on all occasions and everywhere there are university students or alumni. In a word we want a song which the student body of today cannot keep from accepting and which the student of a century hence will accept with the same degree of enthusiasm.

It is a high ideal. But not too high. No amount of grinding will ever attain it. No amount of care and perfection in lyric composition will ever attain it. It must be inspired.

Is this too much to ask of a song which will be the one supreme Nebraska song?

Believing that it is such a song that Nebraska needs we can only commend the action of the committee in not saddling Nebraska with a song which they believed not to possess the qualities which would make it the great Nebraska song. That it is possible to obtain such a song we believe. Not seven but dozens of songs should come in if we are to have the best there is to be had. And we believe that the best is not too good for Nebraska.

have been compelled to abandon their homes at great loss.

Alfred Munger, Delta Upsilon, returned yesterday from a short visit to Omaha.

F. N. Menefee, '08, was married recently to Miss Lucile Cull of Oaland, Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Menefee are making their home at Utica, New York, where Mr. Menefee is a post-graduate student in engineering.

Mrs. J. W. Searson, U. of N., '99, who resides in Lincoln is at Pawnee City attending the district meeting of woman's clubs. She attends as a member of the literature committee of the state federation.

Searle Davis leaves today for several engagements in the western part of the state. He will give evening programs at the following places: Oxford, McCook, Indianola, Holbrook, and Chibbertson. He will then spend the month of May in Holdrege having charge of commencement exercises and the class play.

THE NEBRASKA SONG.

At the risk of becoming monotonous we must again burst forth on the subject of song. The decision of the Nebraska song contest committee which was given out yesterday may be disappointing to the students who have been awaiting the appearance of the true Nebraska song. It may even seem like the dangerous lack of decision upon which we have commented several times. The matter, however, should not be dismissed with this hasty judgment. The verdict of the student body should depend upon the kind of a song the student body wants for the true Nebraska song.

A song that will be popular for a time will not answer the purpose. A song that contains the highest art and the best poetry will not answer the purpose. It is the song with the snap, with the life, with the true Nebraska spirit that we want.

We cannot force the students of years hence to accept a song which to them seems old. We cannot force the students of today to take a song, as the essence of the Nebraska spirit in music, which they do not respond to. We want a song which, when the students hear it, they cannot help singing. A song which will be whistled on the campus and street, a song which will be sung at all and every university occasion, a song which will be played

Dean Fordyce Speaks.

Dr. Charles W. Fordyce, dean of the teachers' college, delivered an address Wednesday evening at Pawnee City. His subject was "How to Preserve the Bloom of Youth." This address was given before the seventh annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Woman's Clubs for the first district.

S. Z. Baten on "Conflict."

Rev. S. Z. Batten, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, was the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. meeting last night. Dr. Batten was one of the strongest leaders in the recent no-saloon campaign in Lincoln. Speaking on the "Joy of Conflict," he advanced the idea that: "The simple seeing of an evil is a call for a man to right that evil. Whoever fails to fight against an evil which he sees is a coward—the worst sort of a coward. The call now in citizenship is for uncompromisingly striking those things which are out and out against public welfare."

Makes Plots.

Professor N. A. Bengston of the geography department spent a couple of days this week plotting the present course of the Missouri river between Nebraska City and Peru. The work was done under the auspices of the Nebraska conservation commission. Professor Bengston found that eighty acres of high grade flood plain land had been washed away near Barney since March of this year. Several farmers
