TEMPLE CHOSEN TO LEAD 1910 ELEVEN

CORNHUSKER RIGHT TACKLE IS ELECTED CAPTAIN.

VOTE OF FIFTEEN IS UNANIMOUS

Athletic Board Vote Elliott an "N" on the Recommendation of Captain Beltzer, Manager Eager and Assistant Coach Harvey.

Jack Temple was elected captain of the 1910 football team last night by the unanimous vote of the fifteen "N" men present. Temple received ten votes on the first ballot, a sufficient number to insure his election, and on motion the rules were suspended and the choice made unanimous.

The three candidates were Temple, Shonka, and Rathbone. Early yesterday it became evident that Temple would win out and Rathbone to secure a unanimous choice switched his support to Temple. Shonka, the third candidate, withdrew after the first ballot and thereby gave Temple the unanimous vote of the team.

The happy result of last evening's election is in striking contrast to the squabble of the past two years and bodes well for the success of the 1910 Cornhusker eleven. Both last year and the year before the election of a captain devolved into a partisan affair and in both years resulted in splitting the team into two factions. The result was to create dissention among both the members of the team and its supporters and materially hampered the success of the coaches in turning out a winning eleven.

Harmony Prevailed.

Harmony was the keynote of last night's meeting, and if the expressions of the members of the team count for anything there is going to be an entire absence of all wrangling in football circles from now on.

One thing at least is certain, and that is that in their choice of a captain the team chose a man who has every quality necessary to make him a leader. Jack Temple needs no introduction to the students of Nebraska. His stellar work of the past two seasons on the football squad has won him an enviable place in the hearts of the student body.

The newly elected leader of the Cornhuskers is a native of Nebraska. He was born at Lexington about twenty-one years ago, where he still resides. An all around athlete, he became interested in football during his high school years. He played three years on the Lexington high school team before coming to Nebraska.

Previous Experience.

During his first year at Nebraska he was a member of the scrub eleven and there attracted the attention of the coaches. Last year he played sub full back. He won his "N" and with it great distinction in the Minnesota game during that year. It was due to his star tackling more than to any other fact that the Cornhuskers were enabled to hold the Gophers scoreless. He also broke into the Iowa, Ames, Kansas and Carlisle games of that year. His work this year at right tackle won him a place on the All-Missouri Valley eleven, and secured him an honorable mention for a position on the All-Western.

Jack is well known to all the students and his election is everywhere hailed with the keenest satisfaction. It is felt that with such a leader nothing can stand in the way of a successful season for 1910. Jack himself said last night that the season was already started and considerable enthusiasm aroused at the meeting. Always an aggressive player, Jack is a clean sportsman and in every way a perfect gentleman. Much is expected of him in securing a winning eleven for 1910.

Elliott Gets "N."

Another source of satisfaction to the student body was the announcement that at the meeting of the athletic board before the election the matter of granting an "N" to Elliott was acted favorably on by the board. The matter was brought before the board on the recommendation of Captain Beltzer, Manager Eager and Assistant Coach Harvey. The board when they had had time to consider the matter saw the justice of Elliott's claims and willingly granted the letter. This was only a fitting reward for a year of faithful work as every one feels that Elliott certainly earned the honor.

STUDENTS' HAND BOOK OUT.

Annual Publication of the University
Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.
Published.

The students' hand book, which is annually published by the university Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., was put on sale yesterday. The price of these books is five cents, and at this price it is expected that merely the cost of publication will be covered. The book this year is somewhat similar to former publications of this nature.

In one or two details the book is slightly different, in that it contains an index of the ads and of the different departments of the book, and also gives an index to all the abbreviations. Another feature of the book is that all the members of the student body are listed in the classes of which they are members. Also a full list of the officers of the various student organizations is given.

LEROY B. TEMPLE

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN FOR 1910.

CADETS TO USE NEW RIFLES AFTER XMAS

UNCLE SAM MAY SHIP NEW GUNS BEFORE JANUARY FIRST.

TO REPLACE THE KRAC-JORGENSENS

Twenty-five Target Rifles Have Been Shipped—Indoor Shooting Will Begin as Soon as They Arrive.

The new equipment for the university cadets will probably be in readiness for distribution by the beginning of the next semester. This was the announcement made by the commandant yesterday afternoon.

