NEW NEBRASKA FIELD IS DEDICATED TODAY

NEBRASKA-IOWA GAME IS FIRST CONTEST ON GRIDIRON.

HARD GAME PROPHECY OF CRITICS

Iowa Men Delayed in Arrival Till After Midnight, But Reports Indicate Bear Stories Were Exaggerated.

Nebraska meets Iowa in the annual football game on Nebraska field this afternoon, and the chances are that the game will be a battle-royal. Iowa is going to fight hard for the game. A victory over Nebraska this afternoon would put the defenders of the "Old Gold" in the running again and give them a chance for the Missouri Valley championship.

Meanwhile Nebraska must not be idle. Much depends on the game this afternoon, almost as much as depended on the Minnesota game of a week ago. So far this week the Cornhuskers have manifested a spirit of indifference towards the Iowa game. The whole talk has been, "We must beat Kansas," and the Iowa game has generally been considered an easy proposition and victory over them a foregone conclusion.

Iowa Bear Tales.

The Iowa coaches have been sending out numerous bear stories, tales of cripples and injuries, indifferent playing and the like. It is not improbable, however, that Iowa will spring a surprise in the game this afternoon and make King Cole's huskies play for their money. It must not be forgotten that it is two weeks since Iowa met Minnesota, and much improvement can be made in a team in that time. If any doubt this let them witness the wonderful improvement made by the Cornhuskers in the two weeks intervening between the Dakota and Minnesota games.

Will Be a Hard Battle.

Some critics are of the opinion that the Cornhuskers are in for a trimming when they go against the Hawkeyes this afternoon. The practice the whole week has been distressingly ragged, it being difficult for the varsity to make a good showing against the freshmen. However, this may all be, no one will doubt that Nebraska is up against a hard proposition this afternoon, and it will take every ounce of strength in the team to pull out a victory.

Following so close on to the Minnesota game the Cornhuskers will be unable to present an intact lineup this afternoon. Bentley is still out of the game and will likely not go in at all. Hascall will be sent in at quarter in his place, but in case of his injury

Cole will be pretty nearly up against it. Franck can be switched to quarter, but he has not fully recovered from the effects of last Saturday's game and may not be able to remain through the entire contest. Besides he is needed at half back. Sturtzneiger may be used at quarter, but he will undoubtedly be called upon to take either Franck's or Beltzer's place at half before the game is over. The quarter back situation is unquestionably a serious one.

Nebraska must win today's game, but how is she going to do it? There's the rub. The main hope is in the gameness of the Cornhusker eleven. The Nebraskans in the same physical condition as a week ago could easily put the Iowans out of business. But the Cornhuskers are far from being in that same physical condition, while the Iowans presumably are in perfect condition. The two lines are on a par as to weight, while Iowa has much

Iowa Men Late.

The Iowans were billed to arrive in Lincoln last night at six o'clock, but owing to a broken rail east of Council Bluffs they were detained on the road and did not arrive until twelve-forty this morning. They have their headquarters at the Royal and will take a long rest this morning so as to be in shape for the afternoon game.

Cole gave his men a hard workout yesterday. Much attention was given to signal work and instruction on the manner of breaking up the Iowa plays. No official lineup was announced for this afternoon, but the Cornhuskers will probably line up as follows:

Magor	R. E.
Temple	R. T.
Ewing	R. G.
Shonka	C.
Walcott	L. G.
Harte	L. T.
Johnson	L. E.
Franck	R. H.
Beltzer (capt.)	L. H.
Rathbone	F. B.
Hascall	Q. B.

WAY FORMS A NEW MUSIC CLUB.

Mandolin and Guitar Club Formed Wednesday Evening to Be a Permanent Organization.

Twelve members of the university school of music met last evening in the conservatory under the invitation of Byron W. Way, a new member of the faculty of the music school, and formed a mandolin and guitar club. This organization is to be one of the permanent organizations of the university and every student interested in this phase of musical activities is requested to apply for membership.

At present there are only twelve members, and as the membership is to be increased, a meeting will be called in the near future and officers for the organization will be elected.

SPECIMENS FOR MED. COLLEGE.

Slides and Alcoholic Material from Rats Presented University.

The college of medicine has recently been presented with slides and alcoholic material taken from plague infected rats and other rodents, and illustrating the organism which causes plague and also the pathology of this very interesting disease. This infection has gained a foothold along the Pacific coast and has been the occasion of so much concern to both federal and state health officials that a laboratory has been established devoted exclusively to its investigation.

