The Majestic.

La Veen, Cross & Company in "Roman Sports and Pastimes" head an extraordinarily good bill at the Majestic this week. La Veen is the star performer of this act, the scenes of which are beautifully staged with Olympian settings. He is a strong man with fine muscular development and does some astonishing feats.

William Sullivan and Clarice Pasquelena & Company in a comedy sketch called "A C. O. D. Package," put on a novelty act that made a hit on its initial presentation. These are three scenes in the act—the stage door, inside the stage door, and on the stage. The female partner in the sketch is a vaudeville star.

Fred Gray and Nellie Graham, in "The Musical Bellboy and the Military Maid," created many laughs last night. They play several musical instruments in a manner deserving of encores. In addition Gray is a comedian who is funny.

"Those Be Gar Sisters," billed as "European Whirlwind Dancers," promise to be a big attraction this week. They pleased last night's audience.

Eveleen Dunmore, late prima donna of "Coming Thro' the Rye" company, has a good voice and is pretty. One of her songs is a joy.

Arthur Young and company, in a one-act sketch, and Vernon, ventriloquist, both were very well received last evening. The former is an exceptionally strong act with the violin play of Young as a feature. Vernon is the best in his line, by far, that has visited Lincoln in several seasons.

tion of the state was held at Central City March 26-28. The purpose of the conference was the discussion of Y. M. C. A. work in colleges. Several Nebraska men were in attendance, Dean Fordyce, J. L. Der Kindern and S. A. Mahood, 1910, being among those present. Dean Fordyce gave two addresses, one on Saturday on "The Means of Approaching New Students" and one Sunday on "The Adaptability of Work to the Student." Mr. Der Kindern and Mr. Mahood also took an active part in the conference.
