A MAN DEEPLY LOVED

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE TO HONOR EX-CHANCELLOR CANFIELD.

ASSOCIATES RECALL MEMORIES

PROFESSORS FLING AND CALDWELL SPEAK.

All Declare That Nebraska's Standing Was Made Possible by His Earnest Work and Many Struggles.

One of the most impressive gatherings of the year was that which met in Memorial hall yesterday morning to honor the memory of ex-Chancellor Canfield. With a full musical program and three prominent speakers, Professors Caldwell and Fling and Mr. Victor Rosewater of Omaha, the service was one long to be remembered by those who attended. Acting Chancellor Avery presided and delivered a short prayer at the opening of the meeting.

Professor Caldwell was the first speaker and told of his personal relations with Chancellor Canfield. He spoke in part as follows:

"I do not wish to treat of Chancellor Canfield in the cold, historical spirit; rather I desire to speak of him as one of the very few men who have won my love as well as my respect. To me he is ever the true and faithful, the friend who never deserted, the man ever ready to encourage, to urge forward to more earnest endeavor.

Dynamo of Energy.

"How I wish I had the power to paint him for you who never knew him, so that you might understand the hold that he had and has on some of us. Chancellor Canfield was a perfect dynamo of energy. Quick in movement, active in mind, he was planning and doing with a rapidity that fairly took your breath. His stocky frame carried a heart that was as big and full as the body that encased it. He never forgot a friend; nor did he neglect the little courtesies of life that so few of us remember. There was nothing morose or sour in his make-up.

"This man inspired many; for one, I can say that my life has been better from contact with a man so pure and helpful. If I have been able to aid in the least in carrying forward the torch of learning and in inspiring any student to higher thinking, and more devotion to his work in life, a part of it at least may be credited to this man whose life and deeds mean so much to us, and whose death we commemorate in this service."

A Man of Action.

Dr. Fling spoke informally of Chancellor Canfield, telling of his early life and of his work after he left Nebraska. He emphasized the fact that he was a man of action and that with him to see was to do. He spoke in part as follows:

"Chancellor Canfield was an Eastern man, although born in Ohio. He received his education in the schools of the East. His early life was spent in diverse occupations but he was ultimately called from other work to become a teacher of history and economics in the Kansas Agricultural school. How did he prepare for this work? He had a broad foundation to start with. He became a railroad man, later a lawyer. When he was called to be a superintendent of schools in Michigan and from there he was called to Kansas to take up the work in history and economics. This was at a time before the Western colleges had begun to have the organization which they have now. He may not have been prepared to teach history but he was an inspiring leader, a good speaker, an organizer of the best kind. All his life before was really a preparation for his work there and he knew what such an institution should be.

"As I came up here this morning I was thinking how soon a man and his work are forgotten. The students today did not seem to know that we were to meet here. However, Chancellor Canfield understood this trait of character and I do not suppose he would be surprised at the small number who have turned out. He was a strong executive, invaluable in a great library. Everywhere those who knew him appreciated him. He did his work because he loved it and it will live on. He was a man we might call an ideal type."

Great in Any Size.

Hon. Victor Rosewater, a former regent of the university, said in part: "We can only measure the greatness of the man and the value of his work when he is taken from us. Had he followed the footsteps of his father he would have been a great preacher. Had he remained a railroad man he would have become a great railway captain. Had he remained in the profession of law he would have been a great lawyer, but his work led him to become a great teacher and a great librarian. When a member of the board of regents shortly after he left Nebraska we often called on him for suggestions and advice. As the librarian of Columbia university, my alma mater, I have kept in close touch with him. There are innumerable instances that I could tell of the greatness of the man and his humanity. Nebraska always was a green spot in his memory, and 'delightful beyond words of expression.'"

Resolution of Regents.

In honor of Dr. Canfield the following appreciation was adopted by the board of regents and read at the service yesterday morning by Regent Whitmore:

"It was the mission of Chancellor Canfield, in Nebraska, to solve the problem of its belated higher education. Never was man confronted with

WAIT FOR MISSOURI

CORNHUSKER BASEBALL MEN HOPE TO WIN TWICE.

GOSSIP OF HIGH SCHOOL MEET

BRONZE AND SILVER MEDALS TO BE AWARDED WINNERS.

Dr. Clapp and His Force Are Getting Things Ready to Entertain the Young People on May 4th.

The Nebraska baseball team is anxiously awaiting the coming games with Missouri on Monday and Tuesday. At Columbia during the recent trip of the cornhuskers two games were played with the "show-me" men and the scarlet and cream players bagged the first one, which was the championship contest. Next week, when the Missouri nine comes to Lincoln, the cornhuskers figure not only on taking the other championship contest but in winning the fourth game also and thus making it three out of four from the southerners.