The specimens came to the laboratory through the courtesy of Dr. Geo. N. McCoy, past assistant surgeon in the United States public health and marine hospital service, in charge of this laboratory in San Francisco.

FORESTRY CLUB PULLS OFF ANOTHER STUNT

ANNUAL "CAMP" HELD AT LINCOLN PARK YESTERDAY.

FOOTBALL GAME ONE OF THE FEATURES

Freshmen and Sophomores Line Up Against Juniors and Seniors, With Alumni Helping the Latter.

The Forestry Club has done it again. It has not only done it, but the serious question is arising in the minds of the frequenters of the campus, "Where will it stop?" It is a question which every serious minded student is pondering over today in light of the developments of yesterday afternoon.

Not satisfied with entering the lists in baseball, not satisfied with its parties and hops in the social realms of university life, it has invaded the football world. And all of this in one afternoon. Without a word of warning, without even disturbing the peace of a quiet afternoon, the club sprang the surprise yesterday when it departed for Lincoln park to disport itself upon the green.

Football Game.

It was a surprising thing to do, but they did it. They held a football game which, it is safe to say, stands alone among the games of the west. The juniors, seniors and alumni played against the freshmen and sophomores. Professor Pool and Professor Phillips umpired the battle.

Besides the game, these sportive treeologists stayed for supper. And what is more, they built a campfire and whiled away the time well into the dark hours with tales and songs.

R. D. Garver and W. W. Bennett had charge of the affair. It is a custom

Members of the Faculty who have not responded to the notice sent out by the Secretary of the University Dinner Club and who wish to join the Club this year are urged to report to the Treasurer, Mr. Westermann, at once. In order to insure the success of the Club a much larger membership than is as yet assured will be needed. The first dinner is set for next Monday evening at half past six at the Lincoln Hotel.

Rev. T. M. Shepherd will give an illustrated lecture at the regular meeting of the Young Women's Christian association to be held in the University Temple Sunday afternoon at 3:45. Rev. Shepherd will take for his subject "China," and will have his lecture illustrated by slides depicting China as he saw it. Miss Alice Ensign will preside. All university girls are invited.

JUNIOR COMMITTEES AND OFFICERS NAMED

THIRD YEAR CLASS FILLS REMAINING CLASS POSITIONS.

JUNIOR PROM APPOINTMENTS MADE

H. C. Hathaway Chairman and H. L. Cain Master of Ceremonies of the Formal Dance of This Class.

The final officers of the junior class were elected last evening. President Oberfelder also announced the members of the various committees for that class, this being the business transacted by the class at the meeting held in U106 at 5 o'clock.

There were only a few of the members of the class in attendance. The meeting had been scheduled for Thursday in Memorial Hall and had to be postponed on account of the rally which was also scheduled for that hour. Therefore it was held last evening in the lecture room in University Hall.

President Oberfelder opened the meeting by a short address in which he expressed his thanks to the members of the class for their kindness in electing him to the high office. He declared that nominations were in order for vice-president, and Miss Margaret Guthrie was nominated and the nominations were immediately closed. The election of the secretary and treasurer were made in the same way. Miss Florence Davis was elected secretary and Phillip Frederick was named treasurer. Following the prevalent custom of electing the retiring president sergeant-at-arms, Nye Morehouse was chosen to fill that position.

Committee Appointments Announced. After the election of the officers, President Oberfelder announced the appointments for the various committees to have the affairs of the class in charge. The most important of these appointments were committees and officers of the junior prom. This is considered the most important formal dance on the list of the university social program.

Following are the appointments:
Junior Prom—H. C. Hathaway, chairman; H. L. Cain, master of ceremonies; Guy E. Reid, Edwin A. Fricke, Victor B. Smith, David G. White, Howard F. Thomas, Victor W. Krause, Dwight D. Bell, Verna G. Hyder, Margaret Guthrie, Katherine Willis.

Junior Hop—J. E. Lawrence, chairman; R. E. Wavering, master of ceremonies; Vincent Hascall, Philip Frederick, Carl P. Roman, Julia Nogle, Mary Challis, Grace Rohrbaugh.

Social Committee—Herbert Taylor, chairman; Victor Friend, Robert O. Reddish, Raymond Huntington, Alice McCullough, Ruby Barnes.

Finance Committee—A. M. Hare, chairman; Theodore Filippi, E. W. Munson, Charles Bennett, James E. Pike, S. C. Stoner.
