CHICAGO INSPECTOR LIKES METHODS HERE

COMPLIMENTS GEOGRAPHY DEPARTMENT ON STANDARDS.
THINKS EQUIPMENT HERE IS GOOD
University of Chicago Man is Investigating Conditions in Many Schools All Over the Country.

Eugene Van Cleef of the University of Chicago has been inspecting the conditions of the department of geography at Nebraska during the past few days, and has been favorably impressed with the equipment of this university in that respect. Mr. Van Cleef is making a tour of the United States for the purpose of investigating the teaching of geography in the colleges of this country.
He is a graduate student of the University of Chicago and is doing this work under Professors Chamberlain and Salisbury of that university. He is giving special attention in his tour to the courses offered in the various colleges and universities in geography and the equipment for presenting special lines of work.
For New Map.
Mr. Van Cleef is also gathering data for a new continental map of North America. One interesting feature of

John Philip Sousa

John Philip Sousa will, as usual, appear before his distinguished band of musicians and celebrated soloists at the Oliver Theater Friday night.
The eminent composer and leader played yesterday at Denver and his popularity was unquestionably displayed in the vast number of encores quickly and pleasantly responded to. It is claimed that the concert was one of the most enjoyable ever given by the great bandmaster and was replete with treats and surprises.
"The Glory of the Yankee Navy," the latest Sousa march, and the new Sousa instrumental suite, "People Who Live in Glass Houses," were heard for the first time and proved to be as extremely popular as their predecessors. Much enjoyment was realized by the rendition of Mr. Sousa's various encore concerts.
The Misses Frances and Grace Hoyt in their duets and Miss Florence Hardeman, with her masterful playing, left nothing to be desired, and Mr. Herbert L. Clarke showed wonderful execution on the cornet by his rendition of "Showers of Gold," said to be the most difficult cornet solo ever written.
While the sale of seats has been extremely encouraging, choice seats may still be had for the local concert.
"The March King" is in excellent health and a thoroughly enjoyable concert is first in the expectation of the local lovers of the best in music.

this map is that it will show the details in regard to the glaciated area of the continent. Besides this he is also making investigations for a new globe which will be put out for school use. It will combine both the relief and the political features and will be complete in detail.
While stopping at the various schools he consults the heads of the departments in regard to obtaining the necessary data for his research and to obtain their views on the subjects he is investigating. He also discusses the publications and material needed for continued progress in the teaching of the subject.

Compliments Nebraska.
Mr. Van Cleef has already visited the eastern part of the country and investigated the departments at Columbia, Cornell, Yale, Harvard and the other schools of that section, and he is now on his western trip. He was very much pleased with conditions as he found them at Nebraska. He thought that this school was very well equipped along geographical and historical lines. He commended the university on the number of maps and expressed himself as surprised to find the school so well equipped, especially in foreign maps.
After he has completed his investigations, Mr. Van Cleef will report on the result of his work before a meeting of the National Geographical Association.