As at all previous games, student tickets will admit to the games on Tuesday and Wednesday. The expense of bringing the Missourians to Lincoln is great and Manager Eager hopes to get out a large crowd for both games so that the cornhuskers will not lose any money. He says that every dollar saved the athletic board this spring means just another dollar for fitting up the new athletic field next fall.

Getting Things Ready.

Dr. Clapp is preparing directions for the inter-scholastic meet to be held at the state fair grounds on May 14.

The board of control is endeavoring to make the 1909 meet even better than last year's. The meet occurs on the university high school fete day.

The association is offering special inducements to contestants this year, the same as last year. Winners of first place will be given silver medals, winners of second places, bronze medals, while third place men will receive the usual badge. The winning relay team will be given a handsome pennant. Besides these is the Miller & Paine banner, which goes to the winning team and becomes the permanent property of the school winning three times in succession.

The entire net receipts of the meet will be prorated according to distance and number of men on teams, as heretofore, except as provided in the following action, taken by the board of control at its meeting held February 2, 1908: "That the money from gate receipts, after the expenses for medals and incidentals are deducted, shall be prorated to the teams from the different schools as follows: All schools less than 100 miles from Lincoln, on the number of men up to the limit placed by the constitution (10) and according to distance traveled; schools from 100 to 150 miles on one-half the number; and over 150 miles on one-fifth the number, placed by the constitution and according to distance traveled."

Must Fill Entry List.

Each team on arriving at the university, prior to the meet, must file with the secretary or Dr. Clapp a certified list of those who will participate in the meet, together with the distance traveled. This will be necessary in order to secure expense money at the close of the meet.

No individual entrance fee is required. Schools contesting are expected to join the interscholastic association and pay the membership fee of fifty cents a year. All entries of contestants are to be sent to Dr. R. G. Clapp, University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

ALL DISCUSS IVY DAY

CLASS MET LAST EVENING TO LEVY ASSESSMENT.

PROGRAM BETTER THAN LAST

A Three-act Play Given by Dramatic Club Is to Take the Place of the Class Programs in the Evening.

All of the under-classes held meetings last evening to vote assessments and transact business with reference to the Ivy Day program, which is to be given on May 5.

The assessment, which was voted by the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes, are twenty-five cents. This assessment is slightly higher than that of last year, the change being made because of the intention to furnish a better lunch than that of last year. Besides this, the various classes appointed committees to take charge of the athletics for that day, the committees announced being: From the junior class—Mr. Frum, Mr. Long and Mr. Baumann, and from the freshman class, Mr. Neff, Mr. Neumann and Mr. Bates. The sophomore committee will be announced later.

The senior auditing committee also met last evening and apportioned the members of the class to the men of the various committees. This means that active work will immediately commence in collecting the levy of twenty-five cents. Each person paying this assessment will receive a ticket entitling him to lunch at the state farm on Ivy Day. In connection with this assessment, one will also be levied upon the class for the commemoration gift to be presented to the university by the class of 1909.

To Be Improved.

The new Ivy Day, of which the first was held last year, including the morning program on the campus, the athletic meet at the state farm in the afternoon, luncheon, and the evening program at the farm, will be improved in many respects this year. To make this day a permanent event at Nebraska and one which will in time become a tradition of the school is the aim of those in charge of the work. To do this several improvements have been made in the evening program, it being charged that that of last year was a little too light and frivolous. Instead of the several class programs the Dramatic club has consented to put on a good three-act play. This will give more solidity and dignity to that part of the entertainment. The university band will also give a concert immediately after supper.

The morning program will resemble in detail that of last year to a great extent. The university chorus will furnish music; the class song will be sung; the class poem will be read; the class oration delivered; and the presentation of the commemoration gift will be made. Besides this, the May pole dance with its attendant scramble for souvenirs will be a part of the morning program.

In the afternoon the inter-class field meet will be held. This will include the usual field "stunts." To the winners in each event gold, silver, and bronze medals will be given for first, second and third places respectively.

COMPANY "H" WINS "COMPET"

Individual Drill at State Farm Won by C. B. Bull and R. D. Rounds.

Company H won the annual competitive drill of the second battalion, which is the cadet battalion composed of students at the state school of agriculture. The competitive drill was held Thursday morning, but no information regarding results was announced until yesterday. Following the company competitive drill an individual competitive drill was held, in which C. B. Bull, 1910, corporal Company G, won first place and R. D. Rounds, 1910, company H, second. The scores of the companies were as follows: H, 97.767; F, 94.974; G, 92.492; E, 89.763. The judges of the drill were the cadet companies and the major of the first battalion.
