Senior Outing, the revised, expurgated and sterilized "Sneak Day" of old, was celebrated in the gleesome sunshine of Milford yesterday.

Four years ago the class entered the university. That was but yesterday. Today they look over the blue gray haze as it drifts through the trees over the river out to the setting sun. The day grows a bit grayer, a

CONVOCAATION

11 A. M.

The editors wear smiles the width of their countenances and carry automatic Colts in their hip pockets. Jokes, puns and roasts regarding students and near-students are being bound at a stupendous rate. The university will face the mirror wherein are reflected all its failings, all its idiosyncracies. Some will smile—a few will grin—one or two will hunt the editor.

Meanwhile the little bird sits on a branch of the old pine and sings and sings. The world moves on.

TEN MINUTES ONLY.

Freshman Class Will Hold a Short Meeting This Morning.

The first year classmen have planned a short meeting for this morning. An attempt will be made to clear up a few important matters of class interest which have been hanging over the president's head for the past couple of weeks. Reports will be heard from all standing committees. President Coffe has assured the classmen that the meeting will be short, probably not lasting Fraternity hall will accommodate ninety to a hundred couples, but the committee has decided to cut down the number of tickets rather than run any risk of having too large a crowd. There has been a great demand for the tickets and indications point to a shortage of tickets before Friday. Walt's orchestra will furnish the music. Members of the committee have tickets for sale. W. B. Romans is chairman, with W. E. Smith as master of ceremonies.

EXTEND INVITATIONS.

College Press Association Holds Banquet.

All college newspaper men from Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska are receiving invitations to attend the banquet of the College Press Association of Iowa at the Elliott hotel of Des Moines on the evening of May 27th.

The Iowa College Press Association has been organized for over a year and has been very effective in improving the condition of the college papers in that state.

bit darker—as they turn their backs on the college life that was and face the world that is.

At last the university rises to the occasion and decides to give a full holiday for Decoration Day. It is a recognition of the fact that, although we are hustled along with a busy world, we ought to pause occasionally to honor those who have served the country in the past. No matter how we sermonize, no matter how we work or how we succeed, there is an inspiration to be gained from a moment's hero worship now and then, that will help, as nothing else can, to make us bigger and better citizens.

The gentle art of poetry is not as simple as it was in the days of our forefathers. For example, if we examine that little gem of thought, "Twinkle, twinkle, little star," we are at once brought face to face with a puzzling problem. What star do we refer to? There are in innumerable stars in the heavens, all classified. There is Halley's comet wandering about to muddle our calculations. And then—eclipsing all these, there are the Dramatic Club and senior play stars now rising to prominence in the university firmament. In truth, astronomy and poetry are deep subjects.

"The 1910 Cornhusker," that handbook and compendium of serious and frivolous facts regarding university life, will be "out" Tuesday morning. Oh, joy!

over ten minutes. The meeting will be called to order at 11:30 o'clock in the Temple theater.

Freshmen seem much interested in the arrangements for the unique picnic on Saturday next. Chairman H. B. English will make the final announcement at the meeting today. Plans go merrily on. The committee expect a large crowd. Cars will leave Tenth and O streets at 4:20 o'clock for Epworth park, where the picnic is scheduled to startle the natives of that rural community. No special cars will be used, although plans had been announced to that effect.

COMET SAVES FRESHIES.

Freshman Hop to Be a Cometic Jollification and Love Feast.

The freshman hop will be held at Fraternity hall on next Friday night, May 27th. Last dance of the season—yes, and even more than that, the committee claim that it is to be the best of the season's informal parties. The dance was practically given up a week ago today, because of the approach of the big Halley's comet, but since the comet failed to attend to its gigantic job of giving this old earth a hard rap, the freshmen have decided to hold their dance as a sort of love feast and jollification over the salvation of their class and Alma Mater. The comet has come and is going, but the freshman hop is yet to come.

The committee in charge of the first year dance have decided that the number of tickets will absolutely be limited to eighty.
