RULING WAS NOT A BLUFF

Students Find that They Must Have Certificates to Attend Classes.

Yesterday morning when a large number of students who did not have certificates or permits applied for entrance to classes they were met with refusal. Many of the students thought that the ruling of the chancellor Friday regarding the admission to classes was largely a "bluff," and that they could enter classes as before. This was found to be a mistake, as a large number of the students were sent away from their classes because they did not hold their regular documents.

Many students reported that in some classes their certificates or permits were not called for and in other classes students holding permanent permits were refused permission to enter. In a large percentage of cases the students had either an illegal document which could be detected and thus were forced to seek a regular slip before they were allowed to attend classes.

The vaccination bureaus were busy yesterday operating on students who had postponed the operation until the last moment, and in G206 a long line of students waited between the hours of 10 and 1 o'clock to be examined, as the ruling calls for those chestra has been engaged for the occasion and he luncheon will be one of the finest that has been given at any university dance this year.

Another plan of the committee in charge of the Pan-Hel is to also sterilize the price of the tickets and reduce their temperature from $2 to that of $1.50. The former price was decided upon if the dance was to have been held at the Auditorium, and now since the change has been made the price has been reduced 50 degrees.

ELECTION PASSES OFF QUIETLY YESTERDAY

last spring in the Kansas meet. This year he won his letter on the cross-country team again, being captain, and also as a member of the university basketball team he showed good form and won his letter.

Chaumer played his first game of football on the varsity team last year and won his place as end on his ability to get down the field on long punts.

Vote Cut Down.

The ruling made by the university senate Saturday morning cut down the vote to a certain extent. The ruling was to the effect that members of the faculty were not to vote in the future at athletic board elections and that alumni members of the university were also barred from casting ballots for candidates for election. The faculty are to be represented on the board by men chosen by themselves. This ruling cut down the vote to a certain degree, as last year a large alumni vote as well as a solid faculty vote was polled.

Another siege of the glad hand and the deceptive smile is passed.

Out in the bright sunshine, as it bubbles away, the fountain offers an invitation to each passerby to pause and drink. It is germ-proof.

Way back in a dingy corner, rusty and with battered cups, the drinking tanks of the buildings invite the passerby to flee. They call to the vision of the thirsty myriads of germs, smallpox, typhoid, and all the other wriggly things that love darkness and dirt.

Ivy Day comes but once a year—and only four times to the average student. Get out your purple necktie, your fawn-colored trousers, your bleached hat, and your gladdest smile, and saunter forth, unmindful of the pitfalls the wary professor sets in the path of the delinquent student, to enjoy a holiday which will be indelibly fixed in your memory years hence. After all this strife with the mocking world is over; after you are comfortably settled with your feet on the fender and the blue smoke curling up in rings about the chimney piece, you can doze and start, and doze again, away back into the days when you were a college man; into the days when you lived with and for your college and your fellow student.

No new cases of the epidemic were reported yesterday and today. W. W. Bennett will be released from confinement at the isolation hospital. The other students at the "pest-house" are having a glorious time and are planning on having a big celebration at the hospital to take the place of the Ivy Day exercises they are forced to miss.

A STERILIZED DANCE.

Pan-Hel Dance Committee Forced to Change Plans for Big Event on Account of Epidemic.

The plans of the Pan-Hellenic dance committee was changed to a considerable amount on the announcement that no university functions would be allowed to be held at any of the city buildings and that if they were held that they would have to take place at some of the university buildings. A plan to hold a sterilized and sanitary dance has now become the plan of the Pan-Hellenic dance committee.

Chairman Cain has formed plans whereby the annual dance will be held in the armory in place of the Auditorium. It has been found that the floor space of the armory, including the chapel, is almost as large as that of the Auditorium. This will make the dance as large as the plans had formerly been. The decorations at this dance will be finer than any other university dance this year. A large or-