Owing to some delay in securing the bonds necessary to secure the rifles from the government the order for their shipment was delayed. Twenty-five target rifles which were ordered for the range detachment have already been shipped and are expected to arrive at any time.

The securing of the new rifles together with the institution of the range detachment means that the cadets of the university are to be instructed along lines similar to those adopted in the regular army. Shooting, according to Captain Yates, is one of the essential parts of military education. He believes that an army which cannot shoot is of little value.

Will Be Returned.

As soon as the new equipment arrives the old guns will be returned. The new rifles are of the latest pattern used in the regular army at the present time. The United States 1903 Springfield magazine gun chambering the 1906 ammunition will replace the old army rifles now in use at the university. These are the Krag-Jorgensen 1898 model and were in use in the regular army a few years ago.

The institution of a range detachment at Nebraska is an innovation which is being pushed with vigor. As soon as the new rifles arrive the men will be given actual indoor target practice. The work of the range detachment is in charge of Captain Bartlett. Its aim is to teach the men the use of the rifle and accuracy in shooting. In the regular army the captains of the companies are the instructors in this work, but at Nebraska the captains are too busy to take charge of this work together with their other duties as captains. Besides this, the captains have as a rule had little more experience than the men in shooting or the handling of an army rifle.

Consequently the range detachment was formed. It is composed of men who have had previous experience in the work either with the regulars or in the national guard. The members of the detachment are to form a nucleus for a corps of instructors. They must be able to take charge of the company as well as to instruct in the art of shooting.

Captain Bartlett is looking forward to forming a team of riflemen to compete for the National Rifle Association's trophy.

Plasters, treasurer; Dolly Cook, corresponding secretary; Geo. Heffelbower, critic; Vera Barger, historian.

BASKETBALL GAMES FOR 1910 ANNOUNCED

OUTLOOK FOR A CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM ARE ENCOURAGING.

NINE GAMES ON THE HOME FLOOR

Many of the Old Men of Last Year Are Out and Also Some Excellent New Men Who Are Giving Old Men a Run for Places.

The entire schedule for the basketball season at the university has been announced. This schedule is comprised of seventeen games. No team in this conference is allowed to play more than eighteen games, and this is the limit that the Nebraska schedule has nearly reached. All the games are either with teams in the Missouri Valley or Chicago conferences. Nine of the seventeen games are to be played on the home floor and the remainder are to be played on the foreign schools' floors.

This limit which has been placed on the schools of the "Big Seven" handicaps Nebraska to a certain extent, for under this ruling they are unable to play any practice games with teams from any of the surrounding secondary schools, such as Cotner and Wesleyan. This latter plan has always been done in the past and now the practice games must necessarily be cut out of the Cornhusker schedule.

The Schedule.

The schedule for the season of 1910 is as follows:

January 7 and 8, Kansas at Lawrence.

January 21 and 22, Ames at Lincoln.

January 28 and 29, Drake at Lincoln.

February 4 and 5, Minnesota at Lincoln.

February 9 and 10, Drake at Des Moines.

February 11 and 12, Ames at Ames.

February 14, Missouri at Lincoln.

February 18 and 19, Minnesota at Minneapolis.

February 25 and 26, Kansas at Lincoln.

Nebraska's Outlook.

The outlook for the coming season is a particularly bright one. The men who have been out for practice are as a rule mostly old men and have had a large amount of practice in the indoor game. The work of the men has been very pleasing to Coach Hewitt and he promises one of the best teams that Nebraska has ever had.

Captain Peary as guard is one of the best in the Missouri Valley, and with him as the leader of the 1910 five the chances that Nebraska will carry off the championship laurels of the Missouri Valley are of the best.

Old Men Out.

Besides Captain Perry the other old men who are out for practice are Woods and Schmidt, who were forwards last year, and Ingersoll and Petrashek, last year's guard and center. These men are all out, and around them there is a good chance to form a championship team. Besides these men several of the men who were subs on last year's team are practicing with great consistency and are running the old men a hard race for their old positions. Long, Jones and Mitchell are candidates for guard positions and Wake and Landers are candidates for forwards.

Among the other men who are out is Gibson, the punter of the scrub football team, who is a candidate for the center position. This is Gibson's second semester in the university and he will be eligible for the basketball team at the close of the present semester. Many other men of good caliber are out and the outlook for a championship squad was never better.
