CORNHUSKERS LEAVE FOR DENVER TONIGHT

NEBRASKA SQUAD INVADES ENEMIES' COUNTRY.

FIRST GAME OUTSIDE OF THE STATE

Coach Cole's Pupils All in Good Shape
With the Exception of Some Slight Effects of Grippe.

The varsity football squad leave Lincoln this evening over the 6 o'clock Burlington for Denver. This is the first real trip of the season, the Minnesota game at Omaha being the only other contest played outside of Lincoln. At Omaha the Cornhuskers were given the support of almost the entire crowd and the game was practically the same as if it had been played in Lincoln so far as the rosters were concerned.

Saturday's game with Denver, then, will be the first real invasion of an enemy's territory by the 1909 Cornhusker-eleven. The 1908 team played three games away from home, two of these being outside of the state. In these three games they won two and tied the other, which goes to show that for last year, at least, the Cornhuskers were good fighters in the enemies' territory. Of the six games played at home this year the Cornhuskers have won two, lost two, and tied two. It remains for Saturday's contest to prove what kind of invaders the 1909 Cornhuskers are.

Big Squad Make the Trip.

The Denver trip has been looked forward to by the members of the squad the whole season. The chance of making this trip with the squad has been an incentive to many and the men have worked hard for it. As it is, most of the squad will have the privilege of seeing the sights in Denver, at least, and a goodly part of them expect to see service in the game. Coach Cole intends taking nineteen players with him this evening, so that he will have plenty of material. The idea is to relieve the regulars unless the game is very close, and give some of the scrubs a chance. In this way the regulars can be saved for the hard struggle with Haskell on Thanksgiving day.

The team that leaves for Denver this evening are all in excellent condition, with the exception of Wolcott, who is still suffering from the tonsilitis. Wolcott was not out to practice last night, and it is doubtful whether he will be able to make the trip.

Good Practice Yesterday.

Regular scrimmage practice was held at the state farm yesterday. The play was a little slow, owing to the condition of the field. The men showed plenty of snap and ginger, however, and showed a willingness that looks well for Cornhusker prospects. The difficulty of getting men out to practice which has been bothering the coaches for several days was not in evidence yesterday. The softening of the weather proved a help and over four squads were in action at the state farm last evening.

The squad will take their regular workout before leaving tomorrow evening. Dinner will be served on the train, so there will be ample opportunity for a full afternoon's practice.

Plans are being made for a rousing rally at the depot tomorrow evening. As this is the first and only trip of the season it is expected that all loyal students will be at the Burlington depot tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock to cheer their team on to victory. Such rallies are part of the university life and the student who misses them is losing much of the university spirit.

Scrubs Play Peru.

The scrubs play their second game of the season at Peru Saturday. They have a strong line-up and ought to have no trouble in taking the measure of the Normalites. The following men will leave for Peru tomorrow evening: Curtis, Franklin, Bley, Kositsky, Dunlavy, Hibben, Warner, Kruger, Zaceck, Potter, Frank, Ray, Elwell, Gibson, Smith, Barbour, and George.

DR. LELAND AT Y. W. C. A.

Student Pastor Will Speak at Noon Meeting Tomorrow.

All university girls are urged to go to the Y. W. C. A. noon meeting tomorrow and hear Dr. Leland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Although Dr. Leland will only speak for twenty minutes, from 11:50 to 12:10, it is certain that he will say something of interest to every one who hears him. That he is loved and appreciated by university students is proven by the fact that they have named him the "Student Pastor."

Dr. Leland takes an especial interest in the Y. W. C. A., teaching two of their Bible classes in which about thirty girls are enrolled.

STREETS OF ALL NATIONS.

Name of County Fair Has Been Changed for This Year.

On January 15 will be given one of the most important social functions of the university year. For several years past it has been the custom of the Y. W. C. A. to give a "County Fair." It is given primarily for the purpose of raising money for the association, but at the same time it affords a good time for every one who attends.

The different sororities, societies, and various groups of girls are already planning their booths and the affair promises to be better than ever before.

The name this year has been changed to the "Streets of All Nations."

