"Swat 'em into the left garden." "Gilt your mit on it," and similar terms are in demand now. Learn them, and see the games.

With Nebraska co-eds so ably represented at St. Louis in the baseball line, with a feminine baseball umpire in our midst, with a full fledged equal suffrage league, it seems about time that some Nebraska co-ed was rising to the occasion and demanding the national game as her privilege. Why not?

Somebody has discovered that the excited populace should have shouted, "Long live Louis the XXI." Instead of "Long live Louis XVIII." The fact that this populace has been dead for some time should not, it seems to us lead to such unkind criticism of their conduct on this occasion. They were probably so excited at the time that they lost their reckoning on Louises. It must have taken some bookkeeping to tag them all anyway.

THORNS AND LAURELS.

Freshmen! Too bad! Could the divine muse but hand us her rose tinted bouquet, could she but shower on our head the incense of the gods for but a brief moment, we swear that it should all be devoted to an eulogy to you. You fought bravely, and you fought well. That you lost is but your misfortune.

The battles which you have fought—and lost—are graven not on decaying tablets of stone, but in the everliving memory of man. 'Twas a conflict worthy of a Lancelot. Would that we had the hand of a Tennyson to tell it. Ages hence, when we shall be but the faintest memories around these old halls, the freshmen will gather in the shade of the pine by the fountain and with bated breath listen to the whispered tale of the battles you fought—and lost.

Sophomores! You won! You need no eulogy of ours. The laurel wreath is yours. Wear it lightly—over one ear, if you will—but lightly as becomes a generous victor to a valiant foe.

E. O. EAGER.

Most of us, when we come to the university, are prone to take athletic events as a matter of course. We seem to take it for granted the games, their schedules, finances and all the manifold details connected with the athletic side of a large university, rain down in orderly arrangement for our delectation. But this has long ago been disproved by scientists. No large thunder cloud ever appears on the horizon and rains down a football schedule, nor are the financial matters settled like the dew on a June morning. It is the man behind. And precious little glory is his lot. For the last four years Manager Eager has brought Nebraska athletics to a paying basis. Not only that, but he has done all that a manager could to place Nebraska on a par with other institutions in the athletic world. His re-election comes as a recognition of this fact. While there is the poetic side of athletics which needs our support, there is also the business side—the side that makes the wheels go round—which needs our support, if we would build for a bigger and better Nebraska.

Election of Basketball Captain.
The captain of next year's basketball team will be elected this morning. The campaign has been very quiet, and it is not known as yet just who will be nominated.

Regents Meet Today.
The university regents will meet at 10:30 this morning. They will consider the annual budget and discuss the question of raising salaries. The proposition of extending the campus will also be brought up for consideration.

Edwin Maxey of the University of Nebraska, Prof. O. H. Vernier of the Grand Island college, and D. N. Ford of Ansley. Broken Bow was represented by Clyde Waters, Wayne Soper and J. Stukey. Those who spoke for Ravenna were Blanche Reese, Virgil Hlava and William Culpert. Broken Bow will now meet Ord for the championship of the west central district next Friday night.

PUBLICITY HAS BOY FAST

William Sidis, Harvard Prodigy, Cannot Keep Out of Newspapers. It is impossible to feel sorry for young William James Sidis. The monster publicity has him fast in its clutches. The mark of the yellow beast is upon him. Henceforth he can hope neither to walk nor to eat nor to sleep without being thrown upon the canvas, for the delectation of the crowd, once in so often. Kind-hearted persons who have been angry with the father of the brilliant child for "forcing" him beyond his years had better direct their attention to the newspapers. For it is on record that young Sidis' training has left him a healthy and normal boy; whereas we hate to think what a year of newspaper notoriety will do for his temper and his peace of mind. The very pleasures of boyhood are Convocation Today.

Prof. G. W. Luckey will speak at convocation this morning. His subject will be, "Shall organized play grounds play a part in the public school curriculum?" Professor Luckey is an authority on this subject and his talk should prove interesting.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Meeting.
The large cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. will meet at Professor Brunner's home, 2314 South Seventeenth street, Saturday, April 16. All chairmen and sub-chairmen are expected to be present. This will be an open air affair and the girls are invited to go out at any time in the afternoon they desire, to play tennis and other games. Supper will be served on the lawn at 5:30 and the business meeting will follow.

DEBATES COMING TO CLOSE.

High School Championships Soon to Be Decided.

Three contests in the Nebraska High School Debating League were decided last Friday night in the southeastern, north central and west central districts.

The Humboldt-Falls City debate at Humboldt was won by Falls City by a 2 to 1 decision. Falls City now meets Wymore for the championship of the southeastern district. The speakers were as follows:

Humboldt, affirmative — Florence Hummel, Paul Walsh, Sam Zimmerman.

Falls City—Jean Cain, Camille Layden, James Falloon.

Pierce won from Randolph at Randolph, and will now meet Albion for the championship of the north central division. This will decide who will represent the north central district.

Broken Bow won from Ravenna Friday night. The judges were Prof.

now denied him. He cannot join in a game of ball without having the fact telegraphed to a hundred cities and published under the caption, "Harvard's Mathematical Prodigy Solves Pitcher's Curves Without the Aid of Logarithms." He cannot go in swimming without throwing the world into amazement at the fact. As for boyish quip or jest, he dare not, for his reputation's sake, risk it. It will be translated into mathematical terms and cast abroad for the serious edification of the multitude.—New York Evening Post.
