AGGIES TAKE SECOND GAME FROM NEBRASKA

MANHATTAN FIVE PROVES TOO FAST FOR CORNHUSKERS.

WOOD AS USUAL IS STAR MAN

A Four Days' Jaunt Through Iowa Leaves the Team in Poor Condition for the Speedy Kansans.

The Manhattan Aggies defeated the Cornhuskers in basket-ball Monday night by the score of 28 to 16. Skill in goal throwing on the part of the Kansas team, together with the poor physical condition of the Cornhusker five, made the victory a comparatively easy one for the Kansans.

Having just returned from a four-day trip in Iowa, the Nebraska team was in bad physical condition and none of the "N" men played the entire game.

Shortly after the game started the visiting team scored 2 points from a fled goal and only once was Nebraska able to tie the score. Although hard fought, the game was slow and uninteresting. The Kansas team was composed of larger men than the 'varsity team; but the former were not as fast as the Cornhuskers. Steady playing and endurance won the game for the Manhattan team.

Wood Starred.

Wood starred for Nebraska. The fast guard was always with his man and often successfully undertook to guard two of his opponents.

Perry played only the second half of the game because of injuries which he received on the Iowa trip.

This game marked the close of Petrashek's basket-ball career. He will not finish the year and his steady all-round playing will be hard to replace. While in Iowa the Cornhuskers defeated Drake twice, but were defeated in two very close games by Ames. This makes Nebraska and Ames tie for the north Missouri valley championship. If Ames beats Drake another game between Nebraska and Ames will probably be scheduled.