LECTURE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Mrs. Phillips Slowden to Talk at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Phillips Slowden, wife of a leader of the house of commons of the British parliament, will lecture this evening at the First Baptist church on "Woman Suffrage in England." Mrs. Slowden is very familiar with her subject, as she has lectured in the interests of woman suffrage for the past several years. The members of the University Woman's Equal Suffrage League have planned to attend the meeting. Mrs. Slowden lectured in New York city when she visited this country a year ago, and made a decided impression.

NEBRASKAN EDITS MAGAZINE.

October Number of the Nature-Study Review a Nebraska Number.

The October number of the Nature-Study Review contains two articles written by people of the University of Nebraska. The number is a Nebraska number, and all the articles contributed are by people who are teaching or have taught in the colleges of this state.

The edition is edited by Dr. Ruth Marshall, who took her Doctor's degree at this institution and at present is a professor of botany in Rockford College at Rockford, Ill. Dr. Marshall has an article in the magazine in which she discusses "A Course of Nature Study for Teachers." Another article in the magazine was contributed by Professor Bessey of the department of botany, the subject of which is, "Some Beginnings in Nature Study."

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM TO CHICAGO TONIGHT

NEBRASKA REPRESENTATIVES TO RUN RACE SATURDAY.

COMPETE WITH THE BIG SIX SCHOOLS

With a Strong Team, Nebraska Must Yet Do Better Work Than Before to Repeat Victories of the Past.

The cross-country men will leave at 4 o'clock today for Chicago, where they will run Saturday in the inter-collegiate cross-country run. The team is in good condition and has a strong chance to win.

The team will be accompanied by either Dr. Clapp or some member of the faculty. The race will be held at Jackson park Saturday morning. L. R. Anderson, B. J. Blark, A. B. Amerson, W. R. Melik and George Lzicar are the members of the team. Amerson is the only old man in the team, but the other four are remarkably fast and run well together.

A Strong Team.

According to Dr. Clapp the team is much stronger this year than it was last. Owing to the bad weather the past few days the men have been unable to do much running and consequently it is difficult to form any definite opinion as to the work. Had the conditions been favorable for outdoor work this week the team could have been brought into much better shape than at present. However, it is the best balanced team that Nebraska has ever sent out. The men all run close. They all finished practically together in the tryouts. It is this team work which has practically won the cross-country for Nebraska four times during the past five years.

Anderson is the fastest man on the team. Amerson is about as speedy and is the only man on the team who has had previous experience. Melik is speedy, although not as good on the long distance. Lzicar and Clark both run in practically the same time as the remainder of the team.

Hard Work.

Nebraska will have a harder pull for the championship this year than she has had in the past. Heretofore she has had practically the only team that exercised judgment in running together. It was the marked lack of this team work that lost Purdue the championship last year. The three first men on the Purdue team finished ahead of the first Nebraska man, but the two remaining men on their team dropped so far behind that they killed the good score made by their teammates.

The first eleven runners crossing the line last year finished in the following order: Chicago, first; Purdue, second; Wisconsin, third; Purdue, third; Purdue, fourth; Purdue, fifth; Nebraska, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth; Wisconsin, tenth, and Nebraska, eleventh. This bunching of the team gave Nebraska the winning score of 41. Purdue finished second with a score of 51, Wisconsin third with 59, Chicago fourth with 69, and Drake fifth with 105.

Two New Contestants.

Minnesota and Michigan are both expected to enter in the cross-country this year and they are both expected to turn out teams that will be hard to beat. Michigan has had a squad of between sixty and seventy men out and their long distance men have taken good places at many races in the east. They are expected to turn out an especially good team at the contest Saturday.

All of these facts indicate that the contest this year will be much keener than it has ever been before. Consequently the fact that the Nebraska team is better than ever before does not necessarily mean victory, as, in the opinion of Dr. Clapp, it will take a much better team to win this year. The finish in last year's race will probably mean that the other competing teams will pay more attention to team work than they have in the past, in which event the advantage held by Nebraska in that respect will be lost.

a Record of Runs.

The first intercollegiate race was held at Chicago in 1904, at which time Nebraska won first place. The next year Chicago won over Nebraska by a score of 50 to 51, and the three succeeding years Nebraska has held the championship.

The race is always held in Jackson park, the start and finish being opposite the university campus. The date of the race is on the day of the last big football game on the schedule of the University and the race is pulled off at 11 o'clock, which enables the visitors to go to the game in the afternoon.

