THE NEWSPAPER CRITIC.

There is present in every college and university the man who knows all about how the college publications should be conducted. Volumes could be filled with his faultfinding of a single issue.

In a recent issue of the Des Moines Daily Capital there was an editorial telling of a Rev. Malcom James McLeod, a Presbyterian minister, who undertook to put his theories on journalism in practice in a single issue of the Pasadena Star. Just before the final form was locked the preacher-editor took a few inches to write his closing impressions. To the college student who bears the same re-

Did you ever hear of a man who had seen weather cold enough to phase that spring dandelion? If so, go mark him well. He is a—prevaricator!

Our musical ear is distended to the bursting point; our breath comes short and gasping; our very being is on tip-toe, to catch the first breath of sound from that new Nebraska song. We are mildly impatient.

A soaking three-days' rain, plenty of dishes to wash and potatoes to peel, and innumerable guard mounts is all that is necessary to make the life of the second battalion cadet ideal in every respect. Yet it is strenuous work, this condensed poetry of the soldier life.

Y. W. C. A.

It has been the custom, toward the end of the school year, for the Y. W. C. A. to devote one of their Sunday meetings to the senior girls. The annual event this year is to take place next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Y. W. association room. All girls may come, but the occasion is arranged especially for seniors. The affair is under the management of Beaula Jennings, former vice-president of the association. The program will be announced tomorrow.

Girls, do not forget that the cascade social, a union affair of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., occurs next Saturday night, and keep the date open.

Today's noon meeting will be led by Catherine Caldwell and Rev. M. A. Bullock will speak on Friday noon.

The Quo Vadis club has been organized at Iowa State College. Its purpose is to improve methods of travel at times of inter-collegiate contests. To be eligible for membership, one must have traveled 1,000 miles without a railroad ticket or a cash fare.

lation to the college papers that the average citizen does to the metropolitan dailies we recommend a reading of the following as written by the Rev. McLeod:

"My time is almost up as I pen this last line; my hand is almost paralyzed, my brain is befuddled, and I am free to confess that I am right glad to vacate the holy spot. Such rush and riot and dismay! Such a jumble and potpourri! It strikes me as the daily effort to bring order out of chaos, and to do it lightning quick, I am reminded of the memorable words, 'The earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the spirit moved upon the face of the waters.' Never shall I criticize newspaper men more. I shall pray for them. They will have my heart's forbearance henceforth and forever, the hardest worked, shortest lived, poorest paid brain workers on this wearily old world of ours."—Daily Iowan.

A COSMOPOLITAN CLUB.

A Cosmopolitan Club at Nebraska, one link in a chain of Cosmopolitan Clubs in the United States, all a part of the great organization of Cosmopolitan Clubs of the world. Sounds good, doesn't it? Should such an organization be effected at Nebraska it would mean that we have taken another step in advance.

Such a step would only be a recognition of the tendency of the present generation to recognize the universal brotherhood of man. A student coming to Nebraska from a foreign land lives a lonely life at best. He has not been one of us. Yet he is one member of that mass of humanity which covers the globe and which is seeking after knowledge in its endeavor to reach truth. Then why not bring another bond between students from other countries and students of Nebraska? Why not take another step Bengtson accompanied the class. Next Friday and Saturday about thirty students in the geology department will make a trip to the Platte river country near Ashland, providing that the weather will permit. The class will walk from Ashland to Louisville, Neb., which will be a distance of approximately thirty miles.

Do You Know

That getting out a college paper is at best a painful and thankless job? And that the slight task of 17 hours school work sometimes interfere?

That therefore mistakes are occasionally made?

And that for one mistake there are a hundred corrections from willing people?—Washburn Review.

Agricultural Club Meets.

The Agricultural Club met Saturday night at the Temple with a fair attendance. Mr. Skinner gave a talk on what the club could do for the college of agriculture during the summer. Mr. Anderson gave a talk on the social-side of farm life. The club meets again April 30.

Remember the first time you saw the university? On May 6th there will be numerous duplicates of that experience. It only remains for the students to make it a memorable experience in the life of every high school student who comes as a guest of the university.

Notice.

There will be a meeting of the senior play committee Friday at 12 o'clock, U106.
