NOT MONEY SPENDERS
THE STUDENTS AT KANSAS EARN THEIR LIVING.
DO ALL KINDS OF HARD WORK
BEST DRESSED MEN OFTEN PAY THEIR OWN EXPENSES.
Chancellor Strong Declares That It Is Not a Social Disadvantage to Have to Work While Going to School.

That the western college man is not one given to ease and with a deep dislike of anything known as work has recently been shown by statistics that have been gathered at the University of Kansas. The statistics show that a large share of the students at that institution earn in some degree at least the money required to put them through school, and that they do all kinds of work from waiting on tables to tending to furnaces.

Some time ago Chancellor Strong made an inquiry to every student in the university of Kansas to determine the extent of self support among the students, and the replies show that in round numbers those students are spending yearly $300,000 that they have earned to help pay for an education.

Work in the Summer.
A very large percentage earn their money in the summer and do very little work while in the university, but about 300 of the men earn a good share of their living while in school. Nearly 200 young men have earned their money on the farm in the summer time, while 100 or more have been employed as clerks, an equal number as laborers in mechanical trades, and another 100 designated their employment as "common labor," with no frills at all. Among the remainder of the boys who are making their way are teachers, engineers, telegraph operators, stenographers, railroad employees, printers and agents.

Waiting tables, working in stores and offices down town and running boarding clubs keep many students in school. One cannot stand in the halls and pick the workers from the drones with any degree of certainty. Half the men who wear cuffs on their trousers, and in many cases the wearer borrows a flat iron from the kitchen and creases the befeuced creations in the basement of his rooming house.

No Social Disadvantage.
"One thing that gratified me very much in the answers that I received was that only eight or ten of the self-supporting students say that they are at any disadvantage socially," said Chancellor Strong. "I know that in every one of the fraternities there are men who are working their way. As the number who answered the question as to social disadvantages in the affirmative is so small, I believe it may be imagination in those cases."

SARGENT ADDRESSES ENGINEERS.

University Man Who Has Made Good Talks of Cuba.

J. A. Sargent, 1903, addressed the Engineers' Club last evening. Mr. Sargent, although receiving his degree in 1903, really left the university in 1899, just before the close of his senior year. He went to Cuba and for the past nine years he has been engaged in government and railroad work in the West Indies. In that time he has acquired a lot of valuable experience and some little reputation as a successful engineer. He was in charge of the work on which most of the Nebraska graduating engineers who went to Cuba have been employed.

Mr. Sargent came to New York City on the resumption of an independent government by the Cubans several months ago. He is now visiting relatives and friends in Lincoln and will return east within a few days.

Mr. Sargent's address last evening was on Cuban affairs. He told some of his experiences on the island and his impressions of the country and people.

J. A. BRILL MEMORIAL MEDAL

Prizes Are Offered Senior Electrical Engineers.

Notice was posted yesterday in the electrical engineering department of the John A. Brill memorial medal and prize to be given by the J. G. Brill company of Philadelphia for the best essay on the subject, "Design of an Electric Railway Car for City Service." Three prizes, of $250, $150 and $100, are to be awarded. The contest will close June 15, 1909. The offer is open to all senior students of the technical schools of the United States. A gold medal in honor of Mr. J. A. Brill, former vice-president of the company, will accompany the first prize.

In the fall of 1908 the company made a similar offer and they report that remarkable interest was awakened among the students and that there is every evidence of a large number of essays being submitted this spring. The contest is designed largely to draw more young men into electric railway work. The American Street and Interurban Railway association has manifested its interest in the contest by authorizing the president of the association to appoint one of its members on the jury of awards.

It is the present intention of the J. G. Brill company to offer annually prizes for essays of merit by senior students of the technical schools of the United States on subjects connected with electric railway work. Mr. Brill was a man of mechanical genius and business ability in the electric railway field. In 1904 the Franklin Institute awarded him the John Scott legacy premium and medal for meritorious inventions in cars and the American Street and Interurban Railway association at the annual convention in the October following Mr. Brill's death in March, 1908, adopted resolutions acknowledging his service to the street railway business and expressing sorrow for his loss.

It is to commemorate his memory and to serve as an inspiration to those upon whom the future development of electric railways depend that the medal will be given.

The Minnesota athletic treasurer has a balance on hand of $27,000. The money is to be used in putting steel and concrete grandstands on the athletic field, and in making other improvements. Basketball is now self-supporting at that institution.
