 in their favor. In the second half two field and two free goals brought the senior score up to 6, making the final score 10 to 6.

The Cat Did It.

One of the spectacular features of the meet occurred when the black cat of the seniors stuck out its tongue at the green snake of the juniors in spiteful challenge. The cat was at once captured by the Silver Serpents. This was something the Black Masques could not permit and they descended in a body, at length recovering their cat and incidentally covering the floor with sawdust spilled ignominiously from the torn body of the sacred snake.
