ARE NOT TOO DRESSY
NEBRASKA GIRLS KEEP WITHIN DISCREET BOUNDS.
THEY ARE "BUSINESS WOMEN"
SOME OVERDRESS AT FIRST, BUT SOON CHANGE.

Criticism of Missouri Advisor of Women as to Characteristics of College Girls is Held Not True at Lincoln School.

That Nebraska college girls are not liable to the criticism recently passed by the advisor of women of the University of Missouri on the girls of that institution is the opinion of Mrs. Barkley, who has the Nebraska university girls in direct charge. The Missouri advisor holds that the girls of the Tiger school dress much too elaborately. She deprecates the use of jewelry, rats and rouge.

Whatever may be the conditions at Missouri which warrant the girls' advisor in her views, Mrs. Barkley is sure that the opinion would not hold at Nebraska.

"There are, of course, some girls," says Mrs. Barkley, "who come to school with exaggerated ideas of the importance of their dress on the campus. But they soon get over it. The Nebraska college girl is not overdressed. She does not wear an excessive amount of jewelry. She soon comes to understand that in college she is a business woman. That is what our girls are. They are business women and they recognize the fact in their dress."

Too Much Gaudiness.
The criticism of the Missouri advisor came as the result of a statement made by a professor of the University of Michigan while visiting the Missouri college. According to this gentleman, the women at Missouri are better dressed and prettier than those at Michigan.

"Missouri does produce handsome women," acknowledges the girls' advisor. "The girls do dress well, too well, I think, for their school duties. Many wear too much jewelry. That is the chief criticism I would make on the dress of the women here."

"Personally I try to dress in good taste, but I do not pose as a model for university women. I do avoid dress that might seem extravagant in some of the girls, as I much desire to see them dress within their means. I try to dress without attracting attention to any marked degree, and I would say that as a whole, the women in the university use good judgment in the selection and wearing of their clothing."

The Protecting Rat.
"The sweater habit is not confined to Missouri. It is current all over the country. The same is true of 'rats' in the hair. Going bareheaded is a good custom and is both healthful and economical. There is no danger for a girl to go without her hat. It may be different with a man who has only his own hair to protect him, but with 'rats' and other persons' hair as a protection, the girl is safe. It is a great saving in the expense of buying hats. One dress hat a season will serve the girl who goes to school bareheaded."

SOCIETY GIVES A MINSTREL
Largest Crowd of the Year Witness the Performance.

The Union Literary society gave a minstrel in their hall in the Temple last night. A large crowd witnessed the entertainment, over 160 people being present, which is the largest attendance of any meeting held this year. The Palladian Literary society dismissed their regular meeting to enable their members to attend.

The minstrel was divided into two parts, the first of which was opened by a bass solo by L. A. Barnes, impersonating "Toby Tillman," and the chorus of sixteen. This was followed by the marriage of "Rufus" and "Caroline," with Miss Dova Kidd as "Caroline," A. Amberson as "Rufus" and A. G. Dobbins as the parson.

Josephine Rollings and Margaret Coleman scored a decided success as "Topsy" and "Turvy" in a cake walk and barn dance specialty. This was followed by a solo, "Liza," by Miss Bernice Chambers and Cleopatra Sullivan, and a reading, "The Pathy," by "Impercunious Davis" in the person of G. G. Gilbert. Selections by the quartet, Miss Bernice Chambers, Miss Anna Driftmiller, G. F. Gilbert and L. A. Barnes, closed the first part.

A violin solo by Cleopatra Sullivan and a Southern medley by the chorus, including the old plantation songs and another cake walk by "Topsy and Turvy," completed the entertainment. The program was interspersed with jokes by "Rufus" and "Rastus" as end men. The minstrel was coached by Miss Stell Hardy and the music furnished by Miss Bessie F. Chambers.

LIST OF FAVORED HIGH SCHOOLS

North Central Association Sends Out Bulletin.

According to a bulletin of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, there have been a number of changes in the list of schools accredited by the organization. In Nebraska several have been added to the list and two have been dropped. The association maintains a fixed standard for study courses and for teachers employed in the schools admitted to its recognition. By this means it seeks to standardize the requirements for graduation of the schools of the central west and to raise the standard to the point where graduates may be admitted to any of the colleges of the section.

Following is the revised list of the Nebraska schools on the accredited list: Beatrice, Blair, Brownell Hall (Omaha), Falls City, Fairbury, Fremont, Hastings, Hastings Academy, Holdrege, Kearney, Lincoln, Lincoln Academy, Nebraska City, Nebraska Military Academy, Nebraska Wesleyan Academy, Norfolk, North Platte, Omaha, Pawnee City, Seward, South Omaha, Superior, Tecumseh and York.

UNIVERSITY STUDENT SELFISH

Egoism Necessary to Success of College Scholar.

"The university student body is the most selfish body that I know of," said Professor F. A. Stuff in addressing an English literature class yesterday afternoon.

"You are the most selfish people on the face of the earth. You are so because you must be so. Egoism is an absolute essential of the successful scholar. Every one of us, if we are to be successful as students, must be bound up in the betterment of ourselves. We do not mix with others. I believe that this selfishness is necessary and I think it the right thing for the student. The trouble lies in that it is often prolonged beyond the four, six or seven years spent in educating self. It is essential to the student but not to the man in life. When it is extended beyond the student days it becomes an evil."

The junior class gave an informal dance at Fraternity hall last evening. A fair sized crowd was in attendance. The music for the dance was furnished by Thornburg's orchestra.

At The Play Houses

The Majestic.
Billy Van, famous the country over as the best minstrel man "in the business," is at the Majestic this week. He has lost none of the funny sayings and characteristic mannerisms that have made him the king of vaudeville black faced artists, and he has kept every audience that has heard him this week in an uproar for twenty minutes.

One of the best one-act sketches of the season is an offering by Harry Truesdell & Company entitled "Two Men and a Bottle." A humorous situation is developed in this act which is made exceedingly funny by the acting of Truesdell.

The Thompson sisters come in for a great share of applause at each performance. They are clever dancers, the smaller of the two being particularly agile and attractive.

The Kohler operatic trio of male singers form an entertaining number for even the most fastidious. Their singing is rich in tone.

Other numbers on the program are Hill and Silviny in a sensational unicycle act; Clivette, the man in black, and the Rosairies, European novelty entertainers.

present almost all the schools of the state have some courses, such as grammar and lower arithmetic, which do not count as entrance credits in the university standards. These courses will either have to be raised or others of higher standard substituted if the school is not to be dropped from the accredited list. Undoubtedly some schools will be forced from their present place on the file because of their inability to accomplish this.