Over $10,000 per quarter is the sum earned by the students of the University of Chicago who feel the need of supplementing their means from some outside source. This does not include the honor scholarships awarded by the university, but covers actual work rendered by students in every imaginable capacity, such as stenographers, clerks, tutors, waiters, chauffeurs, salesmen, housework, attending to furnaces and lawns, delivering papers and performing odd jobs generally. In fact the opportunities for taking work are even more numerous than the number of students desiring to take advantage of them. There are frequently openings for both men and women in the large retail stores or in doctors' offices, for example, in which spare time in the afternoons or on Saturday can be turned to profitable account, which go a-begging. Approximately 350 students of both sexes have obtained satisfactory work this quarter through the free employment bureau maintained by the university, there being no means of ascertaining how many more have obtained work without such help. The fact remains, however, that there is ample opportunity for the energetic student to earn his way, either in whole or in part, and those opportunities usually outnumber those seeking for them.

June 1, 1910, is the date by which all essays submitted in competition for the prizes of $2,000 offered by Hart, Schaffner & Marx must be submitted. Five prizes are offered, ranging from $200 to $600, and are designed to stimulate the study of topics relating to commercial economics and industry. Essays to be submitted to James Laurence Laughlin, professor and head of the department of political economy at the University of Chicago, chairman of the committee in charge of the competition. The other members of the committee are: Professor J. B. Clark, Columbia University; Professor Henry C. Adams, University of Michigan; Horace White, Esq., New York City. The contest is classified, and is open to (1) any American without restriction; (2) undergraduates of any American college; (3) those without academic training. These contests have been held for the last six years and some of the essays produced by American students have been so well regarded that they have been published in book form. Many have attracted widespread attention and have been regarded as contributing materially to the economic literature of the day.

LARGE DELEGATION TO GO TO BIG STOCK SHOW

UNIVERSITY WILL SEND TEAM TO COMPETE AT CHICAGO.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR THE STUDENTS

Seventy-five or More Agriculturists Will Make the Trip and Visit the International Show.

The university is planning a large excursion to the International Live Stock Show, which commences in Chicago November 27. Arrangements have been made for a train of Pullman coaches and a diner to carry the students to and from Chicago. The entire senior class of seventy-five members has asked permission to attend and a large number of the lower class men expressed a desire to go, so that the university authorities decided to excuse from classes those who attend.

The International is the greatest live stock show in the world and is of great practical value to the agricultural students. Besides this a great deal of interest is taken in the fact that the university is to be represented by a judging team, which will compete with judging teams from other prominent colleges of the country. The department of animal husbandry will send a number of their blooded animals to the show. The university has a large reputation for its cattle especially, and this year Professor Smith believes he has some of the best he has ever sent. One year Nebraska showed the grand champion steer and hopes are entertained that we can do so again this year.

Seven Coaches Full.

It is thought that enough students and alumni will go to use seven or eight coaches. The party will be in charge of Chancellor Avery, Dean Burnett, Principal Davison and Dr. Peters. Professor Smith, head of the department of animal husbandry, is to read a paper before one of the societies which meet during the association and will also act as one of the ring judges of the Galloway classes. The entire party will be accommodated at the Palmer house. Congressman James S. McGuire, President C. H. Rudge and Secretary W. R. Mellor of the state board of agriculture and Governor Shallenberger will join the party in Chicago. All of these men are interested in some phase of the live stock question.

The members of the students' judging team are: V. S. Culver, P. McMillip, C. H. Liebers, J. H. Camp and C. A. Broderick, with A. H. Middleton alternate. The team has been picked from the advanced judging team, the basis of their selection being their work since school began. Several of the men have been putting in the greater share of their time at this work since the state fair last September. Last year Nebraska's team won a number of trophies and the men this year have been showing ability which should win them the highest honors in the contest. There are many cups offered besides some cash prizes.

A Hard Task.

The judging work in the students' contest is a hard test. The students are not allowed to talk at all while in the ring. They have to place the cattle in their minds and then go to the head judges and give their reasons without notes. Horses, cattle, sheep and hogs will be judged.

The team will leave next Sunday afternoon, stopping several times between here and Chicago to visit and practice on various herds. The first two days will be spent at Ames, Ia., at the agricultural college there. The
