THE ENGINEERS' NEBRASKAN.

With the appointment of the staff to edit the engineering number of the Daily Nebraskan, the attention of the student body is again brought face to face with the fact that the engineering college of this university is one of the leading schools in this line found in the United States. That there are few schools of the engineering world in which the members of that department take charge of the student daily and run it as a paper for engineers and about the engineers of that school should be complimented upon. That is a recognized fact. But nevertheless ed and also for that reason that we lost the debate.

Why should it be? Is this the true condition of every school? Perhaps it is, but since Nebraska is considered one of the leading schools in the west let us take the lead in this matter and push together for the benefit of the Scarlet and Cream spirit and to the dismay of the "knockers." That there are men in school who are debaters of first-class ability who do not try-out for the squad is a well known fact, and these men are the ones who, as a rule, are doing the greatest part of the "knocking." Why is it that if they think they can do so much better than the men who do do things that they don't come forth and show the student body that they have the ability to do this which they claim they are capable of? If they do not have the ability of which they claim so much, then we ask them to kindly keep still. If they would do this the university as a whole would be better off to a large extent.

That the knocking is not alone in the university is also admitted. In the editorial column of one of the dailies of our metropolis we find a little irony in the statement that the present record of this year's debating team should be kept as a permanent record. This statement is entirely uncalled for, especially as it comes from one of the leading state papers. We

These have been held over and prospects are good for winning the grand championship next year. In the carcass contests Nebraska took practically all of the prizes.

A business meeting was held after the program. Some new members were voted in. Refreshments were served at the close. The next meeting of the club will be held January 8, at which time papers will be given on three different phases of agriculture in western Nebraska.

TO GIVE REAL MINSTREL SHOW.

Darktown Notables to Appear on the "Streets of All Nations."

Not content with the success of "Ching-a-Loo," which was one of the most talked of entertainments at the County Fair last year, Alpha Chi Omega will this give a full-fledged minstrel show. Nothing is being spared to make this show one of the hits at the "Streets of All Nations," and in all probability it will be a big success.

The overture will be one of Whitmark's best, full of jokes and music, and enlivened by the bones and tambourines of star end-men. Coon songs will be sung in real coon style, and the overture will end with a grand cake-walk.

In the second part of the show, the jugglers and acrobats will have this is what the students of the engineering college of the University of Nebraska do.

This is a fact that the members of that department of the university men upon whom the world looks as being only capable of understanding complicated machinery and mathematical formulas are able to take charge of a students' daily newspaper and run it along pure newspaper lines is a thing upon which these men are worthy of credit. The fact also stands that the paper which the engineers are able to put out is worthy of comment. This is shown by the paper which they published last year and which too was the original edition of the engineers' annual number of the Nebraskan. This paper was a marked success and was of interest to all the students of the university and not alone to the engineering students and faculty.

That other organizations of the university should adopt this plan of editing the Daily Nebraskan for one edition each year is our suggestion, thus helping to increase the spirit of pride in the separate departments of which the university is composed. That this is a possibility is shown by the way the engineers have done it. Why is it not as true with the other departments of the university as it is with them?

"KNOCKING" VS. SUPPORTING.

Again we have met the Gophers and we are theirs. This time it is not in athletics, but in intercollegiate debate. But it was no fault of the men who represented Nebraska. They were the very best men who were in the university that could represent us in this line of intercollegiate activities. When the university football season closed on every hand was heard the ring of the "anvil chorus" trying to tell the other fellows that it was for this reason that we were defeat-suggest that instead of this paper trying to "knock" state affairs, especially those of the state university, that it would be better if they would lend a helping hand to this university and try to bring it into a better light in the eyes of the people of the state.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB MEETING.

Talks from Members of Teams Sent to National Judging Contests This Fall.

The Agricultural Club held its regular meeting last Saturday night at the Temple. There was a large attendance of members and an interesting program was listened to. The talks were summed up under the head title "Trips," being reports from team members of the various contests to which the university has sent judging teams this fall.

The first speaker was R. H. Camp, 1913, who was high man on the team at the international live stock show at Chicago. Mr. Camp gave an interesting account of the work during the contest and the way the judging was done. Louis R. Anderson, 1912, who led the Nebraska team at the cross-country run at Chicago, told of the race in a manner which drew a great deal of appreciation from the audience. O. H. Liebers, 1913, gave an account of the Council Bluffs horticultural show. Mr. Liebers ranked first among the Nebraska team, which took first place in the judging at the show. The Nebraska judging teams this year have won two firsts out of four national contests entered, easily giving it first place in judging among the schools of the country.

Howard Gramlich, assistant in the department of animal husbandry, told of the prizes won by the animals exhibited by the University of Nebraska at the international. A large sum of money was won, besides a number of scholarships. Several Nebraska animals took first place in their class.

their turn. There will be queens of the trapeze, tight wire walkers, fire-eaters and tumblers galore. All of these artists are hard at work, rehearsing their stunts and preparing for January 8th.
