SOPHOMORES WILL ELEGT TOMORROW

Members of Cornhusker Staff Will Be Chosen for Next Year.

The political pot in the sophomore class is beginning to boil and bubble in great shape. Tomorrow at 11:30 in the chapel the second year men elect the business manager and managing editor for next year's Cornhusker. So far four men have announced themselves as candidates for the two positions that are to be filled and all are making a strenuous campaign.

C. L. Clark of Lincoln and Guy C. Kiddoo of Omaha are the candidates for the position of business manager. In point of experience both men seem to be well qualified for the position, both having been managers of their high school papers, while Kiddoo has had additional experience as manager of the Nebraskan. They have also both been active in class affairs.

The candidates for the other positions are Randall Curtis and D. B. Van Dusen, both of Omaha. Van Dusen was editor of his high school paper and has held a position on the staff of the Omaha Daily News. Curtis has also had some experience in newspaper work. As is the case with the other two candidates, both Curtis and Van Dusen have been quite prominent in class affairs.
