As no more cases of small-pox have been reported in the university the spread of the disease may have been stopped. The precautions taken by the authorities on the discovery of the cases, while they may have frightened a few, were only those made necessary by the emergency of the moment.

With a gurgle and a splash the fountain is at it once more. Its benefits are no longer restricted to the refreshing of one thirsty student at a time. Four streams now play in the cement basin. The fountain has at last taken its proper place in university affairs. It is no longer a make-

Back to the old campus and to work. shimmer of the new "togs" and the dazzling glare of the new hats; our nerves are still shattered by the strenuous week of rest; our inner man is still torpid from the effects of mother's home cooking. In fact we are in fine condition for anything but study.

The biggest meet in the west to be held in Omaha tomorrow? Surely you have been misinformed. The big tales of the Marathon and Olympic contests of mythology are but want advertisements in the "mere mention" column when compared with the stories circulating about the campus in regard to the magnitude of the Omaha meet. And what is Nebraska to do at this meet? According to "dope" being circulated at present, Nebraska bids fair to win in the events for which she is entered. The band will be there, a special train will carry the Nebraska delegation, and the various organizations will have boxes. The magnitude of the meet in the eyes of Nebraska students can scarcely be limited to any comprehensible area.

With a yellow howl "The Cotner Collegian" (yes, a neighbor of ours) comes out with a special edition. It is certainly a complete bibliography of Cotner slang done up on the vilest of yellow paper. Professors spanking wives, chancellors ousted, bathing the cow, Greek professor wedding actress, dean killing burglar with talk, popular pastor caught in hen roost and many other screams of frenzied imagination delight the reader. When it comes to stuff so yellow that it is sticky and so thick that only a tongue-tied native of China could pronounce it, Cotner has the Denver Post backed down into the middle of the Proterozoic Age digging for clams.

HIGH SCHOOLS OF THE STATE

This column is conducted for the benefit of the high schools over the state. News items may be sent in by any school.

Alliance.

On March 24 Alliance was represented at the district contest in Bridgeport by Lura Vance, oratorical; Ralph Thomas, dramatic, and Beulah Smith, humorous. Five cities were represented in this contest, and Alliance won first in oratorical, first in dramatic, and second in humorous. The state contest will be held in the near future, but the location has not yet been determined upon.

The tennis club has been reorganized and the courts are now constantly in use.

By the game with the Sidney high school on March 19, Alliance again became champions of western Nebraska in basketball. Only twice in her basketball career has Alliance high been defeated, first by the athletic club from Ardmore, South Dakota, then by the Peru State Normal by a score of 13 to 10. In both these games Alliance was forced to use an almost en-

The senior class of the Hastings high school will begin rehearsing on their class play immediately after the spring vacation. Only one play is to be produced this year, instead of two as in former years.

The senior and junior classes of the Hastings high school tendered Professor P. E. McCoy a farewell reception at the Y. M. C. A. parlors on Friday evening, March 18. Mr. McCoy will leave in a few days for his new home in Wyoming. He is a Nebraska graduate and has been very popular as the head of the department of science in Hastings high school since 1903.

Grand Island.

At the declamatory contest held on Monday night Dorothy Kalman, '12, won first and Walter C. Rauert, '11, second.

Grand Island was defeated in her first game of baseball by Wood River last week by a score of 6 to 5 in eleven innings.

The girls' basketball team won from St. Paul Friday by a score of 17 to 7. Out of the seven games played this season the girl's team has won five. The Kearney normal may be played soon.

Debates.

Dean W. G. Hastings, Professor L. E. Aylsworth, Professor Churchill of Wesleyan were judges at the Auburn-Wymore debate, held at Auburn last Friday night. This was the first contest in the second series of the southeastern district. Wymore, the winner, will now debate the winner of the Humboldt-Falls City debate for the championship of the district. Wymore won the championship of the district last year and was represented in the final debate held here by Mark Hargreave. Wymore was represented by Cyril Brown, Waldo Winter, and Victor Coulter. Alleta Snow, John Stoddard and Ruth Kelliger spoke for Auburn.
